

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

LEENDANIK

Desde el Principio

Alman

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

LEENDANIK

"From the beginning"

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

LEENDANIK

"From the beginning"

Chronologically ordered compilation from the History written by Alman according to the stories and other texts of

Alexander Eleazar

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

INDEX

	Foreword	10
ATAL 1	Leendaniik	13
	Eden	23
	Gudaizeru	27
ATAL 2	Elduera	33
	Azterketa	42
	Noel	49
ATAL 3	Iezus-Goberiel	55
	Bere Migrations	60
	Death of Mary	64
	Mary's Tomb	68
	Margode in Eastern lands	72
	Bibele: the Fate of the Bele	74
	Death of Iezus-Eleazar	80
ATAL 4	The Kaide	83
	Coup. Second Empire of Pa	87
ATAL 5	Alexander	93

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The Trojan War	97
The Consummation of the Mandate	118
Etsiun	127
 EPILOGUE	 143
 APPENDIX Brief History of Seven Cities	 159
Berseleone	161
Beturo	169
Damascus	177
Ionis	187
Iruma	193
Kaide	201
Kartago (Old and New)	209

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

*for those who believe in God, no test is necessary;
For those who don't, none is enough*

Foreword

This book is the result of several years compiling notes about the many talks and meetings we had with Alexandre Eleazar, author of LOS BERE. I will not go into further comment here on the controversial work of this self-taught researcher, which has been considered by many as a mockery of reason and the creation of a lunatic. Personally, I will only say that it is a work of authorship and that it has a large percentage of revelation that I will not judge here about its authenticity or not. There are things that cannot be demonstrated with proof, such as the existence of God and, in the case of the work of Alexandre Eleazar, demonstrations are only possible using other means and releasing science and kidnapped history and that, unfortunately, Today it is still not in our hands to be able to do it.

Everything I have written here is an ordered compilation of Eleazar's stories and texts, some of them being originals of older ones. The quotes taken verbatim from his work: LOS BERE, are in italics. So are some quotes taken from written compilations made from voice recordings. The rest is written by the author of this writing. The texts of the original Bible are in bold and italics.

LeendaniK covers a period of time from the creation of man, no more than half a million years ago, to the Victory of Troia.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

When I had finished the draft of this book, which was initially called Argidazkia and later became known as “The Atales” by those who read some of its fragments, I gave it to Eleazar himself so that he could correct it, which he did in very little time. He changed the title to Leendanik: “from the beginning” and, despite correcting some words and spelling mistakes, he only added a couple of lines to the entire text. That surprised me a little, because I would have liked him to provide a little more information, but he did not do so, thinking it was correct as it was written and he invited me to publish it. However, my intention is for it to have more chapters and for the Leedanik to reach the Final Judgment of Humanity, so I decided that I should write more. However, I never did, I simply stayed in the Second Life of the Envoy until the Victory of Troia and there it stagnated for almost a decade. I returned to the task of continuing it several times but was unable to advance with difficulty some paragraphs, which seemed confusing and lacking a certain rigor. Finally I concluded that I should not add anything else to the writing and that this would be its definitive form, honoring its title: “From the Beginning” which should tell a part of the Story but not the whole. In 2006 I had a corrected and layout version to be published in electronic format (pdf). It still had to include a prologue, the index and a couple of complementary appendices that would serve as an Epilogue.

In September 2008, guided by an external signal, I decided to publish a fragment of it on a blog: Trinity a Tierra. Then I decided not to continue publishing, judging that it was not worth doing so, since surely almost no one would understand the revelation hidden behind all this. Months later I received another notice urging me to finish what I had started and deliver it to the right people. And I have done so in order for it to be disclosed to the World.

This work was completed on June 24, 2009, or 12,885 of the arrival of the Marys.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

ATAL 1

LEENDANIK

- 1 In the Beginning, it was the unfathomable mystery of the origin of Creation that dwells in the heart of everything that exists. From that unknown mystery life emerged with all its manifestations, those that are visible to us and those that are not.
- 2 In that remote time, Creation still lacked men as they are now, but life pulsed vigorously and plant, animal and other species that are unknown to us developed.
- 3 There was also a lineage of beings¹ of great intelligence and developed souls. His science was excellent, immense. They lived and moved through the infinite Heaven.
- 4 Those beings prospered in knowledge, wealth and peace, however, they had an appearance that they considered horrible, deformed.

1 This line of beings can be considered our most ancestral creators and observing how they conceived this Creation, they were also the architects of matter as we know it through the senses; However, they are not the First Cause of the Origin of everything Created.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 5 This physical deformity bothered them greatly and they strove to find a way to transform their appearance and improve it until reaching perfection².
- 6 After many attempts they found that, whatever aspect they chose, their imperfection was still latent. They wanted an incorruptible, immortal body, oblivious to pain and needs... They longed to free themselves from the chains imposed by space and time.
- 7 So, after many attempts they decided that the most perfect form they could assume was the absence of a material body, taking the state of Soul³.
- 8 And that's what they all did. They voluntarily abandoned their bodies, keeping their Spiritual aspect. So with that existential vehicle they no longer had to eat or relieve themselves. They did not age, nor did they feel pain or tiredness.
- 9 They were free from all the limitations imposed by the possession of a body in the dimension of space and time. They no longer needed to reproduce to preserve the species, nor make love. Now they were thought entities, free intelligences.
- 10 They all lived in harmony and communicated with each other through a kind of mental transmission. All of them, in their multiplicity, formed a perfect Unity in which they moved and thought in unison. They felt happy - in principle - for having freed themselves from their bodily envelopes.

² These transformations were carried out through genetic engineering. That is, changes were made within the DNA chain. Our Creators were consummate experts in these techniques and created many creatures from such research. It is clear that they sought immortality and incorruptibility of the body among other perfections.

³ On the cosmic plane of material manifestations, every body or matter is tied to the inexorable process of old age and death. This seems to be a constant Law on this plane that our Creators did not manage to violate. Hence they decided to live on another plane of manifestation where they could escape this Law as well as others.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

11 More, with the passage of time they began to feel depressed, sad, missing something in their lives⁴.

12 They meditated slowly on the cause of their discomfort. And they knew what its origin was: they lacked love, the union between the sexes, the game of attraction and the feelings that were produced in the search for that love. But there was also life, with all its experiences, efforts, adventures and the desire to improve.

13 They realized that, by getting rid of their physical bodies, they had renounced something that - at that time - seemed banal, superfluous to them. Now, after losing him, it made them feel incomplete, empty.

14 So after analyzing the situation in search of a solution, they decided to take bodily form again. But first they had to think about what material model to develop and find a way to reproduce the new species of beings in which to take life⁵.

15 They did several tests and tried different materials until they designed an existential vehicle model to their liking and according to their needs. In this way they devised the image of the Original Man ⁶.

16 And that one was compressed into numerous capsules of seed-energy endowed with the model of life to develop. Then, following the devised reproduction process, all those seeds were dispersed throughout one of the regions of the manifested Creation so that, being introduced into the wombs of different creatures, both vegetal and animal,

4 It is a feeling of vital nostalgia that overcame them.

5 The Creator Gods decided to become men and experience life, despite the limitations that it imposes with respect to other planes or densities of existence.

6 A concept also used in the deepest teachings of Judaism: the original man is the Adam Kadmon of the medieval Kabbalists.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

These achieved germination, thus making the Model7 prosper .

17 For its dispersion, the constantly moving driving forces of the Light, which is the Energy, seat of the Manifest and Unmanifest, were used. The light crosses everything and exerts pressure where it collapses on itself in a whirlwind without beginning or end. That being the foundation of matter.

18 These infinite lines in constant motion act as roads or paths that end up exerting pressure on the celestial globes. Because it is the unmanifested that exerts an attraction on the manifested, thus creating a push towards its core. For this reason, they were ideal for transporting the seeds of the Original Man model to all the globes8.

19 The unmanifest is called the cosmos and is not empty but full of Energy. It is invisible to our eyes and hidden in the darkness, but the darkness is full of light, such is the mystery that is hidden in the Heavens, beyond what we can see and perceive.

20 Once propelled by these energetic lines or paths, the seeds of Man - devised by their Creators - traveled through the firmament carried by chance to thousands and thousands of terrestrial globes. They would pass through their atmospheres and end up entering the bodies of the living entities they found there.

7 They created what Science today knows as viruses. Not all viruses are malignant, causing cell destruction. There are viruses that introduce DNA code into the cells in which they manage to cohabit, producing a mutation. The virus generated by the Creators, although it follows the same casuistry, cannot be considered as such since its constitution is much more sophisticated. By using the term virus to refer to the Creative Seed of the Original Man we are only indicating a close example, although a new classification would have to be created for this type of "creative virus".

8 It is currently known that life in the Cosmos can expand between different worlds and stars through stellar winds and electromagnetic lines or currents that make up the gravitational corpus of galaxies.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 21 The seeds -when it was possible- took advantage of the particular biological and genetic structures of the living entities in which they were inseminated, thus trying to develop the Model of the Original Man.
- 22 The Makers knew that many of those living forms would not be able to make that seed prosper. In fact, only some of these were suitable for such a process.
- 23 And it is also true that, of the dozens of seeds of the Original Man that managed to develop, the majority perished at birth, being devoured by wild animals, degenerated by the harmfulness of the atmosphere or the rigor of their climates. In this way, only those that could develop in a suitable and healthy environment for their existence survived.
- 24 The creators of Man waited a reasonable time to see the result of that transcendental biological experiment in which they had placed all their hopes.
- 25 When they thought fit, they searched the entire region of the heaven which they had sown with Man-seeds.
- 26 And they found that, among the thousands of globes that those seeds had managed to reach on their cosmic journey, only three had been able to fully develop. These three terrestrial globes were the ones that were later called: Eden, Is-panie and Nigeriazi.
- 27 In each of them the seed-Man developed, but they verified that this did not manifest itself in the same way in any of the three.
- 28 They observed that on the globe called Eden, the seed of man bore fruit from a very special tree that only grew there. It was similar to an oak or a holm oak - very large and leafy. The fruit of said tree was of considerable size.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Derable and similar in its external appearance to a pomegranate, it also had certain characteristics reminiscent of the fig⁹.

29 The fruit of said tree was capable of hosting the seed of the Creators in its womb. After a period of gestation, human creatures of great physical beauty and with well-developed mental and intellectual capacities emerged from that strange tree.

30 And, as programmed in the plan, male and female creatures were born. Soon they were attracted to each other and joined together, later having offspring that developed to perfection on that terrestrial globe. These were the first Eduen.

31 The tree that gave them life was held by them as a sacred symbol of their origin and received - among other names - the *Tree of Life*¹⁰. In the very center of the capital of Eden
There is one of great size and beauty.

9 It may sound incredible that a human being can emerge from a plant seed, in this case a very special tree that is unknown to us. The man-seed created by our Creators acted like a benign virus that could only inoculate its DNA code into procreative cells that, of course, also occur in the plant kingdom. Although it may sound strange, the seed of this tree was able to accept this DNA and reproduce it within the fruit "uterus." This is something that our science may be able to reproduce in the following decades, verifying the veracity of what is stated here.

10 This tree was given the name Arbeol meaning : "Maker of the ancestors Be", referring to the first created men. This name was given on our terrestrial globe, the Earth, but not in Eden. Then, as time went by, this word first served to name the oak, since it was believed that this tree was the origin of white men coming from Eden. Later, this word came to designate any other tree occurring on this globe.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

32 The lineage of the Original Man multiplied in Baleden¹¹.

They created beautiful cities and developed a great civilization.

33 Baleden, of enormous proportions compared to Earth, is therefore where the race of Men, the Eduen¹², first appeared.

34 In another globe of the infinite Sky, located in a star cluster that later became known as Paleides, other human seeds developed whose appearance and origin differentiated them from the Edu¹³.

35 They did not arise from a tree but from another living species that here on Earth we do not know.

36 They developed on an immense Globe, much larger than Baleden, which they called Ispanie ¹⁴. The atmosphere was not benign to them, causing frequent health problems that reduced their abilities. The gravitational pressure was powerful.

11 Baleden means: "Eden globe". The word Bal or Bale is used to express a sphere, a globe or a planet, the latter term not being used in this book since its etymological origin expresses something else. In this work we will use the terms Globe or World to refer to the Earth or any other celestial globe.

tea.

12 The Eduen are tall, exceeding two meters. Their hair is blonde or copper, blue eyes and light, slightly pink skin color. The athletic and well-proportioned physical constitution.

13 The Humans who developed in the heart of the Paleides cluster had reddish skin, slanted eyes with very dark irises, and straight black hair. Their height is not very tall and, in general, their physical constitution is thin. Their body hair is rather scarce and they used to be beardless.

¹⁴ Ispanie: "it is Pa's Property". Pa is identified with Father and with the Creator God, identified by the Pales by the Fire Star, the Sun. Those "from the land of Pa" that is, the Pale worshiped the Sun Pa, also called Râ. On many occasions he was called Pâra meaning: "Creator Father".

37 And, finally, in this terrestrial Globe that we now inhabit, in the called Nigeriazi ^{thun} beginning, plus also Leleput¹⁶ and Uniberse 17 later, another race of humans emerged¹⁸.

38 Nigeriazi was a very small Globe compared to Ispa-nie or Baleden, but of great exuberance and beauty. When the Niger - the men of the Earth - appeared on this Globe there were large animals and saurians. Many of these were ferocious beasts that attacked frequently, causing death and destruction among them.

39 Thus, the first humans to populate this terrestrial globe were the Niger Kanibale , that is, "The black people of this Earth."

40 Before them there was no human life on Earth.
The Niger were created as they are now, not being the result of any evolution initiated in the anthropoids.

41 Those who say that man comes from some species of ape do not know the truth and are spreading a manifest error. Apes and anthropoids are nothing but degenerate seeds of Original Man that failed to develop adequately. The Book is explicit about this but they have ignored the science of the Most High.

^{thun} Nigeriazi means: "those with black seeds", that is, those who had a dark skin appearance.

¹⁶ Leleput is the name given by the Pale to the Earth. Its meaning is: "it is the small land very productive or exuberant."

17 Uniberse is another name given to Earth. It is the name given by the Be-re, meaning: "it is the first of the Ber" plus also: "it is distant from the Ber", since this Globe was considered the most distant among those belonging to the of the Eduen Confederation.

18 The Niger have a dark brownish complexion, large almond-shaped eyes with dark brown irises, black and very curly hair, a robust physical constitution and of medium height.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

42 They do not know what the origin of things and beings is, but their ancestors most distant in time were instructed about it.

43 Tell them: I Almighty possess the veils of the night and the lights of the light that illuminates the Globes. Your wise men do not know or understand anything. They have a blindfold and they cannot take it off because they do not know or see that they have it.

44 The Creators of Man carefully observed the result ted of his genetic experiment in order to qualify which of those three races of men was the one that had most ideally developed according to the model of the Original Man.

45 They recognized that, among the three, the most suitable to be able serve as vehicles for their souls were those developed in the Globe called Eden and this for several reasons; of which they stood out as being creatures considered by them to be very beautiful, having a well-developed cerebral, motor and emotional vehicle capable of expressing the highest qualities of those souls and, for being the model that was closest to the one they had devised initially.

46 After a careful analysis, they concluded that the other models developed for life had not turned out as well as expected and this was due to certain genetic mutations produced by the environmental environment in which they developed and the origin that gave rise to them. that is, the placenta in which they developed.

47 Because of this, they observed how the model that emerged in Ispanie had developed certain underlying bad instincts in the souls of the Creators. This was something that was wanted to be avoided but, apparently, under certain environmental conditions, it manifested itself.

48 For the Creators, in their soul Being, possessed two diametrically opposed natures, two personalities dwelling in them: that of bad instincts and that of just and elevated feelings.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 49 Thus two types of creatures emerged: The first type of beings were monsters, originally inhabitants of the Globes closest to the Sun. They were beings with negative instincts, murderers, considered thieves and parasites for living at the expense of re-collection and When they hunted other beings, they appropriated their flesh, blood and bones in such a way that they did not immediately kill their victims, vampirizing their vitality for as long as possible.
- 50 For this they had a lot of skill and resources. When they were not hypnotizing their victims, they cajoled them with deceptive words, seeking confidence so that they would submit submissively to their requirements.
- 51 Those of the second type were beings with good instincts, of high qualities and servants of the common good rather than their own.
- 52 And the Creators took possession of those physical vehicles. Each one of them according to their special condition of manifestation. Their souls were reincarnated among the Edu, but the Pale and the Niger possessed within themselves the human and soul-seed of their Creators.
- 53 The souls upon entering those bodies forgot their origin, this being a traumatic process through which they necessarily had to go. This meant that - after taking possession of a physical body - they did not remember everything that happened when they were just souls. Therefore they would not remember the cause of their existence unless someone reminded them or they realized it themselves.

Eden

54 The lineage of the Original Man multiplied in Baleden.

They created beautiful cities and developed a flourishing civilization.

55 It happens that in Baleden the magnetic attraction is quite weak, giving almost zero weight to the bodies and masses. This allows the Eduen to execute long jumps, jump from high heights without great risks and, in certain circumstances, fly taking advantage of the air currents caused by temperature differences.

56 On this magnificent globe, the process known here as day and night does not exist¹⁹. In the winters, abundant snow falls in more than half of its territory, those areas being very similar to the current lands of Canada and Russia.

57 The human population occupies only a fifth of its vegetal surface, although it is a much larger territory than all the unsubmerged lands on this Globe.

To live, they choose the most temperate areas, whose average temperature is very similar to that of ancient Lebanon .

58 The square wall that surrounds the capital city is several hundred meters high (not used for defense) and is built of carved stones 4 to 8 meters long. The magnificent Palace and its large garden and the Art Museum are very notable.

59 In his Academy of "Events that have occurred and to occur" are recorded in images and sounds, as they occur,

¹⁹ It would be a world located in a binary or even triune system of Suns.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

all the Events that occurred on any Globe inhabited by living beings moving.

60 Almighty God and the wise can consult the desired data at any time, witnessing, sitting in their seats, the Historical Events that occurred on this Earth, with natural color image and original sound. It is possible for them to hear a conversation that took place at one time or another in the past and in no matter what place, even if it is a thousand meters underground or in a room with thick walls of reinforced concrete or steel.

61 In Edenga, which is the capital of Baleden, is located the Magnificent Throne of Jaungoiko -Lord of the Sky- and the Andibatzar -Great Assembly- of the wise elders.

62 The Edu were for some time in ignorance of their origin as men but, during the reign of Almighty God, the original engine from which all living beings existing on the various globes emerged was discovered.

63 Almighty God²⁰ – who has no associate – is the most perfect among all men: he began his reign in Heaven more than 300,000 years ago. This is some time after the men of Eden and the other Globes were created.

64 It was God who understood the dual and imperfect nature of the Creator origin: Râ.

65 The famous Work of Almighty God consisted of trying to nullify as much as possible all or almost all the bad works of Râ, modifying some, perfecting many and what was considered a great triumph on his part, also creating living beings, according to the will of men.

²⁰ In this work we make a distinction between the Uncreated Principle that gave rise to everything Created, the Creators of Original Man and God. The term God comes from Adi-os: "our Intelligence", referring to the elevated aspect of Supreme Wisdom. The term Go was also used to name God, which means: "elevated, above," also referring to the spirit that was called Go-go.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

66 Among the many animals created during the long reign of Almighty God, the horse was always presented as the most perfect achievement, thus remaining a symbol of the Edu and later of the Bedu, especially on this Earth when recreating that animal.

67 From that moment it was evident that the works of Almighty God eclipsed those of Râ or in any case completed and perfected them, thus giving a note of superiority and wisdom that the "Creator himself, acting, ruling and "thinking with the rays of the Great Sun" he seemed to admit and even showed signs of submitting to its consequences.

68 "This was the Power of God to dominate Râ" which the Edu claimed forever and would deliver to God Be at the same time he sat upon the Magnificent Throne of Baleden.

69 The Power of the Lord of the Heavens is such that they can restore life to beings and men, something that Râ cannot do with any being that has existed at any time.

70 The Lord of the Worlds can grant men a Second Life in any of the globes of Heaven or the Eternal Life that consists of a very long period of time within the same body and then spending the Soul in Lozabal 21 .

71 However, Eternal Life is only accessible to Saints, Martyrs and Heroes. That is His Promise to those who believe in Him and follow the given pattern.

72 He has beautified the Heavens by making barren and lifeless Globes available, filling them with waters and rivers, with thick forests and great plains. With valleys where numerous fruits and beautiful flowers grow. He placed many species of animals in them and even created others appropriate to the habit. tat.

21 Literally: Open or wide dream. We would live in the existential plane of the "Closed Dream". Observe the concept of Existence as LO, that is, a dream.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

73 When all this was done, seeing that it was produced according to the planned plan, he sent the Man to populate them and told them: multiply and prosper...

74 Truly, God does this and many other wonders. His science and Power are immense. That is why he is called Almighty.

75 We clarify the way for men to come out of the darkness and embrace the light that emanates from the Powerful One, from God, to whom belongs what is in the Worlds and on Earth.

76 We use the language of the people and instruct them, "But God guides whom He wills and leads astray whom He wills. He is the Mighty, the Wise."
He is just in his Works, everything is referred to HIM .

Gudaizeru

The War of Heaven

77 Over time, the Eduen achieved great knowledge in all sciences. They soon acquired enough technology to travel through the stars and explore and even inhabit other celestial globes.

78 And the Eduen crossed the infinite Sky. After numerous increasingly distant explorations, they managed to detect the other two races of human beings developed in Ispanie and Nigeriazi. They observed and studied them for a time without interfering in their respective civilizations. They discovered their qualities as well as their imperfections.

79 All this happened at a time when they decided to cross this Bie Laketu22, wondering what was on the other side, since the images they received through their information devices did not arrive clearly. This is how they discovered the Ispanie Globe, which was huge, immense.

80 In it lived a race of humans different from them, although with a very similar morphology. They were immersed in a fairly primitive civilization. Those in charge acted with the lowest instincts.

22 Our current name, Vía Láctea, derives from this name. Baleden is located in a star system that is located towards the center of our Galaxy although its exact location is unknown to us at the moment.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

81 They ruthlessly subjugated their subjects who lived in constant fear. They were docile and manageable before the ruling power because of their always skittish characters and educated to be servile. But in general, the subjects were not bad humans.

82 In them, the mold of the Original Man had suffered sensitive mutations, due mainly to the placenta that first developed them and then to the unsuitable atmosphere they breathed. For these reasons and for the strange influence of that Globe inhabited by ancient shadowy creatures, the Pale had embodied the worst and darkest living in the bosom of Râ.

83 Seeing the pitiful nature of those humans, God thought about the possibility of developing their intelligence and solving their physical, social and emotional problems.

84 He then decided to take some of the most qualified representatives of the Pales to Edenga. He intended to teach them the science and customs of the Edu with the hope that they would learn and develop the good qualities of the soul.

85 And according to his will, the Pales lived with the Edu learning technological and scientific knowledge developed on the beautiful and majestic Globe of Eden.

86 Time passed without major problems or setbacks until some among the Pales thought that the treatment they received as workers and citizens in Edenga was unfair.

87 That thought spread like an infectious disease in the minds of all of them and they soon saw the possibility of rebelling against God and the Edu and imposing a new social order.

88 The Pales proposed to the Lord of the Worlds another model of society in which all members would be equal to the same condition of benefit²³. They told him that the people should be governed by the people and not by a hierarchy of Wise Men, Heroes and Kings. The Pales devised that order, which they decided to put into practice, defying God's commands. This they said to the Lord of the Worlds.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

89 They even questioned his authority, arguing that Sol-Râ was superior to Him since he was the one who created them all, both the Pale like the Edus.

90 But God knew the secret that was hidden in the heart of Râ and the hidden intentions of some leaders of that revolt. That knowledge was his Power and his greatest success.
to.

91 The Palestine, who had managed to multiply greatly and therefore felt confident in their strength, challenged God by provoking an insurrection with unforeseeable consequences. They insisted on questioning the hierarchy,
- We are all equal! - they shouted.

92 They did not receive mistreatment and received a very decent salary for their work. God only forbade them certain things and ordered them others.

93 Furthermore, the promoters of discontent who emerged as leaders intended to encourage a revolt in the name of equality, peaceful coexistence and freedom.

94 Beautiful words that evoked noble feelings and with which the leaders of the revolt challenged the harmonious life of the Edu civilization, which, for hundreds of thousands of years, had lived in peace. Leaders who kept resentment and envy in their hearts. Their true desires were to overthrow God and the Council of Wise Men and become masters and lords of the Heavens. Then, once this purpose was achieved, they would dictate the new order, creating their own hierarchy of power. God knew all this.

23 This is how, a long time ago (at least more than 35,000 years ago), socialism and communist ideas were born for the first time among men.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

95 He did not admit the possibility of establishing the type of Order that the Pale proposed.

96 Now, I showed them what the difference was between the Edu and the Pale. Both human strains were not of the same biological-mental condition although their origin arose from the same genetic mold. This was the main cause of the division between the two. His demonstration was philosophical and scientific supported by a multitude of conclusive evidence extracted from experiments carried out by advanced Eduen technology . His mandates were not the result of a capricious character given over to the abuse of his authority; on the contrary, they were the result of thoughtful resolutions unanimously ratified by proven Sages of the Supreme Council.

97 But the Pales insisted, wanting to demonstrate that they were capable of doing and acting just like the Edu. After several meetings between the parties in conflict, the rebels – seeing that they were not achieving their objectives – began a dirty and violent revolution in Baleden.

98 This was the “payment of gratitude” for having received instruction and knowledge from the Edu. They gave them science and freed them from the fear of Power that afflicted them so much in Spain and these solved them with the revolution. This was the corrosive and traitorous spirit that was hidden in many of those humans.

99 And there was War in Heaven and in that one, the proud revolutionaries were defeated, suffering numerous casualties. In this way they had to surrender to the Lord of the Worlds, asking him for mercy.

100 And God was merciful to them by signing a Treaty of Peace; the famous Jaungoikotar Treaty , by which – not wanting to completely destroy the Pales – he gave them the entire left part of the Bie Laketu when, from Eden, one looks at the Myriads of Sukondie24.

24 This word seems to refer to the central region of our Galaxy. Area extremely full of Stars and where an immense Central Sun is supposed to be.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

101 And it was established that the Kingdom of God would be located on the right of the Bie Laketu and that of the Pale on the left. In this way, the Pale could develop their own civilization with total independence and within the jurisdiction given by God, with the social order that their rulers liked.

tes.

102 Thus, perhaps, with the passage of the seikolau²⁵, they could truly demonstrate that they were capable of achieving the perfection that the Edu demonstrated.

103 Truly, God was merciful to them and gave them a unique opportunity. Only He knows the final destiny of his actions. Everything is referred to Him.

104 Once the Treaty was signed by both parties, the Eduen gave the Pale the interstellar ships, the tools, the machines and the necessary supplies so that they could move to the celestial region that was donated to them by God. The ships were old models whose course had been previously programmed without the possibility of being changed during the voyage.

105 Dozens of ships, with thousands of Pales on board, left towards the Paleides - also located within the surrendered zone -, these being a tight anthill with more than 150,000 espaer²⁶.

106 Truly, this is the summary story of the War of Heaven, of the victors and those who lost it, gaining an immeasurable region of the Heavens.

107 Eleazar, the First Eduen Man on Earth, left it written in a first Book. When he has returned as the Sent One, the long-awaited Messiah, he has written it in another Explicit Book.

25 Time period equivalent to 10,105 Earth years.

26 From this term the Spanish sphere is derived. It is the name that the Pales gave to the terrestrial globes. It is worth highlighting here the fact that the term globe is used, which gives the idea of hollow worlds.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

108 When HE gives his Annunciation, no one will be able to deny the Truth of what is written. HE will give proof of his Science and Knowledge.

109 On that Day no one will be able to say: "I didn't know, no one told me what I should do." HE will know his own. There is nothing that can be hidden from you.

110 Say: "My God! Creator of the Heavens and the Earth! Wise of the hidden and the attestable! You will judge between your servants in what they disagree about. If those who are unjust had everything there is on Earth and as much more in addition, with it they would want to rescue themselves from the worst of the torment on the Day of Resurrection. But from HIM they will be shown what they had not anticipated: The evils they have committed (throughout the centuries) will appear before them and that which they mocked will surround them."

ATAL 2

ELDUERA

- 1 The Pales who were returned to Ispanie had been in Baleden for quite some time , and there they learned many things of which they had no knowledge, such as metalworking, geometry and advanced mathematics, genetic biology, astronomy, mechanics, etc.
- 2 They soon formed an elite of scientists who, in a few centuries, structured a cutting-edge technological society, although directed under a rigid inhuman and extremely materialistic government. A society very similar to our current one here on Earth, although even more advanced.
- 3 In Ispanie, faster and better interstellar ships were built than those received from the Eduen and some of the 150,000 espaer of the Paleides were visited and colonized. Soon they would venture to more distant places.
- 4 In this way, a group of expeditionary ships of the Pa-les left Ispanie heading towards the border territory of the Bie Laketu. In a certain celestial sector of that area they had located a small terrestrial globe that had caught their attention. They were within the territory of the Eduen Confederation, that is, in a star region that they were prohibited from accessing according to the Jaungoikotar Treaty.
- 5 This globe was our Earth in which, after making sure of the favorable living conditions and that the Eduen did not live there , they decided to inhabit it.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 6 They found the Earth inhabited by the Niger. Some very peculiar robust humans, with dark complexion, black curly hair, large, brown and almond-shaped eyes and of similar height, somewhat taller than them. Its cultural, social and technological evolution was not very developed.
- 7 The Niger seemed to be disconnected from the Bales²⁷ Confederation of the Edu and the Bedu. The truth is that the Lord of the Worlds took them into account and observed them carefully, although he did not want to intervene in their evolution due to what had previously happened with the Pale.
- 8 The Pales saw that those beings did not constitute any threat to their survival.
- 9 They also thought that, since that Terrestrial Globe was located almost on the right and left border of the Bie La-ketu, being one of the furthest ends of the Bale colonized by the Edu, there -perhaps- they could go unnoticed.

10 The truth is that, in principle, they settled provisionally. They waited to see if the Eduen would come after them to expel them from Earth.

11 According to the Bible, the number "The Paio²⁸ who arrived on Uniber land by ships were only 65 humans, most of whom were Kures²⁹."

12 If this happened, the Pale would say that they were just passing through, refueling or repairing some ships, leaving as soon as they solved their problems.

²⁷ Bales: is the name that the Eduen gave to the terrestrial globes.

²⁸ Paio: formed by Pa which means "Sun". The I is equivalent to male and the O to female, so the word affirms that they are male and female humans from the Sun. Although over time this Sun was identified with the star that illuminates our Solar System, in reality, in ancient times this was the Central Sun of an entire star system.

²⁹ Kure: is a term created here on Earth to refer to the Paios dedicated to the cult of Pa, what we would identify today as a priest.

13 The years passed and no one came to disturb them. So, confident, They decided to settle permanently on Earth, thus defying God's command.

14 Just in case, they built long tunnels and shelters underground in order to be able to hide in case the Edu appeared. They thought that this way they can hide from God.

15 But, the Almighty hears and sees from his Bialduotekai³⁰ and will inevitably find them, even if they were hiding in the very center of Uniberse.

16 They were unaware that God already had news about them and the challenge they were causing to His Will by establishing themselves in Nigeriaz.

17 He then had plans to act against the Palestine.

18 The Palestine, in principle, settled mainly in what is now known as South America and Antarctica, about seventeen thousand years ago counting from now.

19 There they founded the city of Manaus³¹, an earthly replica of the "City of a Thousand Fountains", the fabulous capital of the 30 The Bialduotekai or Biotek (abbreviated) is a sophisticated machine capable of making us visualize, in a spherical or three-dimensional projection, images of the past with perfect definition of color and sound and even future prospects. The technique to achieve this is based on a certain quantum process that corpuscular waves possess in their uninterrupted expansion through the cosmic medium, called the Sea. It is necessary to highlight here that, according to Eduen science, the seat of matter is reduced to a wave pulsation. modulated in different octaves or orbital quantum leaps configured in geometric shapes. On the other hand, the Cosmos is not empty but full of Energy. The Void is, in reality, the densest thing in the Cosmos and matter constitutes its emptiness. Hence, the cosmological gravitational pressure is poured from outer space towards the interior of the stellar bodies, since the Cosmos tends to fill everything completely with its energetic plenitude. This is similar to water which, whenever it has the opportunity, tends to occupy the space left by the air.

31 Located under the ice of Antarctica. In some ancient texts, compiled from certain Native American traditions and legends, this city is called Manoa. At that time America was larger and different from its current form. The current east coast of South America practically touched the west coast of Africa, fitting into its profile perfectly.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Pales in Ispanie located in Ispanie. Described in numerous texts which talk about its wonderful palaces, its white marble bridge built in a zig zag shape which connected the mainland with the Emperor's palace.

Manaus was built on the shallow waters of a large artificial lake³².

20 Their reconnaissance ships often flew over the entire Earth, here and there.

Over the years they multiplied greatly and colonized other parts of the Globe.

21 They soon extended their dominions to the entire American Continent that they called Patagonia³³, where they created a flourishing civilization. They built cities and raised pyramids in honor of the Sun God. They worshiped him and offered human sacrifices just as they did on their globe of origin: Ispanie.

22 After thousands of years they forgot a good part of the Eduen technology and their own which, at the beginning, they used to build cities, genetically experiment as well as wage war among themselves, since they were given to conflicts and struggles for power.

23 As some of these machines grew old, they were replaced by others manufactured by themselves. Furthermore, the most sophisticated ones, when they stopped working, ended up being forgotten since no one was capable of repairing or reproducing them.

24 However, the development of that civilization was superior to that of the Niger, who, in principle, could not help but consider them as gods coming from the stars.

25 The Pales liked to do biological experiments, animals interested in discovering the mysterious arcanum of the Creation of the ³² Today this city lies under hundreds of meters of ice in the heart of Antarctica after the Coup. It is believed that it did not receive major damage and that it has remained "frozen" for the testimony of future generations.

³³ Patagonia means: "Great Territory of the Witches".

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Life. In this they wanted to equal the Most High. If they succeeded, He would have to recognize that they too were capable of such a feat.

26 One of these biological experiments was to biologically unite with certain human anthropoids that populated the Earth at that time.

27 This is how the subrace of the Chinese³⁴ emerged, so called because they were short in stature. They were and are skilled with their hands, industrious, devoted to the orders given by the stick and had features that were half ape-like, half humanoid-pale. They were perfect for working in the mines, as manufacturers and field workers in territories infected with lagoons, vermin and insects.

28 At first, most of them were born with abundant hair and, in many cases, with the beginning of a tail at the end of the spine.

29 But, little by little, these genetic characteristics were lost in the following generations due to the predominance of Pale blood and due to their frequent crossings with the Txinos 35.

30 The Txinos ended up being used as submissive and cheap labor by the Pales bosses, who were their emperors whom they recognized as "Children of the Sun".

34 Chinese comes from txino: small.

35 However, from time to time, little monkey -like txins were born whose skin appeared covered with abundant hair. These cases still occur today.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

31 In other cases, and due to the crossings made, other terribly ruthless humans emerged³⁶. Some became bosses. They were very feared, having a terrifying appearance. They consumed human flesh in large quantities, including newborn children – their favorite snack – whom they devoured alive just as they had come out of their mothers' wombs.

32 The Pale aristocracy believed they had found a way to extend their lives since they barely reached two hundred years. They believed that by consuming large quantities of fresh human blood, their brains and internal organs would be robbed of the vitality of the cannibalized being.

33 In the first millennia of their arrival in Uniberse , numerous raids were made to the territories occupied by the Niger to take prisoners.

34 These were sacrificed in the Maia, Mesa or Misa³⁷ which was located on the top of the Pyras (Pyramids) dedicated to Pâ, Sol-Râ or Pan. There, the still hot blood of the victims was drunk by the Pales aristocrats and the officiants of these cultured mac-goats, the kure.

35 The common people did not participate in the consumption of the blood, they only observed and sometimes the sacrificed bodies were given to them³⁸ to eat, especially when there were hundreds or even thousands of them. They believed that so 36 All these Dantesque beings along with their brutal practices can still be observed in numerous sculptural representations made by Palestine artists. in the numerous pyramids of Central and South America. Many of these constructions and sculptures are from those times and belong to this extraterrestrial civilization. rrena.

37 Sacrificial Stones or Altars.

38 On many occasions, some vital organs were removed from the sacrificed bodies to carry out transplants with them. They were capable of transplanting all of them, including the brain. As the millennia passed, they lost much of this surgical knowledge.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

They appropriated the vitality of their victims, which was true to some extent.

36 In truth, the ruling class, its priests and some scientists, participated in such rites and also in technological and cultural knowledge. The people were generally held in the greatest ignorance and their lives were hard, lacking almost everything.

37 The ritual of the Mass or Maia³⁹ had some variations over the millennia although its essence is always the same.

38 After Coup 40, about twelve thousand years ago, in some places the sacrifice of human beings stopped and was replaced by the sacrifice of certain animals, symbols of strength and vitality.

39 But, before Almighty God, both Masses are an act of blasphemy in his name and an abomination resulting from human ignorance.

40 From time to time, human beings were also sacrificed. In many cases, the reason for this change - they say - was because the Pale ruling class had found an Elixir of Long Life. Where this could not be achieved, sacrifices continued, unless possible those of white children.

41 Some Niger kings, soon convinced by the Pales, acquired some of their customs. They became worshipers of the Sun, and cannibals. This happened especially at the end of the First Empire of Pâ. This was the Empire of the Ducks, the Pales and the Panie, which spread throughout the Earth, dominating over all the Niger with whom they also mixed and had descendants.

39 Even today there are remnants of the pagan Mass in some religions such as the Catholic one, which has changed blood for wine and bread for meat.

⁴⁰ Collected by numerous legends from around the world such as the Universal Flood.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

42 The crossing between Patos and Niger gave rise to the race of the Egi-ducks or Egypsies⁴¹. They mainly occupied the lands irrigated by the Nile from the Sudan to its mouth.

43 In the region of the Nile River, which they baptized with the name of Paizon⁴², they created a flourishing and original civilization that was very ancient⁴³. There, Emperor King Akeo created the port and later great city of Kaiaro⁴⁴. Near this city they made a monument carved in stone symbolizing the First Pale Empire on this Earth, it was a sitting Lion⁴⁵.

44 Over time, three great civilizations would be created by the Paiois. The first would cover Antarctica and the continents of North and South America. The second would settle on the Nile and would have influence over the entire African Continent, areas of Asia close to it and the emerged part of Europe. The third would cover all of Oceania at that time, Australia and New Zealand, including India, called Putanie, and Indonesia⁴⁶.

41 Many of those today called "gypsies" are not. The true gypsy is, as a rule, tall, with large, deep, slanted eyes, and black, curly hair. The gypsies were also called Putah.

42 Paizon means: "River of the Paiois".

43 The Empire of Palestine is the Ancient Empire of Atlantis about which numerous legends from all corners of the Earth speak.

44 Current city of Cairo. Kaiaro means "Circular port".

45 It is the famous sphinx of Gizeh, which originally had the face of a lion. Millennia later, a pharaoh decided to print his face on the eroded stone.

⁴⁶ It must be specified here that the masses that emerged from the continents had another disposition at that time and were somewhat different from those of today. All of America was located quite close to the European and African coasts. Antarctica was very close to America and Africa. Australia was also very close to Atlantis and in Oceania there were large emerged areas where now there are only archipelagos of small coral islands.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 45 How ignorant the people of the future will be of all this!
If they knew the truth they could perhaps correct the mistakes committed by their ancestors.
- 46 Woe to those who hide the Truth! Do you think that you can escape from Ultimate Justice?
- 47 They will say: "God's warnings and promises were true. Ours were deceptive and false, but ultimately we could not force ourselves to believe what we fought with blood and fire for millennia."
- 48 Do they fear that people who have been deceived and deceived for so long will fight them in the same way? Everything will come...
They are wrong to delay the Truth, it will be revealed whether they want it or not on the Day of Annunciation.

Azterketa47

49 Almighty God observed with concern the regrettable situation created by the Palestine on Earth.

50 He warned the Tsar of the Ele, the greatest among the Edu, of this with the intention of proposing to him a delicate Mission that, without a doubt, would be the most difficult of any he would undertake.

51 The Almighty, aware of the problem created by the Pale on this terrestrial Globe, had devised a plan.

52 He could - if he wanted - annihilate the Nigeriazi, causing all the Pales living there to perish . This would also mean the end of the Niger, a fact that would not be fair since they had no fault in the conflict created.

53 Furthermore, the Pales had intersected with the Niger. What to do with the mestizos who participated in their blood?

54 In truth God had a plan for the Nigeriazi that he was going to implement very soon...

55 It happened at that time that the Lord of the Worlds was looking for a substitute to succeed him on the Magnificent Throne of Heaven, since he had been in power for more than 300,000 years.

47 Azterketa means: examination or experiment.

ing and it was time to enter Lozabal⁴⁸. The candidate for such a great honor had to have a series of unique qualities, so the Almighty consulted in his Bialduo-tekai⁴⁹ who would be the ideal Man who could replace him.

56 The response did not take long and, in front of the Bial-duotek screen, he saw the ideal candidate: it was Eleazar, that is, the Tsar of the Elies, a group of terrestrial Balloons.

57 Eluis Alexandre, which was the name of the Tsar of the Ele, had inherited, by his father's will and after passing all the tests to which heirs undergo, the throne of the Elie and lived in the Elysian Globe, where he lived. It located the capital of the entire group of Globes recognized as Eleazari-des.

58 God Be, Tsar of the Ele, great and tireless traveler of Heaven without limits or end. Long-time visitor and discoverer of more than a thousand Earth Globes, some of whose names are: Ezeginkar, Zirgon, Lelekon, Emeleie, Arlili, Gerleie, Zilonka, Xarxokome, Xoxik, Andilon, Xole, Bildu, Zen, Eleazaride, Orion, Urion, Beriades, Berizil, Za-lek, Alebire, Banitide, Mundo, Ebanus, Akonek, Erreinu, Zetikon, Nereide, Jaleie, Burubuton, Maonis, Zil, etc., each one of them forming a perfect cluster in which there ... was no lack of a only grain.

48 Lozabal: Open Dream. The Eduen concept of Creation is that its nature is that of a Great Dream. Conceiving the idea of an Open Dream gives, as antithesis, the conceptualization of a Closed Dream. The Material Cosmos is the crystallization of that dream closed, both by its Laws and by its limitations. However, both the open and closed Dreams belong to planes of manifestation within what we could call the Great Divine Dream.

49 The Bialduotekai, Bialduotek or Biotek is a sophisticated, very high-tech device that allows you to see images of the past, in natural color and original sound. With this machine, our ancestors were able to see and hear a conversation carried out at one time or another and in no matter what place in the Heavens, even if it took place a thousand meters underground or in a room covered with thick concrete or steel walls.

59 God called him into his presence and said to him: "You have been chosen to be the future Almighty God or God Be50. But first I give you my favorite daughter to marry her."

60 And the marriage between them was celebrated in Heaven, a wedding that was the most fantastic event in the annals of the Edu.

61 God, as a dowry for that wedding, gave his daughter the twelve World Globes.

62 After that lavish and solemn celebration, as the occasion demanded, God called the Tsar of the Ele to his presence again. As is customary among the Eduen, those whose supreme responsibility is the direction and government of men, the future Heir to the Celestial Throne had to pass a test in which he demonstrated his best qualities.

63 God and the Council of Wise Men of Edenga had already planned which would be this, so the Most High said to Elezar:

50 Second God. Be is the cardinal form of the numeral Bi (two). In the Mother Language of Eduen, God Second would be said IOBE and God First IOBAT. Now there are two general concepts about what Divinity is, one is metaphysical in nature and the other is more of a human order. The Eduen recognize that there is a Great Intelligence Generator of the Created and Uncreated. The God Eduen is a Man and, therefore, must be considered an honorific title but not like those that transgressors and pagans have made us believe, perverting the concept and the way in which this High Degree is acquired, which confers on his well-deserved possessor of immeasurable powers, some capable of returning the dead to life, of transforming previously barren terrestrial globes into wonderful places full of life or the power to act as the Maximum Justice in the Jurisdiction of Men inhabiting thousands of worlds. . He may seem to us to be a God that is too close to our nature and so he was, since a good percentage of Humanity can consider Him as their original Grandfather and the rest, as belonging to the lineage of Man from which we all originate. This is why, since ancient times, both God First and God Second had a face and were represented and people recognized them as beings from which we derive their image and likeness.

Of course, the Eduen were aware that the First Cause existed beyond, but they never worshiped it although they have dedicated all their intelligence to revealing its mysteries. God gathers in his possession the summum of knowledge of the race of Men, which is why he receives, among other titles, that of Almighty.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

64 "The test chosen so that you can ascend to Our Throne of the Ancient Eduen , will be the following: You will have to go to the Globe of the Nigeriaz to proceed to an Azterketa in order to find out if the Niger can coexist with the Pale and with us, the Edu. Well, they are the only three races (of humans) that we know and see how their souls, their characters, their bodies, their brains, their feelings, their blood, etc. work..."

65 "What will the mestizos that arise from two or three of those races be like? The other Globes – except the ones we colonized – were empty of humans. Some have monkeys or anthropoids, others only animals, like birds and insects, as you know perfectly well from having visited more Balloon surfaces than any of us. Others have no life because they are in their primary state, giving off a large amount of sulfur and deadly gases."

66 "Also in your Azterketa you will have to investigate where evil, envy, hatred, idolatry, and the desire for profit that the Pales have above Love come from."

67 "You will show us the reaction of humans in the face of danger, suffering and the tasks to be fulfilled to survive in situations of very cold, very hot, drought or floods, and all the calamities that may arise."

68 The Tsar of the Ele , the best of Men!, was entrusted with the most difficult of tests in this Globe so punished by the darkness of ignorance, the lies of the Pale, pagans and atheists of all times, forever, banished from Baleden and from the side of the Edu Heavens.

69 His Mission would be unique and would last an entire Seikolau. Almighty God entrusted it to him as the Supreme Proof by which – after its completion – he would receive the Crown of Heaven from his hands, replacing him in his position.

70 Eleazar was made eternal King of this terrestrial Globe by command of the Lord of the Worlds. Thus it is written in an evident Book that, on the approaching Day of their Final Judgment, all they will be able to know Thus no one will be able to excuse themselves from the appointment of that terrible Day.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

71 And since God so decreed, the Earth is under the sole jurisdiction of the Tsar of the Ele who cannot do anything to remedy evils and calamities but must endure them.

72 This Globe will be your research laboratory, study, test bed and no one will intervene⁵¹, both before the Divine sentence is fulfilled and after.

73 This is why God has not intervened nor will he intervene in the events in the History of Humanity of this Globe throughout time.

74 The Almighty decided that the future God Be would create and develop be the white race on Earth.

75 It would be proposed to the Pale inhabiting this Globe that, if they admitted the Omnipotence of God being the Master and Lord of their lives and obeying His commandments, they would be allowed to inhabit the Earth.

76 The proposed Mission contemplated a wisely devised plan in order for Humanity to accept the solution given by God by free will .

77 He, those who dwell in Heaven know well, could end In a few moments with this Globe where so many calamities happen and people suffer so much, for God this is easy.

78 It could also put an end one by one to all those who promote and contribute to sustaining this entire lamentable state of ignorance, injustice and sin in which Humanity is mired, but their number is so immense that there would hardly be any humans left on the planet. the earth.

79 More, his plan was different. Maybe in his mercy he wanted to give the Palestine a new chance...

⁵¹ Refers to any interference from alien visitors from outside or belonging to the Eduen Confederation.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

80 God Be would appear in the Nigeriazi for 3 times. For three times ces would take life among the men of this terrestrial Globe.

The first, to create Gen Ber and write the Bibele. The second to fight and defeat the Pales as a warning of what could happen at the end of the prescribed time. The third to know an unhappy childhood and youth, living much of his life in the most absolute contempt of humans, who would not recognize him as "HE, who IS".

81 In the final moments of his third life he would decide what to do with this humanity, pronouncing his Final Judgment.

82 Then he would be the Sole and Supreme Judge, judging all nations, all living people and all the souls of the dead.

83 The lives of God Be would be 3. Once he would reincarnate and twice he would resurrect. In these three lives their origins and actions would represent 3, 3 and 3, which would give 9. The fatal parts of their 3 lives would be related to the number 7 and would be repeated 7 times in each life. God Be was 2 and would always return a second time at least to the same place, since the Earth, in turn, was 2. Also the Blows would be 2, the final antagonists 2, the solutions to choose 2 and the punishment 2.

84 The true Bibele says: "And the believers were aware that such a Mission, having to be developed in three episodes – each one in his time -: the Warning, the Annunciation and the Final Judgment of the Nations, of the Peoples, of the groups, of the living individuals and of the dead in hope, would be the last of HIM on this Earth" .

85 "If that failed, the fateful Second and definitive Coup would not fail, ending on the prescribed date, this sinful and renegading Humanity."

86 It is written in an explicit Book: "They will say: If you are God, then you are the son of God. Tell them: I am not a son of God Most High but I am God Be. Almighty God does not direct the Universe of the white race together with another human being, but you will succeed me at the end of your third life on this Earth.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

rra, as agreed. That's why I called you from where you were to fulfill the Azterketa."

Noel

Birth of Be

87 Having informed Eleazar of the nature of his Az-terketa, he went with his wife to the ship that was waiting for them to carry out their Mission.

88 They got on it and left for the Eliades towards the city.
pital located in the Elysée Globe.

89 Then Eleazar took a cousin of his as his second Xu-ride 52. This would later be called on Earth, Martha.

90 "Eleazar and Marta said goodbye to their people and with the same ship they went to the group of the Mundos, disembarking on the Globe that immediately took the name of Be Anus or Banus, where the beautiful and always cheerful Queen of that Globe, which here on Earth would be called by the names Margorite, Margoda, Margot, Bane, Bean or Beane."

91 Before reaching Banus, the ship suffered a breakdown that forced them to leave it at a nearby space station to be repaired.

92 There, Eleazar embarked on another ship and with another crew to make a brief exploration of a nearby Globe that the Bialduotekai had discovered and that shone quite majestically despite its small size.

52 Xuride or Keride means: dear, beloved. This was the name that for millennia was applied to the three wives of the Tsar of the Eles, Mothers of the entire white race on Earth. They were also known as Marias, "the three maries."

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

93 When they got very close to it, they could see how it was an immense ocean of water in which they could distinguish, as if it were a spot, a tiny continent of what seemed to be solid land.

94 The measuring devices scanned the entire surface of that Globe and especially that of the small continental island.
They discovered that it was made up of vegetation and that this, like thick mangroves, formed the "firm land" in itself.

95 The exploration of that fascinating Globe is done. Eleazar decided to call him Urion⁵³.

96 Then he returned to the space station where his ship was already repaired and ready to continue its journey.

97 Upon arriving in Banus, Margode joined the expedition as established by the Almighty, since the first phase of the Mission involved the collaboration of the three: Maista, Marta and Margode.

98 Then, they quickly continued their journey towards Nigeria-zi , which was renamed Uniber.

99 But, the ship suffered a new and serious accident when the electromagnetic system that acted as a protective shield against impacts of moving cosmic matter failed. This is how in an area very dense in asteroids and meteorites, one of these collided with the ship, producing a tremendous discharge of energy that tragically affected the Tsar of the Ele, who at that moment was trying to repair the protective shield.

100 The shock was so severe that his body was almost completely charred from the waist up. So his death was irremediable.

101 As the Edu usually do in these cases , the Xurides, with the help of the equipment necessary for such an operation, steal the semen and store it properly in an egg-shaped "preservative" container⁵⁴ prepared for this purpose.

53 Urion means: "good water."

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

102 In the year 10,876 BC, Baleden 's starship - after circling the Earth seven times - lands on Earth, in the territory currently known as Mexico and not far from its capital.

103 This region was later called Amerik , which means in the Celestial Language: "The final contact" that is, the land where the ship of the Xurides, also called Mariak , finally landed⁵⁵ .

104 Very soon, in the region near the landing site, the construction of a city began that would receive the name of Tolimak⁵⁶.

105 It began to be built on the shores of a large lake and its inhabitants would be called Toltekas⁵⁷. These, from the beginning, were guided and directed at all times by the Mariki or children of God Be engendered by the Marys.

106 Once settled on Earth, the three Xurides decided to carry out the reincarnation of Tsar Elen. They acted under the command and supervision of Jaungoiko.

54 As time went by, the Egg "conservative" of the Be semen became a symbol that is still preserved today without a very clear understanding of its meaning. It is the Easter Egg, a symbol also used by almost all religions on Earth.

55 Mariak means: cosmonauts.

56 Tolimak: City of the Marias or Mothers. It was also known as Tole or Tule: our city. The Pale used to name the cities at that time, among other terms, Ton, Tun, Tum.

57 The Toltekas were humans of the Pale race who lived humbly in the region near where the Xurides ship landed . From the beginning they welcomed them with great admiration and took care of them. They helped in the construction of the city and cooperated in all tasks side by side with the sons and daughters fathered by the Xurides.

107 The biological operation of the conception of Be was carried out without the mediation of any man and in the following manner.
ra:

108 The preserved semen of Eleazar was introduced by technical means into the vagina of Maistatu58, the daughter of God. Thus, the semen fertilized an egg from Adama59.

58 Maistatu: Woman or female who gives off Rays of Light. It is a figurative name and must be understood as a metaphor.

59 Adama means: She is the Mother. Adama is another of the names given to the daughter of God and the Mother of the entire white race on Earth. The current Christian Bible, greatly interpolated by the Lore, confuses Adama or Adam, interpreting this word as the name of the procreating male when, in reality, Adama or Dama

It means what today in Spanish or French. Adama means: she is the Mother. The character of Eve in the Christian Bibles derives from the words of the original text: "Eube ezuri", meaning "the semen of Be". Eube was eventually written Ebe which, at the end of the Païen Empire, remained in Eva. The point is that the ancient theologians did not understand very well everything written in the already quite retouched versions of the original Bibele, and they thought that Adama should be the man and Ebe or Eve the woman, this seeming to them the most logical. This is how lezus became Adam or Adama and his mother, that is, Mary, identified herself as Eve, the first woman.

Later in time, the pagans of Rome separated lezus and Mary from Adam and Eva to, in this way, fit them better into the story of their legends.

*As for the word Ezuri, meaning "semen", they wanted to give it another meaning so that no one would think that some type of semen had intervened in the Creation of man. That idea would have subtracted "purity" from the conception of God -according to the version of events told by the Kures-. Observing the similarity of this word with the other one of Ezur, they changed it to the latter which means: "bone". Very soon, in the versions of the pagan Bibles of the Judas (Jews) Ezur would be translated as rib, inventing that children's fable that talks about Adam's rib, etc....

As the centuries passed, the characters of Adam and Eve came to life independently of Mary and lezus, giving them a strange role as "parents" of Humanity. Maria and lezus, being the true parents, became the first the mother of a certain Jesus Christ of Nazareth, and the second like this same one. In this way, the Peers of Rome (since the Gospels that we now know, and which are not the only ones, were written by a family descended from the Flavians and King Herod in the time of Vespasian and after) and the Kures (Curia) of ago A few centuries they killed two birds with one stone by deifying the figure of Christ or Karistio whose version of the Bibele it was convenient for them to recognize as true. The one called Karistio was an envoy from Rome who preached brotherhood and coexistence between different races.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

109 Maistatu was called – like the other Xurides – Maria60, a name that she still retains today although its original meaning is unknown.

110 In this way, Maria61 conceived Baby 62 on Earth, thus being the grandmother of all the white men of Uniberse.

⁶⁰ But, much later and, especially in the Trojan Era, she was called Maria Jan Beta Istu, a name that was sculpted on statues representing her figure. It meant: "Maria ate the Be's sperm." The Bibeles of that time say that Lady Emmanuel: "She picked up something that she was carrying with her and received it and consequently, after a while, she got rid of the Baby, just as (the) other women do, even though At first he gave it to him in a different way."

61 When she was proclaimed Queen of the World and its twelve Globes, she was known by the names of Mu, Muni, Mira, Miriam, Miriades, Mezel and others. During her trip to this Earth she was called, in addition to Immanuel, Ishmael or the Keride Adama Bedu. During the Gestation period of Iezus she was called Elizabeth "she will give birth to Him Be." His other names used by the Bere from the time of Elduradu until his physical death and even some time later to the present day are many: Ma-ri, Marion, Merion, Merionete, Meru, Mere, Mare, Marobe, Merode, Meredi-te, Merel, Merelbek, Madelen, Madelon, Maribel, Meribel, Meriota, Mariete, Mais, Marsele, Mueler, Muber, Muker, Munda, Munie, Almunie, Mati, Matu, Matxa, Matuzaleme "Dear female our mother", today known as Mathusalem. Therefore, the Mathusalem, which is still spoken of today to refer to someone who lived many years, was not a man but a beautiful woman and specifically the Beautiful and Dear Mary who lived about 1000 years from now on. this Earth (exactly 968 years).

62 Bebe: little Be. It is easy to guess where the terms baby or baby come from.

ATAL 3

IEZUS – GOBERIEL

- 1 Born Eleazar in Tolimak, he spent his childhood there with the Xurides.
- 2 The city of Tolimak grew with the help of the local people, who welcomed with veneration those magnificent beings who came from the Heavens and later, their descendants.
- 3 The latter would be - at all times - the leaders and guides of those humans, not hesitating to teach them many sciences and knowledge about astronomy, agriculture, treatment and work with metals, etc. They were the Children of the Be who remained forever in Tolimak, being called Mariki, Mariakis or Mariatxis ⁶³.
- 4 Eleazar, also called lezes⁶⁴ by the local Pales, was the first white male born on Earth. As soon as he was old enough to do so, he began the task of creating Gen Ber.
- 5 Of the three Xurides he had children and they gave him grandchildren and so on until in a few centuries his descendants reached several thousand.

⁶³ Mariki, Mariaki and Mariatxi mean: little of Maria or part of Maria.

⁶⁴ lezes: was not conceived by a male.

6 The city of Tolimak was harassed several times by the army of the First Palestine Empire . Constant clashes took place, endangering the lives of lezus, the Xurides and all the Ber descendants.

7 In the year 362 of the arrival of the Marias, the situation became very difficult, approaching the time to flee the area.

8 Xuride Marta Aberta did it that same year. Many of her children and their descendants leave with her.

9 Three years later it will be the turn of lezus, Dama Emanuel⁶⁵ and Margorite to leave. The three together with a good part of their descendants leave for Akuban⁶⁶.

10 In Akuban, Margorite founds the capital city of Abane ⁶⁷.

11 They remained in Akuban for a few years until, harassed once again by the troops of the Emperor of the Pale, they left towards the South following the course of the Caribbean islands, "The Fortunate Ones"⁶⁸.

65 Another name for Maistatu or Maria.

66 Akuban: Island of the Ban, aku being the ancient term to refer to an island. It refers to the current island of Cuba which formed a long peninsula at that time and was linked to Central America.

67 "The Bane" Munie Magoda Margot, Queen of the World, originally from Banus, a city of lavish palaces, was of the Ban lineage. Hence she was known by the nickname "La Bane".

68 Even today it is possible to find traces of this step in the toponymy of those lands. Margarita Island in Venezuela , for example, is named after Queen Margorite. The Urinok River (Orinoco) which means: "river of women" was named after Mary and Margorite. At the mouth of the Urinok there was a Patois water city established centuries before by the Emperor Manitopako.

This city was called Karakuas "Property of the Islands" and was the capital of the Province with the same name. Then, the mouth of the Urinok was formed by myriads of small islands. In several of these the city was built, the houses of which, for the most part, were made of wood and reeds, supported by the shallow waters of the river with the help of log bases. Karakuas was totally devastated in the year 777 of the Marys, that is, the year 10,099 BC, due to the Coup better known as the Universal Flood.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

12 In the year 471 of the Mariás, María Bedu, Margorite and le-zus, founded a city on the banks of one of the tributaries of the Amazon and near the Urioro River⁶⁹.

13 That city would be known by the name of Elduradu⁷⁰ and it would be the first great architectural work carried out by Gen Ber on this Earth.

14 The Amazonian city of the Ber had formidable buildings. nes such as the Library, well stocked with books and writings that dealt with science, geography, medicine, etc.,...

15 In Elduradu lezus spent one of the happiest periods of his life. his life.

16 But that stay of paradisiacal peace would be altered by the irruption into the territory of the hosts of the Empire of the Ducks⁷¹ who fiercely attacked the splendid city of the Bere, destroying everything they found in their path.

17 Many works of art of inestimable value disappeared forever and many of the books in the splendid library were burned. Elduradu was seriously damaged.

69 The Urioro River was actually an immense canal many thousands of kilometers long that separated the current continents of South America and Africa on each of its banks.

70 Only the gigantic necropolis of Balbek (Lebanon) is comparable in majesty, architecture and style to the constructions of Elduradu. The architectural style of the city is similar to the constructions of Balbek, therefore it is also very similar to the now called "Hellenic" style with monumental columns without flutes, large stone blocks in the ashlar (some of which weigh up to 2,000 tons in weight), large interior rooms, gardens and avenues, harmony in forms and profusion of sculptural art of impressive realism.

mo.

71 Another of the names that the Pales received.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

18,256 years after its founding or 306 years from then⁷² Elduradu was completely submerged⁷³ under the waters of the Great Sea (Atlantic Ocean), being covered by mud and vegetation that flooded that entire area for many hundreds of kilometers.

19 This occurred because of the Coup ordered by Almighty God to punish the Earth.

20 The Ducks of the First Empire of Pâ had their capital which they called Manaus and which later, when it was abandoned and forgotten by almost everyone, would be called Manoa⁷⁴, confusing it with the Great Capital City of the Paleides.

21 Manaus⁷⁵ was famous for its gold-roofed palaces. The rooms, corridors, audience rooms, etc., were also tiled with coins, placed on edge! of the precious metal. There were such a number of them that putting one after the other, they would surely surround the entire equatorial perimeter of the Earth.

⁷² Before the Coup (that is, the well-known Universal Flood) the year lasted 302 days.

⁷³ Today, its ruins remain in that place, half covered by mud and known to some, who avoid being excavated and brought to light at all costs.

Elduradu is a serious obstacle in the historical scheme concocted by the powerful of the past and today.

⁷⁴ This confusion was partly due to the fact that Manaus was built as a more or less exact copy of the fabulous capital of the Paleides, located in the Paleneta Ispanie. A terrestrial Globe of the Bere should never be called Paleneta since this would mean recognizing it as property of the Pales, in any case its correct name would be Bereneta.

⁷⁵ Manaus did not suffer major damage in the Coup. It was simply evacuated due to the fear of being destroyed by the righteous hand of Jaungoiko.

Today it lies underground without a single ruined wall. Until now it has never been excavated and no one knows exactly its location. Manaus must have been the city so eagerly sought by the Spanish in the conquest of South America who - because of not fully understanding the explanations of their indigenous interlocutors - confused it with Eldorado. Eldorado and Manaus being different cities, the latter being very rich in gold and treasures.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

22 Its beautiful bridges and its Historical Museum were also very famous, in which - even today - lie the spaceships⁷⁶ in which they arrived on this terrestrial globe, about 17,000 years ago.

⁷⁶ These ships were not as perfect as those of the Bere. Its radius of action as well as its speed were smaller. However, they were capable of sailing for many years without refueling oxygen, fuel or food, carrying their conscious crew to their landing site.

These ships are still stored in a certain place in America-Antarctic without missing anything, being in perfect condition. Likewise, in the Technological Museum where they are preserved, the books filmed, written and spoken on board are carefully archived, in which the incidents of their trip to this Earth are encoded.

Bere Migrations

- 23 The Xuride Marta, in the year 362 of the arrival of the Marys, leaves the flowery and beautiful city of Tolimak, in the lands of Amerik, heading to Europe.
- 24 Marta Aberta will disembark, along with a good number of descendants, in the islands today known as Ireland⁷⁷ and Great Britain and from there she would leave for Belgium.
- 25 They would settle there for some time. Marta 's Bers would multiply, occupying the adjacent lands year after year. tes.
- 26 But Marta would move further and further into the interior of the continent. In the year 476 of the Marías, the Xuride arrived at a place where they would create a settlement that would be called Ber-zubie 78.
- 27 In time, this city would become part of the proud Etâ Berlin.
- 28 This city was made up of wooden barracks scattered in the forest. Its inhabitants venerated a small statue of Martha.
- 29 Later this city would be known by the name of Beistul⁷⁹.

⁷⁷ Perhaps there is a connection with the Legend, today very distorted, of the Thuata of Danann.

⁷⁸ Meaning: "Bridge of the Bere" (today Warsaw).

⁷⁹ Beistul: it is the city of Be.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

30 Marta founded other cities on her route to the European East: Beranderburuga (Berlin), Amsterdam (Amster-dam), created in 406 Marías and Mosku (Moscow), to name only the most important ones.

31 The Xuride Marta Aberta dies in the city founded by her, after being cruelly murdered by the Paíolos in the year 546 of the arrival of the Marías or 10,330 BC. C., at the age of 654 of those here.

32 That city and enclave Ber would be called Mosku80 meaning "Sepulcher of the Wench", that is, Sepulcher of Martha.

33 The Ber of the Xuride Marta Aberta multiplied, later colonizing all the northern lands from Great Britain to Russia, from Scandinavia to the plains of France.

34 Between the years 480 and 500 of the Marys, that is, between 10,396 and 10,376 BC, some of the children and grandchildren of Adama Bedu, after a long march from Tolimak, arrived in the current Iberian Peninsula, founding the city of Toledo "City of the Edo"⁸¹ tanie.

, being later proclaimed capital of the Kingdom of Ede-

35 In the following, ninth and eighth millennia, the Kings of the Edemundi Dynasty 82 had to continually fight against the incursions of the Paíos83.

80 This tomb was where the Kremlin is currently located , since the town created by Xuride, with stone houses, originally stood on its site . The word Kremlin derives from Keremelen or Keremlen "Land of the dear female" meaning "Property of the dear female." Also Mosku was called Moskbe meaning "Mosku of Be".

⁸¹ Edo, a variant of Edu.

⁸² The Edu Dynasty that reigned in the city of Toledo and, over the centuries, in the Kingdom of Edetanie.

83 Another name for the Pales, which encompassed all of them, whether Paunies, Pailotes, Patos, Paíolos, etc.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

36 Important battles pitted the brave Eduen warriors against the proud Imperial army. Little by little, many of the peripheral lands of the Edetan Kingdom were occupied⁸⁴ by the "Children of the Sun".

37 The children and descendants of Martha, in the 11th Millennium, also arrived in the Iberian Peninsula, founding the city of Beturo⁸⁵ "Fort of Be". Beturo was the Capital of the very ancient Etâ Arabe⁸⁶.

38 The descendants of the Xuride Margode Abane also occupied the lands of the Iberian Peninsula, founding the city of Jateban⁸⁷ which was later the Capital of Lebant.

39 The Ban spread across the entire coast of the Indian Sea. interior (Mediterranean Sea) also settling in Sirie, Tarsais ⁸⁸ and part of the Arabian Peninsula.

40 Iezus, as well as Adama Bedu, known as Maistatu and the Xuride Margode , set out towards 750 de las Marías⁸⁹, heading east, traveling to the mouth of the Amazon. from Elduradu.

⁸⁴ Consequently, the Kingdom of Toledo, as it was also called, was considerably reduced to the point that in the year 4,700 BC its borders did not exceed 200 kilometers around the Capital Toledo.

⁸⁵ This being the first name received by the current city of Zaragoza.

⁸⁶ First land on this Globe called Arab. The Arab Etâ, in its early days, covered the current lands of Catalonia, a large part of Aragon (except South of Teruel and West of Zaragoza), the French Pyrenean territory including the city of Tuluz (Toulouse), Logroño, Navarra, Northern part of Soria and the Basque Country including the French provinces.

⁸⁷ Current Játiva. The Kingdom of Lebanese occupied the current territory of the provinces of Valencia, Castellón and Alicante, Murcia and Albacete, Jaén, Granada, Almería, Málaga and parts of Córdoba and Cádiz.

⁸⁸ Holy Land. More or less modern-day Israel and Palestine.

⁸⁹ That is, since the arrival of the Marias to Earth.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 41 The mouth of the Great Amazon River converged with the Atelantiko⁹⁰ channel , whose width was no more than four or five kilometers and no less than four hundred meters.
- 42 Adama Bedu, Iezus, Margode and many of their descendants continued their long march up the Atelantiko Channel north to Cape Blanco. There they landed on the African continent, entering into its interior.
- 43 They crossed the territories of Mauritania ⁹¹ and Mali ⁹², Niger, Chad and Sudan creating numerous settlements and cities along the route traveled⁹³.

⁹⁰ Also called Urioro. The name Atelantiko is after the Coup.

⁹¹ Mauritania means: "Property of the city of Mary".

⁹² Male or Mali: "Land of Mary".

⁹³ Even today, by analyzing the geographical toponyms of these territories in an Atlas, one can discover names that reveal the passage of the expeditionary migration of the Ber of Adama Bedu through these lands. We have people descended from these migrations such as the Berbers or the Gloves...

Death of Mary

44 In Sudan they settle in a place called Obeidu⁹⁴. It is in this city where an event would occur that would cause the slow agony of the Xuride Emanuel (Adama Bedu), and cause Divine Punishment.

45 In those lands, in addition to the Niger and the Païos, there lived numerous Kain⁹⁵ whose land of origin was located around the sources of the Nile, Lake Victoria and part of Ethiopia, especially around the current Lake Tana.

46 It was at Obeidu that the Kain decided the future destiny of their race. All for having been the cause of an event that they would regret forever and ever.

47 It was in Obeidu where a group of Kain attacked Abele with stones ⁹⁶. One of those projectiles hit him in a place head key.

48 The wound would never heal, dying some time later due to she.

49 By that action, the ludas became the cursed people, earning the centuries-old hatred and resentment of the Bere, causing them to be persecuted everywhere and their women to be stoned to death in order to make them pay for the crime committed in Obeidu. .

⁹⁴ Today El-Obeidh.

⁹⁵ The Kain are the Jews. The term "Cohen" comes from this term.

⁹⁶ Another name given to Maria. Abele means: "the Bele".

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

50 And that is why it was written: "That breath is the one that came out of Abele whom the hand of the Kain has killed, and he (Mary's offspring) accuses him until his race is eliminated from the face of the Earth and that his race disappears from the race of men...."

51 The Peers defended the ludas on that ill-fated day of Obeidu, but since Alexandre gave them shelter in Tarsais, once the Palestinians had been expelled, and proclaimed them as the sole guardians of his Sepulcher Elkudais⁹⁷ became the people most hated by part of the Paios.

52 After the offer of the Etsiun⁹⁸ by Alexandre to the ludas, at the request of the great Historian Moisés, in the current site of Bershebah it turned out that the Jews were being forgiven by the Bere ... and it would be the Paios who would harass them relentlessly, until they murdered them mercilessly and en masse with the most ferocious and abominable methods...

53 The Peers of Rome and Athens, a long time ago, gave express orders to exterminate them wherever they were found and the massacres of Geruszalain, Kaifa , Beirut , Antio -kos, Byzantium and many other places, filled the cities with horrors . sayings of the travelers who witnessed them.

54 Since the day of the Etsiun offered by Alexandre, the Peers They made a difference between the ludas of Moses and those who, separating from their racial brothers, stayed in the delta, when they were expelled from Egypt.

97 Called since then by the ludas Geruszalemen "Here is our devotion" or Geruszalain "It is our high devotion."

98 Etsiun means: "resignation until the end." From this word comes Zion.

From two years after the death of Alexandre, until the year 1945 of this Era, in the month of May (that is, for 5,487 years), the ludas will be persecuted and killed by the Peers, the Lords and all other Pagans.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

55 The latter responded favorably to Theo II's call. They were called Separadeitu⁹⁹.

56 They were very pampered people in Egypt, in the Medieval Empire and especially in the Païen Empire.

57 Despite all the persecutions, the Judas remained very united and very confident in God's return. They made their intelligence work, becoming the best merchants. They stored rare and useful merchandise for the development of arts and sciences.

58 In view of the great vitality of the Jewish people, the Peers They also left it said and written that the people of the Judas It should disappear completely from the face of the Earth, at the latest before the dreaded Beurrena¹⁰⁰ year occurs .

59 María, seriously injured, was transferred to safer lands. Their wish being to visit the tomb of the Xuride Marta in Moscow, they decided to take that direction.

60 They advanced through the Sudan, crossing the Nile River. Then they entered the territory of Abesenie until they reached the Red Sea.

61 They traveled north along the entire coast of the Arabian coast - all lands that the Arabs colonized - until they reached Syria .

62 There they finally settled, when Mary died before seeing her will fulfilled.

⁹⁹ Expression meaning "they were called by the Pare." Today they are called Sephardic.
tas.

¹⁰⁰ The return of the Be -referring to his Annunciation-. The Jewish Holocaust promoted by the German Nazis obeys the directives of certain individuals knowledgeable about the history and destiny of the Jews on the Day of the Annunciation of the Messiah...

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

63 It was in maritime Syria where lezus settled after his death of María, in the place of Daetxebeil 101.

64 Mary was buried in Balbek where a large necropolis was built. This would soon be recognized as one of the Sie- you Wonders of the Earth.

101 Current Byblos.

Mary's Tomb

65 Maria was buried in the Balbek Necropolis¹⁰², an imposing architectural work that, after the Coup, suffered numerous collapses.

66 Therefore, in the year 900 of the Marias or 9976 before the Christian Era, the sarcophagus of Maria Ian Betistu, the Ramadame, was taken by the Arabs to Seiri¹⁰³.

67 The entire city of Seiri served as custody of the tomb of the Mere. The tomb was built inside a Hermite.

68 Said Sepulcher was named Damasku¹⁰⁴. Later in time and on several occasions, this city was occupied with the intention of destroying Mary's tomb. Several times they thought they did it, but the Arab custodians who defended it were smarter than its desecrators by deceiving them about its real location.

69 The first time the city was conquered, seeing the impossibility of resisting any longer, they built a false coffin in every way identical to the real one except for Mary's remains, which were replaced by those of an old old woman.

70 On another occasion and after the Troian War, a large Maitzketa was built, inside which the

102 Present ruins of Ba'albek, Lebanon

103 It is the original name of the current city of Damascus.

104 It is the tomb of the Mother. Then this nickname would serve to give the name to the current city of Damascus in Syria.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

grave of Abele, the dear grandmother of all white men.

71 After Alexandre's death , the city was invaded again and the sarcophagus was reburied in a safe place under the floor of the Mosque.

72 Then the Païos searched unsuccessfully for its location not being able to find her despite the many attempts made.

73 So, bored with digging the ground of half a city of Damasku, make a plan.

74 They say they have found the Tomb of the Lady and with great pomp and publicity they announce its transfer to Panis105. There they place the supposed coffin of Mary in a Tanpale106, giving it a grotesque cult in an attempt to destroy the true image of the Mother of God Be and the Faith of those Bain and Syrians who could come to believe in the authenticity of the exposed remains.

75 Furthermore, the Païos think that the custodians of the Mother's remains will not resist seeing this blasphemy and transgression carried out for a long time and will end up announcing the place where the authentic sarcophagus is hidden.

105 The city of Panis, also called Panisa, was then known as Pale-mere. Later pronounced Palmyra. The name of Palemere, from which Palmira derives, meant: "The Mother of the Pale", being something in paganism something totally new, surprising and unprecedented.

¹⁰⁶ Temple.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

76 The truth is that the true Tomb of Mary¹⁰⁷ remained in the place where its Guardians, the Durutzi ¹⁰⁸, hid it.

77 Although the Païos gained some followers to the cult created in Palmyra, the truth is that the stubborn Arabs did not stop on their pilgrimages to the Holy City of Damasku.

78 Suddenly news emerged: Mary's tomb has been found in a territory located on the banks of the *Zangros River*¹⁰⁹ , belonging entirely to the Kure ¹¹⁰. reason why which has currently taken the name of Kurdistan "is the property of the Kuras."

79 They claim that the Arabs must have brought the coffin there when Damascus fell into the power of the Paniz. He was in a zulo or zulo¹¹¹. In the place where it was claimed to be found, a large square Moske ¹¹² was built so that the thousands of faithful, who would surely arrive at the place soon, could visit it.

80 The city created around it forms the name of the new tomb: Muzul¹¹³.

¹⁰⁷ And it is also true that, during certain excavations, when the works of the Great Mosque of Damascus were being completed , his tomb was found, although the people of that time identified it as that of a certain John Baptiste or Baptiste. This Juan Bautista is none other than Maria Ian Betistu.

¹⁰⁸ Druze.

¹⁰⁹ Today mistakenly called the Tigris River.

¹¹⁰ Name given to the ministers dedicated to the worship and sacrifices of the temples, that is, the pagan priests.

¹¹¹ Small underground cave or hole.

¹¹² Tomb.

¹¹³ Today Mosul.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

81 The Arabs are quite suspicious of such statements, thinking not without reason that said tomb was a hoax.

82 They believed that the Kures were actually pursuing two objectives. The first suppressing the fame and preponderance of Da-masku and the second obtaining the benefits of Maria's belief and love could provide them¹¹⁴.

83 The Kure tried to create a new religion, using Maria as bait, but also lezus. It was the first time in the history of this terrestrial globe that they were going to use the fabulous and famous characters of the Bere for their own purposes, in an attempt to deceive future generations, knowing that they had a lot of time until the arrival of the Messiah, who would restore the Truth or suppress all life on Earth.

84 However, they did not want to put the name of Alexandre because of the great defeat suffered at Troia by his predecessors.

85 The priests of this religion will be called Muzulman¹¹⁵.

¹¹⁴ This fact, having its importance, occurred between the years 800 and 787 before the Christian Era.

¹¹⁵ Muzul's Errands. The famous Al Kurani was then written in Muzul, which mixed several passages from early Bibele with Pagan vocabulary. This new book, considered sacred, much later became the Quran, when it was translated and greatly retouched by the prophet Mahammed, in order to adapt it to the winds that blew at his time.

Margode in Eastern Lands

86 The Xuride Margode and part of her descendants continued towards the East, traveling through the current territory of Iran until they reached the prosperous and fertile Indus Valley.

87 Margorite created a great Kingdom in Putanie 116 and lived there many years.

88 It was then that she married a Pute prince, that is, Paio, called Puterru. The Xuride Bane, by acting like this, transgressed the Divine Law, since no Bere should ever unite with a Paio.

89 From this union they had only one son, it happened that he was effeminate and they did not like women.

90 Queen Margorite deduced that said child was the punishment she deserved and recognized how indeed the union between a Paio and a Bere, or vice versa, must produce a decline in the body and mentality of the child they had.

91 His son was called Buddha "The Inverted One." His Mother offered him the entire island of Seilandi so that he could reign there as he wanted and sent him the most beautiful girls, but Buddha did not even want to touch them.

92 He himself suffered a lot from his situation. studied and explained everything his mother told him about the existence of other worlds in the sky and about the Edu, Bedu, and Paios races and Niger.

93 He preached fraternization between good and honest people of the three races. He therefore became a great prophet in several lands in Asia.

116 Name given to the Indian peninsula at that time.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

94 Margoride wrote the Ebangele, considered the sacred writings of the Ban.

95 The current Gospel (or Gospels) have some ethical and moral ideas taken from the authentic Ebangele, but everything that refers to the historical story narrated in them is nothing more than an amalgam of lies and distortions devised by paganism.

96 Queen Margorite (also called Margot, Madalene or Magde) lived and died in Zarinagar, now Srinagar.

97 Near this city was built the fabulous tomb of the most dreamy and extravagant Xuride of the God Be, ex-Queen of Banus and of all the Ban.

98 This tomb or sepulcher was called Kaxemere or the "Ka-xe" of the "Mere" or "Mother's Box". Now the name Kashmir is designated for a region located to the north of Asian India and Pakistan.

99 It is very possible that the Sepulcher has never been violated, otherwise there would be talk of at least the large room where the "Kaxe" was located. Its walls were entirely covered with relief sculptures representing all the events in the life of Queen Bane, from her Apparition on the globe Banus to the birth of her bastard son Buddha.

100 About the Golden Kaxe and before dying, Tsarina Margorite He had rubies inserted forming the following inscription: "On the day of your Final Judgment, forgive me Tsar of the Ele."

Bibele. The Fate of the Bere

101 Eleazar, who after his Mission in Uniberse will be called God Be ruling the Heavens and the Earth for a long period of time, was the writer of a truthful and revealing book.

102 Explicit book which he wrote in his first existence on this Terrestrial Globe, when - among other names - he was called lezus.

103 In it he described the path to follow. "The Fate of the Bele"¹¹⁷ by which his descendants will know at all times the stages of their development on Earth.

104 For this reason HE is and will always be, the beam of light of the Be- re¹¹⁸.

105 The Tsar of the Ele wrote the Book at the place later known as Daetxebeil, which is near present-day Byblos¹¹⁹ in Lebanon. It took him 29 years to complete his work, which began in the year 751 of the Arrival of the Marys.

117 Bibele means: The Destiny of the Bele... and by extension of the humanities inhabiting this terrestrial globe.

118 Luzber or Luzbel.

119 The house where lezus-Eleazar lived, located in present-day Byblos, exists and has been excavated on certain occasions, and can be visited. Although its current appearance is not exactly what it originally had since it has been remodeled and modified several times. There are many characters who were buried in its subsoil. The tombs were looted at the beginning of this century - between 1918 and 1935 by the same people who stole these lands from the King of Syria, Faysal Ibn Hussain, and then murdered him in Berne (Switzerland) in 1933, so that his son, the Emir of Damascus, was not proclaimed King of Syria, with the inclusion of Lebanon in the population of El Haseke.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

106 The Bibele was written in Anere, known today as cuneiform writing. This was used by the Eduen. It was the most difficult, perfect and brilliant of all the writings created by men, being the one used by the computers of the Bialduotekai.

107 On Earth, the first to write in this technical language was EL. The Xurides reminded her . Then he showed it to the Lebanese.

108 It is in Bibelos where the first school that taught the use of Anere 120 was created . Only the most intelligent Abes were capable of using it.

109 This was the main reason why most of the descendants of the first Bere, upon arriving in their lands of settlement, did not know how to write their thoughts and their history.

110 Thus, the oral transmission of memories and acquired knowledge developed to a large extent, which was a serious drawback for the development of the Bere civilization.
favoring to a large extent the implementation of the Paios on their lands.

111 These brought with them a writing that was very easy to read, even for children: hieroglyphs.

112 In the Bibele, Eleazar explains to us how during two seiko-lau121 he found out and provided the necessary data for the famoso Bialduotekai.

113 Thus it is written in the Luminous Book: "Tell them and explain to them how nothing can escape my knowledge. I know the mysteries of the Heavens and I have an open eye on the actions of humans on all the Globes."

120 Anere writing was difficult to learn, handle and read, since it was conceived in Baleden for use by computers, facilitating verification of the oral data provided by the Bialduotekai.

121 A seikolau is a period of time of 10,105 years.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

114 God is the Listener, he is the Omniscient. Wherever you are, He is. Nothing escapes his knowledge nor can anyone hide from him. God sees and hears everything you do and can search your hearts and know what you think. That is not difficult for God.

115 Dios Be, in the Bibele, explains, in summary, the History of Humanity from its origins to the Day on which its Final Judgment will be pronounced . The reason for his Mission, the incidents of his interstellar journey towards Earth, as well as the System used to achieve his first resurgence.

116 It is written: "I send you from Heaven the Book that contains the Truth of your destiny and of the three humanities - the white, the black and the yellow - so that you can judge men according to our model."

117 "Do not be angry with the impostors. They will be ridiculous and they will mock you but you know the Truth of the future and they do not. You will know each time the Glory of your two new Resurrections and they the horrible misery of the burning eternal torture."

118 Truly, God sent the enlightening Book from Heaven.

He sent the Aerolito, the Kaixe, on which were recorded God's instructions addressed to Iesus or Goberiel, referring to the Three Missions that HE had to fulfill during the course of His Existences on this Globe. Missions that had to happen according to a plan and pre-established times, until the Day of Judgment.

119 The Aerolite fell in a place that, from then on, would be called Zeruameka "The Fallen from Heaven", today being Mecca, a place that has since been Sacred and Venerated.

120 In the Book also, and in detail, it gives names, places and dates as well as the reasons of Justice and Conscience why it will appear in two next lives on this Earth, before the Fateful Day.

121 In the Bibele he also wrote what would follow after his Trial, which is an ending with two alternatives: either the redemption of all or part of this Humanity or the Final Blow that is scheduled for a final and inevitable Day.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

122 The Bibele, therefore, is a historical, geographical and scientific work of immense value and should be considered the most important Book written on this Earth.

123 The Bibele is the inheritance of God Be to the Bere who can be considered as the true "People of the Book."

124 God commanded him to write: "The written work of your first book will serve as proof and testimony for the high capacity and justice of your science."

125 "There is no mystery, neither in Heaven nor on Earth, without it being written in an Explicit Book"122.

126 Today, only a few copies of the Bibele remain.
original distributed in various countries and guarded by its jealous guardians. Its mere possession is dangerous, causing persecution and death. Most have been thoroughly destroyed by the Peers, the pagan priests and the idolaters of all times.

127 It is written in the Book that clarifies understanding: "Tsar of the Ele, you will see how the teachers of the prosti-merous culture of the idolaters will corrupt these writings of ours.
They will hide the authentic texts that will talk about the Science.

122 The current Book - today very famous - known as "The Bible" of Christians, has nothing - or almost nothing - to do with the genuine one, of which only its title and some very doctored, summarized and deformed phrases are preserved in its first chapter: Genesis.

The rest is a hoax, mixed with certain legends very retouched by pagan priests who have had no qualms about demanding that every page of it be given tribute in rams or gold and silver coins, every time someone breathes or breathes. undertake some work.

As they could not put an end to the great fame and popular roots of the Book, they thought of creating another that would bear the same title but whose content would be what they had agreed upon, more in line with their lying interests.

That book is the Bible that we all now know and can be considered a true blasphemy to God and God Be (Second God).

cia and future Power. You should not stop for a moment to discover their misdeeds, their fallacies, their frauds."

128 The original manuscript of the Bibele must have remained for some time in the tomb of Iezus, later being exposed to the public in Bibelos and Balbek.

129 Much later in time it was kept in the flourishing city of Damascus.

130 It would be urgently removed from said city when it was attacked by the Panie of Palemere (Palmira) and the Palestinians, who destroyed the Mezkite with the tomb of La Mere.

131 Thus removed, the Bibele was transferred to Mecca, where it also began to be called Eleberu. He remained there until the Victory of Troia.

132 Alexandre - second Incarnation of the Tsar of the Ele on this Earth - was able, with great emotion and joy, to see and touch her again¹²³.

133 La Bibele was always kept in a wooden chest covered with strips of gold.

123 At that time, the Bibele was guarded by the Shariff of Mecca. The head of the Pare of Rome of the Mede Empire offered a fabulous amount of gold to the Shariff in exchange for him giving him the precious original of the Bibele.

Furthermore, it would confirm him in his position while being under the protection of the Empire. Furthermore, if he refused the offer he would be ordered to hang and the Holy Book would be burned in the presence of the people.

The Shariff was frightened by the fate of the Book. So he ordered his sons to hide it, along with other copies written in writings of the time, in a cave near Medina.

Afterwards, the Shariff of Mecca fled to Yemen where he fell prisoner to the Paios upon being betrayed. Shortly after he was hanged.

Some ancient texts from those times claim that the Book was very well hidden in Yemen or even in Abesenie.

It is possible that the Shariff did not entrust the true original to his children, having time to hide it somewhere between Mecca and Yemen. With his death, the Shariff took with him the secret of the location of the hiding place where he kept the Book.

134 Mahamed, when writing his book known as "The Quran", refers many times to the original text in his verses"¹²⁴.

124 "Cite some passages from the True and Primitive Bible, as they were written and in good translation." But, he also alludes to others which he did not know how to interpret, leaving them half explained or completely confusing.

There is no doubt that Mahamed found in his grotto, near Medina, a copy of the Bible in surely Syriac or Kufic script written in the ancient Arabic language. But, as explained in the Quran, it is assumed that he only found an abbreviated copy of the Bible, or some loose sheets constituting the beginning of an original transcription. Furthermore, after Mahamed, the Quran was retouched in some verses as well as others were doctored. But, it still has authentic parts of the original Bible, unlike the Bible used by Christians, which makes it special and unique.

Death of Iezus-Eleazar

135 Iezus momentarily abandoned Daetxebeil in the year 777 of the arrival of the Marias since, knowing that those lands would be covered by waters, he had to get to safety.

136 Some time later, when the waters receded from the place, he returned making the necessary arrangements to inhabit it again.

137 When Iezus died, he was buried in Geruszalem¹²⁵. His death occurred in the year 10,094 before the Christian Era.

138 His tomb was known interchangeably by the names of Dabeda or Elkudais.

139 The tomb was built of blocks of green marble with white veins¹²⁶ and located on a high plinth, made of ashlar.
beef.

140 It was made with a curved shape at the top to represent the Moon. A double stone staircase led to the base, one for going up and the other for going down.

141 At first the Sepulcher was outdoors, but soon an architectural work of thick stone blocks was built to contain it inside.

142 The monument containing the famous tomb had the shape geometry of a cube¹²⁷.

¹²⁵ Current city of Jerusalem.

¹²⁶ That type of marble was called Beril.

¹²⁷ word derived from Kube or "Sepulcher of Be".

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

143 This is the famous temple of Solomon mentioned in the Jewish To-rah and later in the Christian Bible to cite only two of the best-known texts¹²⁸.

144 The ludas were always persecuted and cursed by the Bere after the horrible crime committed by them in murdering Mary in Obeidu.

145 But Alexandre made a deal with them at the time of the Troian Victory. The deal was called the Etsiun. If it was fulfilled by the Judas, they would receive forgiveness from HIM on the Day of Judgment.

146 Alexandre proclaims the Etsiun to the ludas in front of the pa-networks of his former Elkudais.

147 The ludas promise blind obedience and absolute veneration to God Alexandre and his new reincarnation as Mezu, being that to inform that humanity he will bear his primitive name of Tsar of the Ele, recognizing him, proclaiming him, defending him, helping him and calling him Geruszalemen "Here

¹²⁸ But, neither of both scriptures tells the true story, nor does it give the correct measurements, neither the appearance nor the real content of the monument. The Kures have invented a pagan-style narrative that has no coherence with reality although it is based on it.

Solomon's name comes from Suleiman (Man-King Sulei). The word Sulei in the Argo language it is the predecessor of the current Soleil in French, written at the end with the unpronounced L. Solomon was considered by the ludas or Kain as a great King full of wisdom, especially after the Etsiun was proclaimed on April 12, 3549 or 3548 BC. Salomón was another of the names given to Alexandre Magono. HE tells them, in the proclamation of the Etsiun that he will return to this Land of Tarsais (Holy Land) - because it is the first land where he was for so many years near a tomb that He Himself had built when His name was lezus (Eleazar) - within from 5,500 to 5,555 years, as it was written in the Bibe-le (between the year 1951 and 2006 of this Era). Then, if they fulfill what they promised, they could perhaps be the Chosen People who would help him reestablish his authority.

Then he would give them a large plot of land to create a great nation.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

is our devotion" to the ruins of the ancient Sepulcher of le-zus, and Israel "is God He" to the God of men¹²⁹.

148 He told them to take care of his grave and inheritance until his return as Messiah, but that they knew how to suffer with resignation and not resist the designs of their destiny.

149 It is from the Etsiun that the Bere -although with suspicion- begin to respect their lives. But the Païos Palestin see them as renegades of their own race who must be hunted down and killed.

150 God Be made them a Promise that they must fulfill until his arrival as Messiah. HE promised them the Second Life and the inheritance of the Earth if they complied with what was agreed, because he knew that in the future the power of this people would be immense and capable of enforcing what was stipulated throughout the Earth.

¹²⁹ The iudas also called Alexandre with the names of Aberamo (Master or King of the Be) and la-be (God Be) today these are written Abraham and Jahveh successively.

ATAL 4

THE HIT

- 1 Almighty God wanting to punish humans for having killed his daughter Maista and for their behavior towards lezus, the Xurides and all their Bere descendants, pursuing them at all times to exterminate them, not wanting to abide by the will of Goberiel130, recognizing him as -My Owner and Lord of Uniberse, decided to make his First Strike of Power.
- 2 The Coup would be the first warning for the yellows, demonstrating with it the Omnipotence of their Will and what could happen to them later if they did not want to comply with the designs of Heaven.
- 3 It would also be a warning to the disobedience of some Bere descendants of the Seed from Heaven, for having combined their blood with that of the Paios, having fruit from the women they desired.
- 4 God seriously warned them about it. They did not have his approval and disobeyed his command.
- 5 Almighty God warned the righteous in his Onue (Council). Few heeded the warning. But the First Strike arrived...

130 Another of the numerous names or treatments that the Tsar of the Ele received in his first existence on Earth. Goberiel means: God of the Ber.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

6 Many laughed at those who believed in Onue. These, following instructions, built large quadrangular and hermetic arks.

7 In these Arks they kept as many animals as they could shelter, in pairs, females and males.

8 Then the believers in the Council of God and their families took refuge in them. Others got hold of barges that they prepared for the Catastrophe decreed by Heaven. The majority emigrated to the mountains of the lands that were known would not suffer excessively from the Justice of God.

9 But, the vast majority of humanity did not heed the advice given by God. They drank, ate and enjoyed themselves without paying attention to the warning.

10 And the Coup occurred in the year 777 of the Arrival of the Marys. The Satalitu – the Moon –, the lifeless balloon brought from beyond the Solar System, arrived in Earth's orbit and rubbed against the Earth, approaching until it almost collided with it.

11 The orbit of the terrestrial globe was disturbed and the Earth trembled in its entirety, producing great desolation. Where the Moon approached, it charred the earth and devastated with its heat every living creature, both plant, animal and human.

12 In a moment a wide swath of the Earth was devastated by the most devastating of fires...

13 The waters of the oceans, seas and rivers burst out of their channels, flooding large regions of dry land and sinking them under their tempestuous action.

14 Great earthquakes devastated the Earth, from North to South, from East to West. The continent of America, in the South, was separated from Africa and moved to the West¹³¹. The entire continental plate abruptly slid thousands of kilometers, raising its part touching the Pacific Ocean. This is how they emerged ¹³¹ This translation was about 4000 km. And it happened in a short space of time.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

the Andes, rising thousands of meters above water level in a single day.

15 The city of Elduradu was submerged under the waters.

Many other cities were completely destroyed.

16 The Urioro, the Atlantic channel whose waters separated present-day South America from Africa, disappeared considerably enlarged by a great sea full of mud and vegetation torn from the land. A dark and unnavigable sea for many years.

17 The Sahara, previously full of lakes and forests, was completely burned. Violent fires destroyed the vegetation, then prolonged droughts caused by drastic climate changes led to the desertification of the area.

18 The action of the Moon turned it into a barren desert and a great border between the North and the South. Parts of Asia suffered great geographical upheavals. The Climate, the length of day and night were disrupted.

19 The Earth - previously closer to the Sun - was moved to a larger orbit, further away from the Astro Sun. The year began to last 365 and a quarter of the 302 days before the Coup.

20 The Coup ended the lives of three-quarters of Humanity and, under its action, almost all the great animals and saurians of the past disappeared.

21 In truth, the Earth was seriously disrupted, leaving many territories isolated from others by hundreds of kilometers of seas impassable by mud and vegetation, or vast territories flooded by swamps and barren regions punished by an implacable Sun.

22 America, the land of landing and origin of the Bere, was gradually plunged into oblivion. Soon, for half of humanity, it became a legendary land for the survivors of Europe, Asia and Africa.

23 In the same way, the Americans little by little forgot that, beyond the Great Sea, there were lands and men, Europe,

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Asia and Africa became a legend sung by the elders of the tribes¹³².

24 "We destroyed the first generations, as a test, guidance and mercy for men." God showed the extent of his Power to the unbelievers and advised the righteous, saving them from his Justice. He is Merciful to those who believe.

25 Don't you want to see it? Don't you understand why God sent water down on the Earth, bringing us death and destruction?

26 In truth, God gives understanding and wisdom to whom he wills and blinds, leading to perdition those whom he has marked as inducers, for the testing of the righteous.

27 The Advice was given to them: "I make known to you the torment of a painful day." That was told to them if they did not return to the Law of God. He is our Owner and Lord.

28 But they said, "Bring us what you promise us, the punishment go, if you are among the truthful!"

29 And what was promised came to them. Now you know how true the promises of the Most High are. HE has summoned them on an Inevitable Day and, if the first Coup was great and wiped out almost all of them, the Second will be even worse, leaving not even one of those who denies his name. "God has a fire in store for you."

¹³² The Myth of Atlantis has its origin in the First Empire of the Ducks, the origin of the Bere and Elduradu are also mixed in it. Atlantis was what is known today as America, what remains of that vast continent that was located much closer to Europe and Africa than today.

Kaide. Second Empire of Pâ

- 30 During the Coup, an admiral of the Paleie fleet, also governor of Suomen (Lapland and Finland) was traveling in the distant provinces of the Northwest, Alapanie and Suetzie (Sweden and Norway), Paindi (Iceland), Pank (now missing), Paikton (England), Paiadi or Upalandi and Paiktaes (Scotland), Paneire (Ireland), Karpeda (Clamor-gan and its port Cardiff in the Country of Wales), Karnuaies (Cornwall), which he had just visited in command of an armada of 97 ships with sails and rowers.
- 31 Back to Manaus - the Capital of the vast Paio empire covering almost the entire surface of the Earth - they found that they could not find the Atelantiko Channel or the Urioro.
- 32 The armed Fleet then sailed to the South and observed with great astonishment the great transformations that had occurred in the lands of Aparika (Africa) where the soil had been calcined, full of sand and a desert of vegetation.
- 33 Confirming all this and seeing that the lands from which they came had had better luck, they returned northward following the African coast.
- 34 Shortly after sailing, they saw a bay closed by a long strip of land.
- 35 There he chooses to establish his headquarters since that place is at the intersection of the maritime routes leading to Suetzie, Egypt and the entire African coast on the Atlantic side.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

36 As the years went by, and quite dire reports were received about the fate of a large part of the lands of the Empire - especially those of Patago and Sepango - due to the great catastrophe that had occurred, that headquarters would end up being the new capital. of the Paian Empire. Then the Governor and Admiral proclaims himself Attila of all the Panies (provinces).

37 The Great Sea (Atlantic Ocean) was unnavigable due to a lot of mud and plant debris floating in its dark waters.

38 At that time - and for centuries - no ship ventured through that muddy and shadowy Sea, unaware of what they could find beyond the horizon.

39 Some survivors of the colossal destruction produced by the Coup in Amerik and Patago were able to reach the lands of Europe and the Atlantic coasts of Africa.

40 These told what had been the fate of their lands. As the waters flooded a large part of the earth, it trembled on many occasions with such ferocity that the mountains staggered or exploded violently, throwing burning fire from their peaks that rushed down the slopes, burning everything in its path.

41 So tragic and shocking was what was told by these shipwrecked survivors that no one thought of returning to that infernal scene for fear of finding nothing but certain death there.

42 Violent earthquakes, strange climate changes, volcanic eruptions and floods had occurred in Europe, Africa and the entire world...

43 In some places, the destruction was great but, in America and Patago the catastrophe reached a scale much higher than other territories.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

44 For this reason, the surviving people felt lucky and the lands that were barely damaged, as if blessed by the Mercy of Almighty God.

45 Thus, the recently proclaimed Attila of the Ducks, who should be owner and lord of the largest Empire ever established on this terrestrial Globe, was aware of all this disastrous news.

46 So he resigned himself to giving up those lands and their splendid and proud capital, Manaus with its fabulous Imperial Palace completely made of gold. All of that would be part of the past hidden in the always thick and gray fog of the Great Sea of Mud.

47 This was the reason that decided to create a new capital and reorganize the Empire, very devastated, here and there by the catastrophes caused by divine punishment.

48 That was called Kaide, "it is a port." Being, in fact, an important and abundant natural port around which a prosperous city grew.

49 Thus, in 10,099 BC, the city of Kaide or Kade will be founded, which when it was taken by the Bere under the command of Alexandre on May 7, 3,589 BC. E. would change his name to Gades.

50 From its foundation until Troia, the emblem of the city of Kaide consisted of one or several dolphins¹³³.

133 The name Dolphin comes from Adelu Pain, that is, "Ornament of the Panie", in the sense of an emblem or symbol. Indeed, the dolphins, very numerous jumping over the waves in front of the city's docks, adorned all the coins, drawings or sculptures produced in Kaide.

They always represented this city. Reason why it can be considered that the coins with dolphins, before Troianas, preserved in Museums, private collections and in places yet to be discovered, were minted in Kaide, the proud Capital in its day Owner and sovereign of the 100 most famous cities of antiquity.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

51 Its greatest fame, for which it was well known since ancient times, was that held by the fabulous Imperial Palace, the Suduma (Solar Palace).

52 It was said of Suduma that it had audience and private rooms, in addition to its numerous corridors and rooms that were paved with gold coins placed on edge. With this they wanted to imitate what was done in the past in the Palace of Manaus, with the difference that there the coins were "a thousand times more."

53 The second Empire of Pâ encompassed - like the first - the almost entire terrestrial globe.

54 Said Empire was sustained thanks to a powerful naval fleet whose ships traveled all the seas and oceans¹³⁴.

55 The Second Pâ Empire had more than a thousand provinces or countries. Its capital, Kaide, had more than one hundred thousand inhabitants who came from all corners of the Earth.

56 The Paian Empire of High Antiquity lasted 6,509 years - from 10,099 BC. E. until the year 3,059 BC - It was, by far, the longest lasting on Earth.

57 The Païos had a special social vision. For the people, existence was a gift granted by the Emperor, the Peers and the Lords. They had no right to own anything, nor to access studies nor to reply to the authorities.

58 They lived in a feudal and theocratic state in which their rulers had the right to everything and they to nothing, not even their own lives.

59 They could take everything from them, drown them in taxes, take their wives and children, or kill them for the pure pleasure of doing it. And they, very often, enjoyed doing it.

134 The city of Kaide always looked at the sea as its second land and there were very good sailors there. They - who were Païos - claimed to be the best on Earth, one of their two feats being: the mail ship called Kaizurdea "El Delfín de Cádiz", which made the round trip to the port of Kaide in nine days, and the other the Karapaiotu gure adien (The sailor's knot).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

60 The Emperor was the "Son of the Sun-Râ" and, therefore, a God incarnating in life and having power over the lives of his subjects, created by his Father-Sun.

61 The people believed very faithfully in this and supported without question the Power represented by the "Son of the Sun." More than that, he feared their wrath and the hand that wielded the whip that so often lashed them.

62 When an Emperor died it was normal for hundreds - and even thousands - of people to be sacrificed alongside him as an offering to the God-Râ.

63 About 12,000 years ago the European Continent, except for some lands in the Northwest and some other areas, was property of the Bere.

64 But, millennium after millennium, the Bere lost their territories until they were reduced to almost nothing.

65 The Païos, around the 4th millennium before our era, dominated practically the entire world. Exception made in Europe - and I believe in the entire Globe - of a small territory called Etâ Berik135 where the brave and brave Bere They refused to fall into his hands. There was also an important stronghold in the Scandinavian regions.

66 The entire Earth belonged to them and the Bere had fallen under their rule. Now, the Païos, could proudly call this terrestrial Globe Paleneta.

67 But God - very soon - had a revenge prepared for them.
HE would return to remind the Palestine that this terrestrial Globe is a Beleneta, no matter how much they want to refuse to admit it.

68 Soon, the Bere would rebel against Païo rule , leading to the greatest war fought in ancient times: that of Troia.

135 Current territories of the Basque Country, Navarra and mountainous areas of Cantabria.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

69 Soon the God Be would be born again to carry out his Mission, sent to this Earth to convert it from Palaneta to Beleneta, redeeming part of its people, or letting its fatal destiny be fulfilled on the planned Date.

70 Then it would be the end of the Second Empire of Pâ, but not the end of Paio power, since they in turn - later - would return to dominate the Earth.

71 But, for the third time God Be would arrive, this one as the Messiah and Judge on the Day of Judgment.

72 And... the third time will be the charm.

ATAL 5

ALEXANDER

- 1 Slowly but inexorably, time passed from when le-zus, the Creator of the Ber on this Earth died until the day when destiny came to call his Soul to return to this his new mission.
- 2 This is how he left it specified in the Work that he wrote in his previous existence: HE would return as Liberator of those oppressed by the yoke of Peers and Lords. HE would be the Victor over the serpent that deceives man.
- 3 6,474 years would pass before this terrestrial globe felt for the second time in its womb the Glorious Presence of the Messenger of God.
- 4 Almost seven millennia of darkness and hope in which the Beres had to suffer all kinds of humiliations from the Paios who did not stop conquering their lands, burning their crops, enslaving them and raping their women. and sacrifice their children in cruel ceremonies.
- 5 The Beres lived in discouragement and doom. Only faith in the Promise of His Future Coming maintained Hope in their hard lives.
- 6 A faith that the Peers tried at all costs to destroy because it was the true obstacle that prevented the total submission and miscegenation of the race of God Be.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 7 Seven millennia almost since the death of the Great Maker. Now, a third of the Ber are nothing more than mestizos, since many of their mothers have been violated and abused by the Paios.
- 8 Many are now nothing but Pabelu or Palebes; That is to say, sons of a Paio and a Bere, but they were also sons of a Bere and a Paia.
- 9 For the Ber, in increasing numbers, disobeyed the *Divine Law*¹³⁶ of not mixing with humans. This was the cause of much perdition. Well, this necessarily diminished the physical, vital and emotional qualities of the race¹³⁷.
- 10 Illness, degeneration, bad feelings and lies were destroying everything sublime and good in man.
- 11 He was no longer so tall, nor so long-lived, nor so strong, nor so vital in his maturity. They were losing their mental, psychic and spiritual qualities.
- 12 Many Ber, however, still remained faithful to the promise of God EL and the Divine laws very clearly explained in the Bible.
- 13 This sacred book was read over and over again by the Abe and almost all the Ber knew much of its content by heart. The mothers recited it to the children. Everyone expects 136 Salatzenda: denunciation of race.

137 Know that a Ber, in the times of Elduradu, did not suffer from diseases and his life was considerably longer than the one he enjoys today since, with some ease, he could exceed 500 years and there were not a few who reached 700.

They were also very tall, most of them being about 2 meters tall. Their physical strength was impressive and the health they enjoyed maintained their vitality and youth well into adulthood.

Those were times of joy and happiness, only disturbed by the Paios attacks. Edenic times – they said – since people lived as if they were on the terrestrial globe of Eden. Now they are just a memory, a dream lost in the depths of memory.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

They pray with real anxiety for the next coming of God Be138.

14 If the scriptures were correct - and until then they had not been - the coming of the Liberator was very close and this is what the Abes repeated over and over again to the people.

15 And the advent took place on a cold day in a place in the North, in the remote lands of Scandinavia.

16 The event of the Second Birth of the Be occurred on January 11 of the year 7,255 of the Marys, that is, in 3,621 before our Era.

17 He was born in a city located in the south of what is now Sweden, then called Buruga139.

18 The surrounding region was called Kalleandi ...and the entire Kingdom of Itule Zorionekona or Karelie (today Finland, Sweden and Norway).

19 The Maker of God, that is, his father, was Nikolau, later known by the nickname Aaron "the Good Male", who reigned over those lands.

20 With his birth what was truly fulfilled by Almighty God in his Message of the Kaxe: the Second Coming to Earth of God Be.

138 Also called Goberiel: "he is the God of the Ber" or "The God of the Ber." Israel: "is God 'El'" in Pali dialect , or labe or Jabe: "Lord (referring to God) Be."

139 Because of its birth, later in time it was called Goteinburuga "Capital city where God was born" (today Gothenburg or Göteborg).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

21 He was born in the cold lands of the North, in times of copious snow and among the lush pine and fir forests of Itule Zorionekona140.

22 Alexandre was called the Second Messiah who had re-emerged again on Earth to warn humans of the future development of their destiny, well explained and foreseen in the Bibele.

140 years later, and in commemoration of this glorious event, Alexandre himself created a "Nativity" representing his arrival in the city that, due to having had this great luck, was renamed Goteinburuga.

It was in Zaragose where Alexandre represents the children amazed as it was his Birth in distant Karelle.

To represent his native land, God arranged several fir trees around the cradle, covered in wool and dusted with flour, symbolizing snow.

As Alexandre explains, at that time of year, in that homeland, the houses and the plains populated with tall, leafy fir and pine trees are covered with snow.

Reason why it shows his Birth in a Duma (Palace) surrounded by said trees, and the whole, with the help of threads of wool, appears to be dusted with snow...

Inside a supposed room, place a Baby (little Be) inside of a crib Around several Be (lambs) call him Be...Be...

At the head a woman leans: she is his mother... his second mother on this Earth, having been for Him like a Resurrection of Mary which he can consider herself the grandmother of all white humans.

The scene is called Nodael "is birth of Him" or Noel "birth of Him" and HE is God.

It is therefore in Zaragose where the Festival or Celebration of Christmas was celebrated for the first time on this terrestrial Globe (1 Faitbere year II of Troia - December 26, 3,588 BC, very exactly).

From then on the Bere showed His Birth in the same way, always placing a be (lamb) before His cradle to confirm that it was the birth of the Be, and all people then knew that the Be was God.

The Trojan War

23 Towards the end of the XXXVI century before our Era, the Paio Empire - the second after the Coup - had managed to extend its greatness and dominions to almost the entire Globe. An Empire of uninterrupted lands extending from Cape Finisterre to the distant provinces of Japan and from the Siberian steppes to the warm lands of Africa.

24 A vast Empire that administered more than a thousand provinces governed by numerous Peers and Lords who maintained fidelity and obedience to the almost-divine figure of the Great Emperor considered the living incarnation of the Sun-God on Earth.

25 The Emperor lived in a thousand-year-old and famous Palace, all of it covered in gold, of which it was said that its floors were tiled with rows of coins of the precious metal placed side by side, one next to the other. Such was the magnificence and wealth of that fabulous Palace which was often known by the name of Suduma (Palace of the Sun).

26 The Suduma was in Kaide, a splendid city on the Iberian Peninsula that had by nature a large port in which it was common to see numerous ships anchoring, many of them coming from the most remote lands and having sailed numerous seas, the which landed in the capital of the Empire many exotic merchandises as well as the incalculable tributes paid by distant provinces servile to the Emperor.

27 A good part of the Empire's war fleet also anchored in this magnificent port, which was reputed for its skilled sailors, for the high number of its ships and the speed they were capable of reaching at sea.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

This navy was extremely powerful and kept the Empire unified no matter how far an uprising or insurrection occurred.

28 Furthermore, the Great Son of the Sun, the Emperor, had a large army, well equipped and always mobilized, which he had distributed throughout all the provinces, entrenched in forts that were difficult to assault. An army that was always nourished by men recruited with the whip or attracted by rewards and loot.

29 With all this and using their most powerful weapons: lies and betrayal, they managed - through the centuries - to take control of the entire earth.

30 Well, all the land except two territories: one of them very small, located to the north of the Iberian Peninsula, called Etâ Berik and the other, much more extensive - since it occupied everything that is known today as the Scandinavian peninsula including Finland- called Karelle.

31 For years, the Empire sent strong contingents of warriors to fight on the northern fronts. Landings were often prepared in the lands of Denmark in order to take the southern lands of present-day Sweden and, from there, invade the entire Northern Ber kingdom.

32 But all these landings ended in disastrous defeats because the brave Beres of the snow lands bravely managed to defeat them and this for several reasons, the main ones being the adverse climatic conditions and the Paio's lack of knowledge of the orography of those lands.

33 The Emperor, after those frustrated attempts at conquest, decided to attack that indomitable territory from its eastern flank and it was here that he did achieve certain advances, although slow and costly in lives and resources.

34 In the strait of land leading from the Baltic Sea to Lake Paipus (Lake of the Paio), however, there had been formed created an insurmountable front. There, the Emperor's legions of warriors were driven back again and again by the indestructible Bere of the Karelie.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

35 There were numerous casualties in the ranks of the Paio army that had to be replaced again and again by new contingents brought from distant lands, especially from Africa.

Troops who could hardly withstand the harsh inclemencies of the weather and who soon saw their morale and fighting spirit diminished by the numerous defeats inflicted on them by their enemies.

36 That war, together with the one being fought in Eta Berik, was costing the Empire numerous resources and human lives, putting it in a difficult situation. Furthermore, its continuous defeats were beginning to heat up the spirits of the conquered Bere nations, which They saw the day closer every day when they could rise up against their enemy, freeing themselves from the heavy yoke of oppression and slavery as announced in the Bibele.

37 Emperor Omatzoi attempted a frontal attack on the Elen capital, Buruga. His powerful marine fleet anchored in the port of Copenhagen, set out with the mission of landing on the coasts of Suetzie, very close to the lands of the Paios. The mission seemed easy and so they did it.

38 The ships of the Paia fleet had no problems disembarking and soon put thousands of combatants on land ready to take the capital of the Kingdom of Kare-lie. But the Emperor's troops were soon decimated and Omatzoi was being humiliated by a new war debacle.

39 For the Empire it was necessary to end the humiliation that these continuous defeats against the Bere represented or, otherwise, the situation - increasingly unsustainable - could end in a generalized uprising in numerous provinces, especially in Europe, the East Middle and the Russian and Siberian plains.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

- 40 Omaizoi, the Emperor, together with his closest Peers and Lords met in assembly in order to find a way out of the situation created on the northern fronts. After long deliberation they decided to carry out the old trick of the marriage of a noble Paia heiress to the son of the King of Karelle.
- 41 At that time it was customary that, when a King or his heir married a young woman from another royal family, he gave a fraction of his territory as a dowry for said marriage to the wife's family.
- 42 Sometimes, these marriages implied the culmination of an Alliance between both royal houses by which the territories, belongings and inhabitants formed a single province, state or kingdom.
- 43 The Paia very often used this custom in order to agree on a peace treaty. First, because the husband (almost always Bere) gave her a part of the territory, this being usually the one that most interested them in their future plans or because of its special strategic position.
- 44 After the treaty was signed, they let the years pass in apparent peace until the truce was broken - always pretexting some excusing event, which they plotted in advance - leading to a well-planned attack on the entire kingdom or state.
- 45 This is how they acted on many occasions, managing to dominate, century after century, a greater number of lands until they ended up building the vast Empire that they now possessed.
- 46 Once again they were willing to use that old tactic and Omaizoi would give the most beautiful daughter of all those he possessed to that cause. Ermione was a princess of whom many stories were told, all of them praising her charms and refined bearing.
- 47 There were few who did not know about those stories and dreamed of just being able to see her, even if it were for a brief moment, when she left Suduma carried in her palanquin transported by strong servants and hidden under ethereal veils of precious silk.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

48 The Emperor and some other advisors of his confidence thought that that beautiful fruit, coveted by so many, could not be rejected by the son of King Nikolau of Ka-relie, an impetuous, brave and intelligent young man who, at that time, had eighteen years old.

49 The cunningly hatched plan was as follows: Omaitzoi
He offered the first-born son of the King of Karelie his most precious daughter in marriage so that, as a dowry, he would give him the corridor of land located between the Baltic Sea and Lake Paipus until reaching the surroundings of Lake Ladoga.

50 Of course, with this union a Peace Treaty would be signed by which the Paios and the Bere would cease their hostilities.

51 As planned, the emissaries set out, accompanied by the corresponding escort, and the peaceful embassy - covered in its mission with a colorful flag of peace on its wings - entered the snowy lands of the north in order to make known the good King of Karelie the Emperor's offering.

52 At the same time, another delegation with a large entourage and numerous service personnel embarked towards the Baltic carrying the most precious jewel of the Emperor's garden, his most beautiful daughter. The expedition was made first by sea, but the end of the journey was carried out in a long procession of numerous carts pushed slowly by rough oxen.

53 It didn't take long to hear about the embassy and the offer they announced. King Nikolau and his son Alexandre listened carefully and carefully deliberated the answer and devised a plan.

54 Alexandre agreed to the offer, announcing that, without delay, he would go to receive the princess on the Nerva front. He wanted to make Omaitzoi believe that everything was going to go according to what he had planned...

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

55 Alexandre had a premonition about his destiny which had been marked by the will of God. Throughout Ka-relie there was a rumor that the strong and gallant young man, heir to King Nikolau, was the announced liberator of the Ber, the one who was mentioned in the Bibele. His parents also sensed the great destiny reserved for their son.

56 Thus, being 19 years old, that is in the year 3,602 BC, Alexandre left his hometown, Buruga.

This event marks the beginning of their glorious mission that would end with the liberation of all the Bere from the land of Paio oppression and rule .

57 Alexandre left , along with a good number of his best warriors, towards the agreed meeting place, which was to be close to the Narva front. But, upon reaching Kaifaru (current city of Hel-sinki), Alexandre decided to stop his march and from there he gave orders to his best men to carry out a risky Mission.

58 Alexandre never liked either Omatzoi or his Empire and therefore thought – very correctly – that the Emperor's offer was undoubtedly a trap in the purest Paio style.

59 He saw in that offer the strategy of Paix 's treaties, always covered in very good will and disinterested interests that, years later, ended in betrayal and conquest.

60 Alexandre ordered a small contingent of brave warriors to carry out a risky mission.

They had to avoid the numerous troops, garrisons and surveillance points set up by the Paios and reach the retinue of the Emperor's Daughter.

61 And so it was done and with notable success because that risky host bravely ventured through a strongly defended front and was able to undertake its mission, capturing Princess Ermione, daughter of Omatzoi.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

62 This act of provocation meant total war between the immense Paio Empire and the Karelle. Alexander had dared to do what all the Be-re on Earth thought – attack that giant and crush him, reducing him to the greatest of humiliations.

63 The Bere, from the beginning of their days on this Globe until then, were relentlessly harassed by the Paios, who waged war on them, destroyed their lands and homes and dominated them, relegating them to the sad condition of enslaved subjects.

64 So they only had to defend themselves from all those attacks and oppressions, rarely did they attack first. Acting in this way on too many occasions placed them in a position of inferiority with respect to their attackers who always had their backs well covered, fearing only being attacked by the Frank that the Bere defended.

65 Alexandre was willing to put an end to that tactic that – for millennia – had given them such bad military results. Now, instead of defending themselves, they would strike first, catching the Empire by surprise.

66 Also, the Karelien Heir intended to raise up all the Bere of the Earth against the Empire despite being aware of their numerical and means inferiority. Only his absolute conviction that Almighty God had reserved for him the Destiny and Glory of being able to defeat the Empire gave him the faith and the necessary resolution to carry out his Mission, knowing that it would be fulfilled just as it was written in the Bible. .

67 Thus, having taken the offense of taking Omatzoi 's daughter prisoner, Alexandre addresses all the Bere and proclaims: "War is declared between the Bere of this terrestrial globe and the Spanish Empire, which will have to be suppressed. We will have to fight until its disappearance forever from the annals of Humanity,

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Well, that's how it is written in the Bibele. This Second Spanish Empire has to disappear."

68 Having made the famous proclamation, Alexandre leaves together with an important contingent of warriors towards the city of Moscow, which he takes without much resistance, renaming it Moskbe ("Moscow of the Be").

69 But before the capture of the famous city, where the venerated tomb of the Xuride Marta was located, Alexander and his troops would camp in a place that would later be called leletz. In this place is where he made an appointment with the King of the Kingdom of Ukraine, Dardonos, nicknamed Akatudon ("The Tiger of the Don") and born in the city of Akiepa (today Kiev) since he needed to establish an Alliance with him. .

70 Somewhat later, and after carrying out some campaigns to consolidate the territories recently raised and liberated from the Paio yoke, he received the King of Galitzie, which was the kingdom that included all of Southern Poland and the adjacent areas. The King of Galitzie was called Bitu-reigi.

71 Thus, Alexandre, Dardonos and Bitureigi will definitively establish the lrutzie, that is, the "Alliance of the Three".

72 While these alliances are established, different uprisings take place in Ukraine, Mosku and other important cities in that area .

In this way, the Martins took up arms against the Paioles, the name given to the kurs of the Paio Empire in those places .

73 After the victorious capture of Moskbe, the Bere managed to drive all the Paios from Lake Paipus to the Black Sea. Afterwards, it would not take long to enter Irumanie (present-day Romania), which was a province of the Spanish Empire and its third military region.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

74 Alexandre 's troops and the Allies had initially decided to continue their fight through the route that crosses the Karpaïos, which 70 years later would be called Karpathos, being a very mountainous region.

75 But in that mountainous region they found themselves blocked by the Emperor's troops. These almost always defended themselves better in the mountains. In them they built fortresses, often impregnable, that had to be taken slowly and at a very high cost of men.

76 Alexandre was convinced that to defeat the Empire they had to move quickly and take the capital of Kaide.

If it fell and they managed to capture or kill the Emperor, then the Paio Empire would crumble and the Bere would achieve victory. However, if they delayed taking the fortresses built by the Païos one by one , they would never achieve their purpose because they were so numerous and so difficult to siege that it would take them centuries to take them all.

77 Alexandre and his captains chose to continue their march towards Kaide through the great plains of the north which extended uninterruptedly to the very heart of the Parantzie or Frantzie. Here his progress was dizzying.

78 The Bere had a great advantage: the horse.

The Bere on horseback traveled at great speed across the great plains. The Païos did not have horses and this was because this animal was considered sacred and the property of Almighty God. In reality, the Païos could get hold of a good number of these animals, but they wouldn't have climbed on top of them for anything in the world.

79 The horse was recreated, here on Earth, by Maria and given to her son Iezus on one of his birthdays. It was white and came from Heaven. That is why the "Pegasus"

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

It is represented by wings to make its celestial origin clear.

80 The Paio Empire had very numerous camels and elephants which they brought from Aparika across the Strait of Kalpa. But camels and dromedaries were not very practical in the central plains of Europe, especially in the cold winters. These animals could hardly withstand the rigors of winter so, to move their troops and the supply caravans, they used oxen that pulled the carts with eternal slowness.

81 The Bere did not use carts much. They used to carry the day's food hanging from their horses. They had plenty of cured pork such as hams and sausages, which lasted well for several days and they could carry comfortably on their saddles.

82 The movement of Bere troops across the great plain of central Europe was unstoppable. The Paios
They organized fighting fronts but they barely had time to make them solid and well equipped to resist the attack of the Bere, who already had tens and tens of thousands of combatants.

83 Never before had the Bere achieved so many military successes or liberated so many lands in such a short time.
Omatzoi, the Spanish Emperor was really worried and ordered to mobilize as many men as could be recruited from all corners of his territories.

84 Fearing the worst, the Emperor intends to establish a solid front on the natural border offered by the Zen River (Seine River), from its sources to its mouth.
The entire front also covered the mountainous regions of Switzerland and the Alps to the Mediterranean Sea. It was a very extensive front, about a thousand kilometers long. There really is no other option left.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

towards the north since the Bere were taking all of Alamanie.

85 Omatzoi gathered nearly three million men on that front. Soldiers recruited at the point of a whip from all the provinces of their vast Empire, especially Aparika, India, Indonesia, the Philippines and Txina.

86 In three years, the Bere Alliance had managed to reach the northern bank of the Zen River, reaching the front organized by the Empire. The Zen was a very large river in those times, since the rains were more frequent than now. Zen was, in itself, a difficult wall to jump over .

87 Omaitzoi led his troops from the fortress of Tu-roia¹⁴¹.

88 And in this way the most important and glorious war of antiquity developed, called later and by future generations The Trojan War. On the Zen front the war lasted for ten long years in which numerous battles took place.

89 At that time Paris was a Paia city whose mayor was called by the Bere Agamemnon which meant: the one who rules within the city. Karronona¹⁴² would lead the Bere uprising in this important city that would end up being freed from the yoke of the Empire.

¹⁴¹ Current city of Troyes, in France.

¹⁴² Karronona was originally from Kalipase (Mérida) being the son of a merchant Paio and an Eduen bought by his father as a slave. When he was very young, his father killed his mother, throwing her body into the river. Then he was abandoned as a child and suffered all kinds of hardships.

When he was just a child, he harshly criticized the Peers, Lots and Lords and, because of this, he was arrested and sentenced for life to work as a slave in the copper and silver mines located in the lands called today Andalusia and Murcia.

Years later, he along with others would manage to escape, killing the guards. Then he would cross the Pyrenees, finally arriving in Paris.

- 90 Upon learning of the victories of Alexandre, Dardonos and Bitureigi over the famous imperial army, he launches from that city, supported by the Pariamo (the master of Paris) called Agamemnon by the Bere, he calls on all the soldiers Païos arriving from the south along the Rhône and Saone rivers, inviting them to desert. He invites farmers to burn their surplus harvest. Citizens to block roads and collapse bridges during the night. And together they flee to the mountains.
- 91 There they would finish off all the Lots they managed to reach. Then, forming groups armed with sticks, pitchforks, pikes and swords made by themselves, they would organize groups of guerrillas in order to constantly attack supplies and small units of soldiers trying to loot isolated houses.
- 92 Karronona was one of the worst nightmares for the Païo army. It would be said years later that he was “the meanest, tallest, most disgusting of the entire Panie.” Karronona, after the triumph of Troia, would accompany Alexandre to Kaide, receiving supreme command of the square of this city, which from that moment on would be called Gade or Gades, and the territory included in the triangle formed by some supposed lines. going from Xeresgue (Jerez de la Frontera) to Begergue (Vejer de la Frontera) and Makoisgue (Arcos de la Frontera) and since then these “border” denominations have existed.
- 93 For years, numerous battles took place both around the fortress of Troia and along the entire length of the Zen River, including the largest cities and the numerous villages on both banks of the mighty River. Many of these battles were true epics of heroism and bravery.
- 94 After ten years it turned out that, despite numerous attempts, there was no way to take the fortified square of Troia where Emperor Omaitzoi led his troops, convinced that one day or another the Bere, with Alexandre, Dardonos and Bitureigi at the head would end up for surrendering to the obvious: that the Empire's army was superior in men and means and that they had to abandon the idea of conquering the Panie.

95 On the other hand, Omaizoi could not leave his place in that emblematic fortress since he knew that if he did, his army would also abandon the front, following him to Kaide itself. Maintaining that immense army on the front of Zen and Troia was a huge expense for the Empire. Day after day, endless caravans of ox-drawn carts arrived, supplying them with food and weapons.

96 Many of them came from the rich French lands, which produced everything in abundance. Other supplies also arrived, especially weapons from other parts of the Paio territory.

97 To all this were added long lines made up of thousands of combatants who, from time to time, were recruited - with whips and threats - from all corners of the Empire, to replace the numerous casualties that occurred. in the tough battles against the Bere.

98 All this meant a great drain on human and economic resources that Omaizoi did not know for how long he could maintain, but - he did not doubt - that his means were much more numerous than those the Bere had. It was a matter of waiting, and after almost thirteen years of fighting, the war between both contenders

99 had reached a stalemate. Surely it was time to negotiate in the purest Paio style.

100 This war had to be put to an end and the Bere were an idea occurred.

101 A group of Beres from Galitzie thought about excavating an underground gallery that - passing under the Zen River - would end in the basements of the Troia fortress. The idea was, in principle, considered crazy and imprudent since digging under the River, although it was

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

If it were too far below its channel, it would cause its water to leak and flood the gallery.

102 This idea encouraged numerous discussions among the brave Elenes, Ukrainis and Galegos. There was talk about how difficult it would be to make a tunnel of such characteristics and the enormous human effort that was going to entail... But after much discussion and meditation, the Great Chief Agu-mena finally stated that they were going to do it. do.

103 And they got to work. Excavation began and it was decided to place logs on both sides of the tunnel, covering its interstices with clay that was brought from far away. This is how the famous work of the tunnel was undertaken, which was called Agumena, because he was the King of those lands.

104 Thousands of men took pride in that arduous task, digging, cutting trees to make the crossbars that would cover it, and carrying carts and more carts of clay from long distances. From time to time, while doing this, they provoked small battles so as not to arouse the enemy's suspicions.

105 At the beginning of the work they saw that the tunnel and the logs were resisting and it did not take them long to reach the other bank of the river where they needed good skill to make the rise of the river coincide with the foundations of the Troia fortress, located at the top from a small hill.

106 However, as it began to ascend, the water from the River began to leak and flooded the entire gallery. This caused the immediate interruption of the work. Many of those who were on the other side of the river drowned while trying to return.

107 It was a hard setback that, however, did not discourage the Bers. They looked for skins of donkeys and goats and with them they perfected rafts similar to wine or oil skins and filled them with air. They took these and put them under their bellies and, with a reed placed in

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The mouths breathed from those boots filled with air from their own lungs.

108 In this way they worked in shifts, replacing each other in that dangerous task. Meanwhile, others bailed out as much water as they could for hours and hours. And still others were in charge of repairing the cracks that occurred, following the tunnel plan at all costs.

109 Spies were constantly sent to the Be-re camps. These, very often, posed as peasants and approached the warriors explaining how the Paioi stole all their belongings and beat them - which they really did in order to make their belief more credible to the Bere. history-. These spies, recruited by force and coerced with losing their property if they did not fulfill their mission, were sent to be informed of the number of soldiers in the detachments, the situation of Alexandre's tent and the other great captains, etc 110 The Bere knew these stratagems very well and often used these spies for their own advantage. Some of these were convinced to act as double spies.

111 They needed them since one of the essential phases of the tunnel plan was that they had the complicity of several servants from the Troia fortress so that they could prepare the way to the Emperor's chambers. It was necessary to catch him alive and prevent his escape at all costs.

112 Thanks to the help of these double spies they had precise information on the layout of the rooms of the fortress, its strong and weak points and which would be the most suitable point for exiting the tunnel.

113 The Bere got a dozen servants from the fortress to collaborate in their plans, who did not betray them.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

114 The tunnel work continued day after day until reaching the highest part of the hill. Now the tunnel, which was square, ascended like a tower and the wooden crossbars served as a staircase.

115 When they managed to come across the floor of a cave or basement of the palace, they drilled it and that is how they managed to finish the tunnel. Then the first to reach the goal communicated it to the others who were working inside, until the voice reached the other side.

116 Satisfied with this, Alexandre and Agumena gave the order that during the day and the following night hundreds of combatants, the best and most determined, would pass through. These, upon reaching the basement of the fortress, gathered in silence until it was completely filled. The basement was large enough to hold about two or three hundred men. But, inside the gallery many others were waiting.

117 The large basement room was closed by a thick door which necessarily had to be opened from the other side where the access corridors were located. It could not be knocked down because if it made noise it would reveal its presence and that would be extremely dangerous.

118 Then the Païos servants came into action, opening the doors for them. It was four o'clock in the morning on December 26, 3589 before the Christian Era. Leaving the large basement, the Bere fighters ascended through the sloping hallway.

119 As they now had more room to accumulate troops, they decided to continue occupying positions around the different areas of the fortress without being seen by the lookouts. They did this until sunrise. Then about a thousand warriors had entered Troia and were ready to enter into combat.

120 The pact made with the servants consisted of them opening all the doors that gave access to the servants.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

feelings of the Emperor since the final goal of that entire war operation was to take him alive.

121 As the gates opened to them, the Bere began to advance, but soon they were seen by other servants who were not at their service and the alarm sounded inside the fortress.

122 Then fights broke out and the noise alerted the Emperor who soon asked what was happening. -The Bere! The Bere! He couldn't believe it so he decided to see for himself what was happening. As he walked down a long hallway he saw at the end of it how some of his guards were fighting against the brave Bere.

123 Then he knew he had to flee. Which he did by escaping through a small secret underground that he had prepared in his rooms for such an eventuality. That escape tunnel ended halfway up the hill on which the fortress was built.

124 And he managed to flee from there along with Moses, his official historian who took good note of what happened in the Troian War, and other notables. They all got on top of their camels and galloped heading south, the only destination they could take.

125 The Bere fighters did not take long to take the fortress and the Empire's troops, aware of what had happened and that their Emperor was fleeing quickly, did not take long to do the same. The rout was immense and disorderly.
The Paios fighters were fed up with this war, most of them fought under duress. Now they had the opportunity to desert the front and return to their homelands.

126 The Bere, upon seeing that spectacle, took the opportunity to cross the frozen River on some plank rafts that they had already prepared for a long time. Tens of thousands of Bere warriors invaded the other bank of the Zen River, and shouted joyfully for the victory achieved. The Paios would no longer defend that front and ran quickly towards the south, following in the footsteps of Omaitzoi, their Emperor.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

127 The cavalry pursued them until they caught them but, upon reaching them, they did not offer any resistance, surrendering unconditionally and asking for mercy. The Bere then knew that they had won the War, a long War that had lasted 13 years. It is from that moment that the number thirteen would be a good omen for the Bere and bad luck for the Paios (a belief that still persists to this day, especially in Spain and its former colonies).

128 6 days after the Troian Victory¹⁴³, the three victorious Three Wise Men: Alexandre, Dardonos and Biturei-gi, mounted on beautiful white steeds, enter the city of Pairuan accompanied by all the captains and many of their combatants surrounded by enthusiasm and the cheers of its inhabitants and the many hundreds of farmers and shepherds coming from nearby villages.

129 The city's name would be changed from then on to be called Iruan (today Rouen).

130 In the Town Hall of that city the three Kings will appear from the balcony and declare the consummation of the Epepanie (the military victory over the Panie).

¹⁴³ Those who affirm and write that the Troian War was won thanks to the help of a wooden horse are making a mistake. In Alexandre's time there was a compilation of the Events that occurred in the Troian Gesta whose title was Zaldi-turoye or Zalditroia, meaning "The Siege of Troia" or "The Siege of Troy." Such a book was written precisely by the Bedu, being perhaps the most famous in the western part of this Europe called by the Bere Eurobe or Eubeie, and continuing to be called by the Paios Europa "Property birthed by Pa".

The pagans, in order to make people forget that famous Agumena tunnel, invented the trick of the horse when they realized that zaldi (fence) was the same name as zaaldi (horse). This is how the legend of the Troia horse began to take shape, a story so absurd that it is difficult to believe.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

131 Agumena then, upon entering the main pagan temple of that city, decided to approach the altar where the Kupe rested where the priests poured the blood of their sacrificed victims. Outside all the captains and the Three victorious Kings were waiting for him. Agumena took that golden Kupe inlaid with precious stones in her hands and threw out the blood contained inside and - after carefully cleaning it - replaced it with the Xanpan of victory. Once this was done, Agumena raised it with both hands above the heads of *the Hundred Captains of Alexandre*¹⁴⁴, who, with their sabers raised, saluted in this way and forever the Eternal Glory of the Land that produced that White Wine. , which represented for them the achievement, finally! From the Second Chapter of the Bible.

132 With the cup held high, facing the Sun illuminating their smiling and satisfied faces, the Bere greeted the dawn of a new Life, with love for God, for men and for all the beautiful things on this Earth.

133 And it is after the victory of Troia that this sparkling white wine, called Xanpan Puyese , would be used by the Bere to commemorate the end of a long Era of misery, slavery and bloodless humiliation. But it should also be like the wine used in all celebrations and celebrations, anniversaries, inaugurations of monuments, coronations, foundations of cities.

134 The elite of the Bere fighters continued south following in the footsteps of the Emperor, whom they wanted to capture at all costs. Alexandre and his captains would catch up with them a few days later.

144 These Hundred Captains would be the Royal Sang, whose descendants would inherit the crowns of the different territories, forming the immense Kingdom of Aragon created by Alexandre after the Victory of Troia. These crowns have all been usurped by the draconian lines of the elite of Peers and Lords who have always ruled the Empires of old Panie.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

135 Omaitzoi knew it and his flight was uncontrolled but soon he would not be able to continue with that hasty race

136 Arriving at the area where the mountains that today are known as the Central Massif of France began and knowing that the mountain ranges were a terrain where the Paios knew how to defend themselves very well, he decided to establish a front in them and defend himself from the onslaught of the Bere.

137 The Emperor arrived at a city now known as Clermont Ferrand, together with Moses and the other Paios chiefs. There he established his camp and began to organize preparations for his defense.

138 But the Bere Cossacks had already arrived in that territory and frustrated any attempt to reorganize the Paian troops. Omaitzoi soon fell prisoner of these. Later, when news of his capture reached Alexandre, he and his captains would rush to that city of the brave Aubernes.

called Kalairemout. Then, at the request of his captains and with their consent, Alexandre tied up with his own hands the defeated Sun of the Paios: Omaitzoi.

He tied him to a large cart wheel placed on a dais.

139 He was subjected day and night to the mockery and insults of the locals, the Bere troops and many other people, coming from the nearby cities and villages, who wanted to see the humiliation inflicted on the former owner of the largest Empire on Earth. . They kept him that way until he died from hunger and dehydration on January 19, 3589 BC.

us.

140 Then the Bere, with Alexandre and his Captains at the head, continued their march south. They decided to arrive at the very heart of the Paio Empire and take the city of Kaide.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

141 They crossed the Pyrenees and reached Panie, that is, Espanie, that mysterious land of immense tombs about which they had heard many times.

The consummation of the Mandate

142 Alexandre and his Captains would cross the Espanie, which would from then on be called Benintzula Ibe-riko, victoriously entering the main cities such as Berseleone and Beturo, later called Zaragose and others until they reached what was the proud capital of the Empire: Kaide .

143 Alexandre, marching south, was received warmly and victoriously by all the cities and villages he passed. Many of them had their Païos names changed to Bere ones. He also founded others, such as Kar-tago, the song so sung by the poets and chroniclers of antiquity, or Betis, The noble and beautiful Betis.

144 The great Alexandre founded it at the end of April of the first year of the Troian Victory, in a place where there were two cities, one very close to the other, called Paitolek.

145 It happened that upon entering these cities the Cossacks found no one alive, with numerous sacrifices lying rotting in the middle of the circus.

They were of the Palebeia race, probably slaves. The Païos had to kill them when they learned that the Bere were approaching those lands.

146 Alexandre ordered that those corpses be burned according to the custom of the Bere. After this incident, he expressed his desire to create a new city in the same place where the camp had been established.

This would be the capital of their newly created Kingdom of Beta-nie.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

147 His Captains demanded that it be called Betis 145. Alexandre gave his approval and the celebrations of the foundation were prepared.

148 "The weather was splendid. Karronona had part of the forest of reeds and bushes cut down, extending from that place to the river. Soon many Taios came and when Alexandre gave permission, the Cossack battalions paraded impeccably, bowing their swords as they passed before God.

149 At the end of the founding acts, they proceeded to perform all kinds of acrobatics. Then they danced and sang their famous choruses throughout the night..." It was Alexandre himself who chose the place to place the Throne on which he would preside over the ceremony of the founding of the city. This Throne was called Aalki Ber "The Throne of Ber" and was located right where a tower would later be built commemorating the Trojan Deed.

150 This tower¹⁴⁶ would achieve great fame in all the nations of the Bere and would be considered one of the Seven Wonders of this terrestrial Globe. Alexander himself gave the appropriate instructions for its construction, saying that it should have a square plan to remember the shape of the Agumena tunnel, which had given them their triumph in Troia. Furthermore, its height had to be 510 spans, one for each day spent in the construction of said tunnel.

151 After Troia and in many Bere cities, similar towers were built in commemoration but never higher than the one ordered to be built in the city of Betis.

145 Betis: "it is from Be".

146 The tower of Alexandre in Betis will be called Egirda over the centuries (a name given because of its spiral ascension ramp, along which visitors climbed to the top in turns).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Making it taller would have been a serious offense to God.

152 When the tower reached the height indicated by Alexandre, a gigantic bronze statue was raised to its top, representing him mounted on a rearing horse in an attitude of wanting to crush the Patari with his two front legs.

153 Alexandre carried in his right hand the famous three-pointed Troiana pike and on his head the no less famous Aladi (winged) helmet.

154 All the inhabitants of La Betanie did themselves a great honor by going on a pilgrimage at least once in their lives to the noble Betis, crossing the beautiful gardens of La Betinie, to climb to the top of the Tower of Alexandre. .

155 After the splendor of the founding of Betis had been carried out, Alexandre and his Captains thought that the time had come to enter the capital of the Empire, the fabulous Kaide or Kade.

156 In the first quarter of the flowery month of May of the first year of the Troiana Victory. Alexandre sees his march towards the gate of the fortified city interrupted by a dozen notables.

157 Alexandre immediately suspected them. These said they came representing the city. At no time did they make any gesture of submission and recognition to the victors, as was the protocol of that time. They moved haughty and full of pride.*

158 The city of Kaide always boasted of possessing the best and most skilled sailors on Earth. Apparently, some among this proud embassy of city representatives were sailors and brought with them a thick rope.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

159 Kaide 's sailors were known for being the only ones able to tie two ends of rope in such a way that no one could undo it, such skill being essential for the proper mooring of ships.

160 Surely, wanting to show how in this they were superior to the Bere, even if they were Troians, they asked Alexandre for permission to allow them to make a demonstration.

161 They gave two thick ropes - previously wet with sea water - to the Cossacks, instructing them to tie the two ends with a knot.

162 "...once they did it like that, they asked us to return the ropes and placing a sailor at each end

163 of the ropes each pulled on their side, so the knot came undone instantly. Then, before us, they quickly formed another knot, begging us to proceed in the same way as they had done before, that is, to pull each end of the rope, even employing, if it seemed better, several Cossacks to carry out the operation.

164 They pronounced those words in such a contemptuous way that Alexandre and we did not like the feat... especially because those people had stopped us in the middle of our path, in a way that we considered disrespectful, just before flanking the only door allowing access to the city, resembling that more like the entrance to a dungeon.

165 We thought there was some stratagem hidden here or perhaps a trap was being prepared for us...

166 We were still mounted on our horses and they seemed uneasy. Alexandre only allowed a few Cossacks to set foot on the ground to pull on both sides of the rope, especially when they saw that they could not undo the knot, despite two or three of our men standing on each rope, and the Païos did not stop shouting.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

We got closer and closer, resting our hand on the handle on his back, he asked them where they wanted to go... The Païos then had the extreme audacity to shout for him to get off and also pull one of the ropes, also inviting the Captains to dismount to join the Cossacks.

167 It was at that moment that Alexandre, unable to contain himself any longer, came forward with his horse, unsheathed his sword and shouting at the Cossacks to keep the ropes very taut, with an accurate and very strong blow he broke the knot in the middle, causing it to open. immediately and the two ropes fell to the ground.

168 As it seemed that the Païos were still making fun of us for not having been able to undo the knot as they told us, the Great Alexandre approached those guys and placed the tip of his sword on the chest of what seemed to be the most important of them. everyone, he pronounced these words which became very famous: -What a Bere cannot do with his hand he does with the edge of his sword..."

169 Alexandre, after finishing saying this, raised his sword and made a sign to charge against those daring ones who had tried to mock them. They ran into the city. Alexandre, the captains and all the Cossacks entered Kaide in this way, chasing a handful of Païos who had run into their burrows like frightened rabbits.*

170 Once inside the city, Alexandre and his people were able to shout "Finally!" They had achieved their dream of victoriously entering the most hated city of the Empire. The Cossacks managed to reach almost all the Païos, having wanted to mock them, by being all of them decapitated and their heads impaled in a clearly visible place in the city.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

171 The people, seeing what happened, fell silent, surprised and full of emotion. Those Païos were the leaders and illustrious people of the city, who did not enjoy any sympathy from the people. When they saw Alexandre and his entourage pass by, the inhabitants of that city prostrated themselves in silence and did not even dare to raise their eyes to observe the reincarnation of God Be.

172 Alexandre will reach the shore of a beach where he dismounts his horse and looks towards the sea to the west. Bringing his sword closer to the sea, he plunges it into it and sends a loving greeting to the lands on the other side of the great ocean. Then he kisses the wet blade of his sword and, raising it towards the sky, he sweetly pronounces the name of Maria. Afterwards, he addresses God Almighty and speaks in a loud voice, in order to be*

173 *heard by all his Captains and Cossacks, says the following:
tea:*

174 "-You can see realized Oh Well Beloved God! The last fulfillment that culminated in this moment.

175 *I have just finished the Sacred Mission of my Third Life... Perhaps I will return here during the course of my Fourth...
Protect me then Oh my Lord! Just as you have done until now, and despite the very harsh sufferings you still have to endure, I beg you to give HIM, my Third Self on this Earth, the same Glories that you gave me in this Third Life which I offer You in that summit day. The destiny that you assigned me will continue its course until I become HIM again and He is Your Su-*

cessor

176 Fulfiller in the bitterness of struggles and in the laurels of Triumph, I will also be HE, fulfilling Your Omnipotent desire, without faltering for a single moment despite the contempt and mockery of men and other humans, then inhabiting this Globe. test.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

177 I will suffer everything I have to suffer until I reach the Liberating moment of my Fourth Corporeal Death, when I will be able to take care of the Redemption of the best men who have lived on this Earth. I will try to forgive those who until then have expected me to become HIM.

178 I will have mercy on the repentant, managing to resist the infinite darkness of despair with their love for me.

179 To all, living and dead, at the end of my Fourth Life I will judge definitively, saving only the very few who could be saved, forever losing the many who disrespected Us, those who stole, deceived, insulted, imprisoned, offended. They attacked, mistreated and tried to murder THE Progenitor of all Men on this Earth and Your Be, who Thanks to You will be the First.

180 If this seemed the most Just to Him, He would bow before His Immense Wisdom and, now free to be present on this Earth, certain of having carried out what You Instructed Us Before Your Supreme Throne, He would let what You Provided be carried out.

181 *Oh my God! The Justice Globe will execute its Supreme Will! You have already completed half of your course...
In its waning edge the bad humans will find their punishment...*

182 HE will be nothing in his role as Messiah, but after his death he will be Everything since his Trinity will finally have concluded on this instructive Earth, just as You made me write in the Holy Book...

183 AMEN EGI IS ALUN "the true Power is the Final Power." Then Oh My Lord! You will find us again in a New Body before his Celestial Throne. Ready for the Immeasurable Mission that has in store for us for the Day of Our Return.

- 184 With these words Alexandre turned before the crowd that had gathered to listen to him and raising his hands high, he blessed them all.
- 185 And it is written that the waters of the Great Sea became calm like those of a lake, a marvelous thing that could never be seen. No waves broke on the sand and the monotonous murmur of the sea breaking on the side of the rocks ceased completely. A great calm came over the place. Then the people saw in all this the work of Almighty God who in this way responded to the words of the future God of Heaven.
- 186 Then the crowd, unable to believe what was happening, went to the shore and touched the sea water and shouted: "It's a Miracle!" And Alexandre was cheered incessantly while HE, hands raised and addressing everyone, blessed them. Everything was a great acclamation of joy before the Great Victory.
- 187 And an event still occurred that silenced the crowd who turned their amazed gaze to heaven. And they saw that it turned red and that the Sun expanded its size until it became gigantic. Around him, long, very bright flames could be seen. It seemed as if the Sun was falling very quickly on the calm waters of the Great Sea.
- 188 And Alexandre seeing that fantastic spectacle explained to the crowd that what they were witnessing represented PA recognizing his defeat and that, for this reason, he was hiding in the depths of the sea, there at the edge of the horizon to never again be the God. of the Païos but only the Sun that shone upon them every day. He also explained that the red of the sky represented the death of the Paio Empire.
- 189 That whole spectacle was the most incredible one could imagine and the greatest silence fell until PA completely disappeared behind the hour.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

rhizont. Then the great Alexandre, raising his arm, said:

190 "-The takeover of Kaide has concluded... PA no longer exists on this Earth..."

191 And the Cossacks began to sing the Goradiu and then there was great acclamation from the large crowd that had gathered in the place who did not stop hailing the Name of Alexandre.

Etsiun

"fulfill (the promise) until the end"

192 God Be toured much of what was the Paian Empire. He visited many cities and even had to fight some Païos and Lots who resisted in some places.

beef.

193 It happened that, after the disaster of Troia and the death of Omaïtzoï at Kalaïremont, Teo II - who was Paraon of Egypt - thought that perhaps his country might not be occupied by the Bere.

194 But Alexandre and his army were in Palopanese, preparing a powerful fleet to take their lands. And when reflecting on the setbacks that facing an attack of such magnitude by the Bere could represent and the consequences for him of being defeated, he decided to appear at Alexandre 's camp and make a deal with he.

195 And the Treaty was signed on September 15, 3588 before the Christian Era. In this Treaty Theo II ceded the absolute and unconditional sovereignty of Egypt to Alexandre. But Teo, using all his cunning and cleverness, implored - almost on his knees - God to leave him at least a part of the Nile Delta in order to be able to live there with his people, according to their customs and ways. Teo convinced him that his offer would not constitute any threat to HIM since his people had nothing except those lands for their cultivation since the gold from their rich mines had been ceded in this Treaty, "without gold it will not be possible for us to raise a army

"Theo II told him , trying by all means to convince Alexandre of his "good intentions."

196 And the magnanimous Alexandre allowed himself to be convinced, more by humanity than by Teo's words.

197 And the Paraon was given a portion of the Nile delta¹⁴⁷ , as stipulated in the Treaty of Pa-lopanese, he would receive as his sole property and in perpetuity the city of Alexandrie ¹⁴⁸ and the fabulous gold mine which supplied large quantities to the Peers of this Nile nation. They said that this mine was inexhaustible and that with all the gold it produced it financed the Troian War.

198 They were shown the location of said mine and some others and the Ukos ¹⁴⁹ sent the people to work in them to extract the precious metal.

199 But, they soon realized that those mines were not as rich as the gossip claimed time and time again. They thought that Teo had deceived them since those did not produce more than what it cost to exploit them.

200 Furthermore, strange accidents and inexplicable deaths occurred very often, which were attributed to the guardian spirits of the Paraons.

201 They questioned numerous locals asking them about the real mine. They claimed that the true one was that one, but that it was exhausted due to the long Troian War that forced enormous quantities of the precious metal to be extracted from it. With the passing of ¹⁴⁷ Comprising the current sites of Damietta, Mensurah, Zigazig, Ismailia until almost reaching El Arich.

¹⁴⁸ Called that way since then.

¹⁴⁹ These Ukos are the ones that official historians recognize with the name of Hyksos.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Time, the Uk ended up believing this version and abandoned their exploitation.

202 But Theo II had cunningly kept to himself the location of some very small but rich mines, which he exploited in the most absolute secrecy. Teo wanted to keep the Delta territory for the sole purpose of being able to send his ships to a hidden destination. These arrived at the place where the mines were located and returned loaded with gold.

203 An ancient text says: "For 44 years. Teo endured this situation in his part of the delta, secretly making his people work in the mysterious mines known only to him, amassing as much gold as possible in the hope of one day paying for the insurrection that would drive the Ukoles from their lands. . It seemed that the main reason why Teo wanted the lands bordering the sea was because they represented the only piece of his old country where the greatest number of his people would support themselves. In reality, this territory, pretending to be under the control of the Bere, allowed him to possess some boats that he secretly sent to a direction existing in his mind."

204 Almost forty years had passed since the Glorio-

Saint Victoria Troiana. Alexandre had already gone to the East a long time ago, founding a city that he would call Babel¹⁵⁰ .

205 And it is at that time that Moises, who was a historian of Mendon Omaitzoi, writing all the events that occurred in the Troia War in his famous work 150 Babel: "Gate of God" which became the capital of his Great Kingdom, which he called Aragon "it is the Creation of God." Alexandre ordered the construction of a beautiful and imposing portico. On its frontispiece the laws offered to its people and all humans of good will were engraved. The monument was called Amorabelei "The Laws of the Master God Be". And all the towns, Paios included, formed the immense Kingdom of Aragon.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Pantateuko¹⁵¹, dwelt with his people in the desert of Sinai.

206 They had been living poorly in that harsh wasteland for 40 years, experiencing hunger, thirst and all kinds of calamities happening to them. The Iudas were fed up with all this and Moises decided to send a delegation to meet with Alexandre - who was then living in Lebanon - and intercede for his people.

207 In the year 3,549 before the Christian Era, Alexander gave them Audience, telling them that he would meet with Moses in a place halfway along the road. He established that that place was Berxebe.

208 They say that, when Alexandre arrived at Berxebe Hill , Moses prostrated his entire body on the ground in his presence and three times the Light that guides the Bere, the great Alexandre, had to say to him: "Get up! ". And Moses stood up as was customary since, if he did it the first time, that act would have been considered a blasphemous offense.

209 Alexandre listened with great attention to the director of the Iudas who remained in Sinai. When he finally finished explaining the many hardships that his people were suffering in the desert, Jabe "Lord Be" told him the following:

210 "It is well: Take your people out of this inhospitable land, that you say, and take them near the Dead Sea: On the west shore. Not on the other shore. Where everything is green. And wait for him to return with the name Eleazar. Never forget my words. I will live for quite a few years in Berselone¹⁵², a port town, and from said city "Bibeliko" I will reach here, to the land

¹⁵¹ It means: "from the Panta to the Ukos". These two regions being identified by Espanie or the Iberian Peninsula and the confines of the Russian prairies of Ukraine.

152 Berselone is the current city of Barcelona, one of the 22 cities named in the Bible.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

called Tarsais since my death with the name of le-zus."

211 But -Moses answered- if while we are here, when your Second Life has disappeared in this Second Life, and the Palestinians come to throw us out and murder us, because we have not followed our people who left with Teo II and for being in their lands, what should we do? Will we flee or can we defend ourselves?

212 And HE answered him: "If while I am not physically present they hit you on the left cheek, hold out your right cheek as well."

213 And Moses nodded: "Your sentence, Your Highness, is very harsh, but we will abide by it." And in this way the Covenant of Jabe was agreed with the Jews of Sinai. Pact that was called the Alliance, which was signed by both and kept in an Ark.

214 *The Jews paid good attention to the command of God Be, since the Bibele - between the two options at the end of his Third life on Earth - said that: "Eleazar will form a great army to recover his Throne in Irutzie and the Arab lands. It will be the largest army of all time and the first to volunteer will be the Jewish people. Then he will give them the land that he promised them in Berxebe.

Then many thousands more from the lands of Asia will follow, forming an army that will cover the plains of Irutzie."

215 They thought that in this way they would end up being forgiven for the terrible murder they committed in El Obeidu, when they ended the life of the Daughter of Almighty God and Mother of lezes, Maistatu, later known by all the believers of the Earth with the name of Maria. And indeed it would be so if they zealously observed their mandate.

216 Thus, the Abe, the Chamman, the Arabí and their rabbis, repeated, generation after generation, the Promise that they

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

He made them all God Be. And the Jews were faithful, for many centuries, to the Promise...

217 The Peers remembered everything Alexandre said and left written. This would consider, in case of leaving any town or group of people alive, the possibility that the Judas (previously considered by the Bere as the cursed of the Paia race, now treated as new Pabelos) would become his Chosen people, if The Arabs did not know how to preserve their teachings. It would be up to them to rule the Terrestrial Globe, perhaps in the company of another People worthy of assuming such a duty, since as the Bible indicated, the main Bere peoples would be greatly diminished or submerged in the greatest chaos. living in the shame of atheistic or pagan degeneration.

218 Does the offering of Etsiun or Etsion to the Judas (Jews) not Had it been God's mistake?

219 Was it possible that HE would choose an ancient Paio people, united in strange circumstances to the Bere by the offer of the great Historian Moses, if he would recognize them and help them proclaim their truth?

220 Could God save any other Palebeian people by accepting the Truth on the Day of their Annunciation?

221 The Peers defended the Judas on that ill-fated day of Obeidu, but since Alexandre gave them shelter in Tar-sais "Holy Land", once the Palestinians had been expelled, and proclaimed them as the sole guardians of his Sepulcher Elkudais (since called by the Judas Geruszalemen "Here is our devotion" or Geruszalain "It is our High devotion") became the people most hated by the Paios.

222 The centuries-old hatred resented by the Bere towards the Judas caused them to be persecuted everywhere and their women stoned to death in order to make them pay for the crime of Obeidu. Now it turned out that they were being forgiven by the Bere because of the will expressed by Alexandre and it would be the Paios who would harass them relentlessly, until they kill them en masse and without mercy with the most ferocious and abominable methods.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

223 The Peers of Rome and Athens gave express orders to exterminate them wherever they were found and the massacres of Geruszalain, Kaifa , Beirut , Antiokos , Byzantzie and many other places filled the words of the travelers witnessing them with horror .

224 The Peers now made a difference between the Judas of Moses and those who, separating from their racial brothers, remained in the delta, when they were all expelled from Egypt.

225 The latter responded favorably to Theo II's call. They were called Separadeitu, an expression meaning "They were called by the Pare." Today they are called Sephardic or Sephardim or Sephardim.

226 So they did not carry this name because they had separated from something, although that was the case, since they separated from their compatriots, not wanting to share with them the long years of deprivation and uncertainty, but on the contrary, the current words of separated in Spanish and séparé in French, come from the Separadeitu.

227 They were very pampered people in Egypt, in the Medieval Empire and especially in the Païen Empire.

228 Some of them, in turn called Pagurum or Pagurum, would be sent by the Païen to colonize lands and properties taken from the Uk in Ukraine (from 1300/ 1200 BC), forming important nuclei controlling the economy of that vast and rich land.

229 That name meant "Humans of our Pa" (at that time only the Bere were men, that is, "born of a Bere woman", the others had the general appellation of humans "born of a woman"). I note how this expression has survived until recently with the spelling of Pogrom, but with a meaning derived from effect to cause.

230 Every time, in the course of History, that the Bere or Berun of Ukraine recovered their ancient lands, the first of their acts was to cleanse them of the Pagurom.

231 Most of the time they had no mercy. They were hanged after having burned down their cabins. However, the richest managed to escape in time.

232 From two years after the death of Alexandre, until the year 1945 of this Era, in the month of May (that is, for 5487 years), the ludas will be persecuted and killed by the Peers, the Lords and all other Pagans. ..

233 With much less virulence and in smaller numbers, the Pagurom and then the Pogrom were harassed only intermittently, easily being able to escape, and the Separadeitu or Sephardim on very rare occasions, almost always by mistake and not knowing History well.

234 Despite all the persecutions, the Judas remained very united and very confident in the return of God. They made their intelligence work, becoming the best merchants. They stored rare and useful merchandise for the development of arts and sciences.

235 In case of war or lack of money due to bad harvests, there was always the option of looting the ludas' stores, where everything necessary would be found for free...

236 In general, no authority would intervene to defend and protect them... The Pagans claimed that everything they owned had been stolen from the people... A few always escaped from the massacres, managing to take refuge in one nation or another, since they had relatives in all of them. parties, were in solidarity with each other and brought enough money at the bottom of their saddlebags...

237 In view of the great vitality of the Jewish people, the Peers also left it said and written that the people of the Judas should completely disappear from the face of the Earth, at the latest before the so feared Beurrena year (the return del Be -referring to his Annunciation- places- during the period of time between 1980 and 1989 of this Era).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

238 Parallel to the persecutions of the Jews, the Peers dreamed of one day converting the Berun (whites with brown hair), Berbere (whites, usually of shorter than normal height, with blonde or rather red hair, and pigmented-tions of reddish skin color) and Arab (whites with blonde hair, blue eyes and tall stature), in atheists... which seemed like an impossible thing.

239 How would they get it? Time to time!

240 *They would never give up on achieving such a goal... no matter what.
what it would cost*

241 What would happen then if they achieved it?

242 No matter how much God Be wanted to choose among the people of the indicated towns, based on their origins, if they did not believe in HIM, refusing to recognize Him as such... what could would do?

243 Would you stop punishing humanity by admitting that the Globe is indeed a Planet and then leave forever, tolerating a heresy at your own Right Hand?

244 But... how could the Peers even imagine the Future God TP recognizing such a situation, if the dispute was precisely that all the Globes of God had to be on the Right of the Bie Alakete or Bia Alaktea ?153

¹⁵³ It means: Way of dispute – not being the currently called Milky Way, since it is totally dark and lacking Globes and Stars. The Romans, now calling milk "late" and not "lacte", mistakenly applied the name Alaktea and then Lactea, wanting to dispense with many "A"s in the names, thinking that they were all articles, to the area of diffuse white light perceptible through the Sky. And for this reason, over time, the word "dairy" came to mean "of milk", for "whiteness of milk", and not the opposite as claimed.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

245 On the other hand... Could it not also be possible that God, seeing the futility of his efforts and already tired of this humanity but in his desire to always do things well done and present himself as a Great Hero of Peace and Love in the Court of Maitagarri, would it occur to you to try to move the Globe towards the Paleides?

246 In anticipation of such a possibility, the Peers gave orders to the Lords to build imposing fortifications with thick walls in the most rugged and highest places in the mountains, with underground galleries leading into the valleys and rivers, etc. Within these fortresses there would be large quantities of grain and other supplies, forcing the peasants to hand them over for free¹⁵⁴.

247 Peers and Lords should never forget such practices so as not to be caught off guard as were those who in their day did not listen to the Onue (the advice - today called Noah). Well, there was no doubt. That trip through space would cleanse the entire earth's surface of (unprepared) inhabitants, both humans, animals and plants... and since it was likely that God would not worry much about where the material would end up, Balloon, after passing the Bie, the luck would then be that it would be located in an orbit close enough to (a) Sun.

248 The Peers also thought that if necessary, in case the Bere and many Pabelu never forget the future Messiah, convinced of His Appearance as announced in the Bible, they could organize, when they judged the most opportune moment, the coming of a false Messiah, and that well before the true one arrives.

249 In this way it would be demonstrated that with his existence and especially after his Death, absolutely nothing happened.

¹⁵⁴ They continue to do this even today, except that these shelters are more numerous, well equipped technologically and provided.

250 The Peers would then say that everything told by the Bere about the end of humanity and the distance of the Terrestrial Globe (they were forced to call it Planet) with respect to the Sun, was completely false.

251 They would thus ensure their Pagan Power on this Earth for a long time, while the true Messiah appeared.

252 When he finally appeared, surely no one would notice, no one would pay the slightest attention to whatever he could relate or explain. People would laugh in their own faces...

253 If the Peers of that time were to recognize him, it would be enough to tell the humans willing to listen to him with curiosity and interest that he is a mentally ill person, a fraud, an enlightened person, a charlatan, and even a dangerous revolutionary, enemy of God. (!), of the law and order established by the pagans, and this would be more than enough for no one to pay the slightest attention to Him... Since there would probably not be a single believer in HIM left on the entire Earth, governed without a doubt exclusively by pagan leaders, prevaricators and atheists, no serious problem would represent its presence, as long as it was alive and free of movements...

254 Finding himself alone in the face of the atheistic and pagan mobs, who would insult him and deny his status as God, acting in the name and by the Mission of Almighty God, whom he will replace after the death of his Third Body in this Earth, he would be completely unarmed in terms of his spiritual projection.

255 His image would not fit with the false God created by the pagans, a God forgiving thieves, heretics, atheists, frauds and even criminals... if they ask for forgiveness from the Pare or have acted under his orders.

256 Your arguments of yesterday would have no value and few people would like to listen to them since almost the entire population of the Globe would be made up of Païos, atheistic mestizos, sinners and degenerates.

257 When the people would hear the Messiah speak of revenge, presenting himself as the Justifier of all good and honest men and of all just causes having been trampled and dirty, it could happen that the components of some political faction, already tired of the arguments and attitudes of the Peers, they were attentive to his words and even applauded him as a possible Savior of their lost causes. But here the Peers would intervene violently. They would order those people to disperse, perhaps serving them too well first...

258 By having the Messiah arrested, they would make him appear in the midst of the farce of their courts of "justice"

259 He is an impostor, they would shout in chorus... God is all mercy, he is all goodness... this is an individual full of hate, thinking only of taking revenge and avenging people and towns... and revenge does not It's good... (for whom?)

260 He is a Iudas, they would cry... (the Peers had already begun to call him the Jewish-God, for the reason of the Etsiun.)

261 The mistake of killing him would not be made since his death by murder would be equivalent to the absolute and immediate end of all this humanity. Nor could he be locked up for a long time because God TP would soon release his soul which would pass into the body already prepared long ago...

262 The Peers would be very careful to insist in the new Bibles written by them that God is merciful to sinners... (by the account he brings them). They would say that to obtain their forgiveness it is only necessary to prostrate on your knees before the Altar of the Pagan Temple, after having brought with you some good lambs or some gold coins and leaving them to the priest.

263 The more lambs and the more coins, the more and more God takes pity on sinners...

264 A brother can kill his own brother, a son his father, a father his son, a woman can cheat on her husband, a man can lie or be perjured... How impressive!

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

carry all that! If you go to the Temple with very fat lambs and shiny coins... nothing bad happens!

265 "When you have entered the land that I give you, and have reaped its harvest, you shall bring to the priest an omer as the first fruits of our harvest."

266 "And on the day that you offer the Omer, you shall offer a lamb of one year old, without blemish, as a burnt offering to the Lord."

267 "From your rooms you will bring two loaves for a wave offering, which will be two tenths of fine flour, baked with yeast, as firstfruits to Jehovah."

268 "And you shall offer with the bread seven lambs of the first year without blemish, and one bullock of the herd, and two rams: they shall be a burnt offering to the Lord, with their gifts and their libations; burnt offering of a sweet aroma to Jehovah."

269 "You shall also offer a goat as a sin offering and two one-year-old lambs as a peace offering."

270 "And the priest shall wave them as a wave offering before the Lord, with the firstfruits bread and the two lambs: they shall be holy to the Lord to the priest."

271 *The pagan priest, once launched, there is no one to stop him... All the best must be for him... Everything he says must be fulfilled, even if it is barbaric...
God is now he...*

272 It claims to be the voice of God because it knows with complete certainty that until the true God comes, it will be able to live like a wren, exploiting the ignorance and naivety of the simple people of the countryside, and blackmailing those who steal in the cities. to the workers.

273 May Hell come after my earthly life!... it seems think.

274 Today's Bible and Koran speak of revenge and forgiveness, contradicting each other at all times without any qualms,

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

*many times spitting out in each verse what was said in the previous one.
The Bible exclaims:*

275 "You will not take revenge or hold a grudge against the children of your people, but you will love your neighbor as yourself"

276 And then: "Likewise the man who mortally wounds any person, let him suffer death."

277 "And whoever causes injury to his neighbor, as he has done, so be it to him: breakage for breakage, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, according to the injury he has done to another, so shall it be done to him."

278 The Quran says that God can destroy everything but at the same time he is merciful...

279 In turn, he proposes "an eye for an eye", adding further that God is not vengeful, this being a clear contradiction.

280 The Quran is a veritable salad of the ancient Bible, the Kurani and the falsehoods of the Pagans.

281 Who has told and taught modern Muslims that they cannot reproduce the human figure? The Pagans? And why? Because the Pagans did not want to see the image of God spread century after century, a reminder of the true position of the death of THAT ONE, so that no one would later recognize in such an image that of Alexandre...

282 Nor did they allow Mary 's authentic physiognomy to be preserved since it would cause very serious problems for the heretics and apostates of the future. They, the Pagans, gave the order a long time ago:

283 Destroy all figures and images... When the time comes we will create others in our own way and convenience...

284 *And to deceive the believers they stated: Those are Impu-ras... the only true ones are those of our Temples...
Yours are Idols... the Berun and Pabeles shouted at them.*

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

*Then the LORE put the figurative works of the Bere in their Temples...
The heretics shouted...*

285 Come with us!... we are going to destroy the idols of the Temples... And so did those who always insisted on calling themselves Arabs, and many others... They themselves destroyed the effigies of God and the Marys, that their ancestors created with such fervor and preserved with such devotion.

286 *Do not leave any sculpture or image intact!...
Let us destroy everything that represents a human figure in the Temples!
And this annihilation helped to further suppress Human History.*

287 Such were the reflections, attitudes and decisions taken and proclaimed by the Peers in pagan Rome, since the arrival to Power of the murderer Pare Titus.

288 He did not stop shouting to the Peers and the Lords to always keep in mind that no matter how much a Troia had cost them ... a Triumphant and Avenging Messiah would be even more expensive .

289 After the murder of Alexandre, the duel, between God on the one hand and the Peers and Lords on the other, would increase more every day...

290 The latter would continue to act like the snake whenever they could hide under the bushes, but when they had to appear in public they would then use lies to cover up their misdeeds and slander to destroy those bold enough to denounce them...

291 The phrase "The lie must end!" It shows how they are convinced that by falsifying the facts of history they will be able to suppress God.

292 Then... belittled, shamefully insulted and always alone before indifferent humanity, the only thing remaining for the Messiah would be to use the terrifying force of his Tremendous Power.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

293 Yes...! Everything would be very clear! The Peers and Lords of all time would be responsible for the destruction of humanity on this Globe.

294 The Bible of the talkative Ele assured that the Justice of the Messiah would be the Justice of the Almighty...

295 The Abes repeated incessantly that for that day in the Future such Supreme and Inevitable Justice would be above all those false, hypocritical and crazy people, who were expelled from the cities but were known to return in the coming centuries to cloud the History of God and the Bere, leading people like flocks of sheep to the pagan slaughterhouse...

296 However, she would discover, even if it was late, just in time before stretching out her neck to the executioner, the very serious mistake they made by mocking the Messiah with the blasphemy of atheism and the sophistry of paganism.

297 And in the explicit Book it is written: "Tell them: I will be late! I will go slowly like a snail, but one day, inevitable for everyone, I will show them and demonstrate the crimes they committed throughout the centuries."

EPILOGUE

Currently, all the characters mentioned in this work, including peoples, nations and different racial groups, have undergone an important transformation in their names as well as in their history and origins, making it difficult to differentiate what black is from the white, the truthful of the invented and the important of the profane in all of them.

In this work I have respected the names of the researcher Alexandre Eleazar, appealing to the reader's intelligence, reasoning and research capacity to be able to recognize the parallels between these names and stories with the names, stories, sayings and legends that even today They persist throughout the world and in all cultures. It is clear that the different spellings used to represent sounds, that is, the letters of our alphabets, have undergone variations over the centuries and many names that were previously written with b are now written with v, and vice versa. . H have also been added to not represent any sound or, in other cases to vary the one that precedes it, as occurs with ph, ch, sh, th, rh, lh, nh, etc. In other cases, different signs have been added for the same sound such as c or q to represent k. Where there were consonant groups with a vowel plus a roly vowel, the disappearance of the intermediate vowel between the consonants has occurred, as is the case of Bere, Pere, Tara, Tiri, Paro, etc. which have come to be written Bre, Pre, Tra, Tri, Pro... In other cases the simple vowels have become di-thongs such as bon, which becomes good, or the word ovo ancient that turns into an egg. And all these changes occur in all languages due to the dialectal variants of each place and, especially, to the action of "normalizers" of the different languages who did this work with a purpose that, of course, was far from to create a homogenization and reunification of all languages into one, as occurred in the country.

sado These “normalizers” of languages have always been from the priestly caste and, in recent centuries, it has been a job especially entrusted to the Benedictines, servants of a Church that can be considered a faithful heir of ancestral Paganism. The Païen are now called pagans. The Bere have become the Iberians although their origin, history and geographical location have been greatly retouched. Ancient Iberia covered a much larger territory than that limited to the Iberian Peninsula. About five thousand six hundred years ago, when it reached its greatest extent, it occupied all of Europe, the Middle East up to the very gates of India, and Russia to its Siberian confines. In many place names we can evidence this as we find it in Beretanie (Brittany) in Belgie (Belgium), Sibe-rie (Sibéria), Berlin (formerly called Beranderburuga), Beremen (Bremen), Terastebere (Trastevere), Berga (Berga), Bergen, etc.

Without fear of being wrong, we can affirm that the history of the Bere has been destroyed and to carry out this destruction slowly and progressively over thousands of years, the history of the Païos has also been destroyed, whom I like to call Children of the Sun, using his own beliefs.

Due to this plunder of history we have had no choice but to reconstruct the little that can still be recognized as genuine and try, through linguistics, the translation of very old texts, the compilation of old legends and the data provided by old books, get an idea of what happened in the past. But we have tried to distance ourselves from everything that is official in History and from classic books above all, because they are recognized by us as false works that use in their contents some real names and many others created to give to the characters in their stories, fantastic and from places that do not exist. We know these works, of course, and there are some truths in them, but how could we recommend them here or even cite them without trying to give equal value to the rest of what was written? Everything told about the Trojan War is a rigged story and yet such a War existed. The story of Alexander the Great has been cleverly rigged. This famous figure of antiquity was born in Macedonia and in more recent times than those in which originally born. His conquests have been limited to the Middle East (up to India) and Egypt because in these regions there are numerous memories of his passage and cities with the name of Alexandria and it would have been difficult to erase his memory, however all his conquests in Europe, Russia and Siberia have been omitted.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

However, throughout Europe there are coins with his face, almost all Iberian coins show his face on the obverse and the rider on the reverse. The so-called Hellenic culture is the Trojan Culture, which is the culmination of Iberian Art. The ruins of many cities in the Middle East, especially in the current territories of Jordan, Syria, Iraq and Iran, areas of current Israel, El Hedjaz, Yemen (Happy Arabia) are Iberian (from the Bere). Perhaps the most impressive is Balbek (Ba'albek).

To reconstruct History we have necessarily had to move away from official sources and begin our work from scratch.

Without making any presumptions other than those derived from the study and investigation of the material that may have fallen into our hands.

One of these study and analysis materials has been symbols.

We have carefully observed the symbols, both ancient and current, and we have seen how the majority of those used millennia ago continue to be used today although what they mean is no longer well understood and, what is worse, they are being used wrongly and by those who in no way should have appropriated them. It would be long to list all of them and doing so would lead us to write another book like this one or, surely, a longer one, but we will be able to talk about the most important ones to reflect what is happening and how, based on the knowledge of its history and original meaning, we have been able to catalog many monuments and sculptures, recognize their builders and know many other details.

In this work (Leendaniik) a struggle between Good and Evil seems to be reflected again and again, whose characters are the Bere, on the side of the good, and the Païos on the side of the bad. But, certainly this cataloging is not so simple and history and everyday reality have shown us that there are bad and good people in all races and everywhere. Both races had their cultures and beliefs that remained irreconcilable and opposed for millennia.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The Bere religion was not a set of rituals and metaphysical beliefs. The Bere had no religion as Christians or Pagans might understand. Their beliefs were based on Science and knowledge of historical events.

They had ceremonies that remembered epic episodes from their history as a lineage or famous people. They made representations of God, of Mary with her Baby, of the Xurides, of the winged horse (represented as having been brought from Heaven), etc.... But they did not kneel before them or make offerings or sacrifices to them. Many Greek gods and goddesses are nothing more than personifications (some very faithful to the originals) of the very human characters cited in the Leendaniik. For example, the representation of the Three Graces is based on the representations of the Three Marys. Margot is recognized in the goddess Aphrodite or Venus. Selene, Cybele, Artemis is another aspect of Maria Maistatu. It is interesting to observe the sculpture of Cybele, for example, in Madrid. There we can see Maria, the Mother of all the Bere riding on a four-wheeled Chariot, symbol of the Ancient Kingdom of Aragon, which is pulled by two lions that symbolize the Païen Empire of the East and the West. At his feet, the face (well known for appearing in countless fountains in many countries in Europe and the Middle East) of Omaitsoi emitting water. The Bere had ceremonies for baptism, initiation into puberty, marriage and death, among others. They did not bury their dead but cremated them. For them, burying someone was a serious offense. So by this detail alone many Beres settlements can be recognized.

Among the common people there were millions of Païos and mestizos Pabe-les, Belpos and Palebés who embraced the Bere beliefs and this forced the Peers and Lords to carry out the plan that at the end of this work has been detailed and is extracted in full from the book. THE BERE. Thus, symbols such as the lamb, the eagle, the angels, the Divine Eye that sees everything, the Trident, the six-pointed star (not the one formed by the two opposite triangles but the one derived from the core of the Flower of Life) , the one with eight points and the one with sixteen points, the shepherd's staff, the representations of Mary with her Baby, the square, the cube, the Moon, etc. They have been appropriated by the Ancestral Dynasty of Peers and Lords. No one, today, will recognize this sinister Dynasty under these names even if we recognize the current one in Pare.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Pater and the Lore as the Lord. But that matters little if they control a good part of the world economy and have the governments of all nations on their payrolls. They control everything and do and undo as they please, articulating their power through numerous societies, some secret and others very public and recognized.

The Maximum Center of its power sits on the Vatican or as we call it: Batikanus (our First Fortress or Place). The Batikanus is the Throne of Satan, a word that means: "owner," understood as the figure of the Supreme Patriarch who is the owner and lord of his offspring. Satan would be nothing more than a variant of the more primitive Satanus: "our Owner." Satan is formed from Sa (this is) ata or aita (Father) and an (of, property). The aita is still recognized in versions such as Shaitan or Saitan. It will be understood then that we recognize the Catholic Church of Rome as the maximum Successor of the ancestral Mandate of Peers and Lords that has passed from generation to generation, very jealously guarding its origins and trying by all means to annihilate the Message of God and his descendants on Earth. There are other Churches and religions also attached to the Throne of Satan.

The Paio symbols par excellence are the dragon and the snake, as well as the bull and the cow, the Sun in contrast to the Moon (Bere), the pyramid, the circle, the spiral, the cross in all its dispositions, the Staff, the Tiara and the Headdress, the colors red, black and yellow. However, the Neo-pagans have had no problem appropriating the Bere symbology and using it as they wish and please, distorting its meaning and skillfully hiding its ancient history and tradition. Perhaps the most skillful and most successful invention is that of the figure of the devil, which hides clearly Beres elements, such as the trident, the horns of the ram (symbol of Alexandre Magono) and the goat's legs that are mixed with the tail. dragon and the red color of the character in question. The word devil comes from DIO-BELE (God Bele in Parle dialect). This is how the Pare tried to represent God Be as the Creature that embodied Evil. Now the trident that signified the Troian Victory and that was nailed to the dragon symbol of the Paio Empire, would serve to sink into the flesh of all those who ended up in Hell. Hell is the Loka-muts (nightmare dream), a truly holy dream state.

terrible and repetitive from which it is even more difficult to escape than the closed dream in which life unfolds and in contrast to the Lozabal (open dream). The same thing happened with Lucifer. The figure of the fallen Angel is another myth created to make many believe that God would err in his Azterketa and rebel against the command of God and the Great Council of Elders. LuzBel is the beam of light of the Bele, that is, the guide who carries the Light and illuminates us. Lucifer is a perversion of this term. The F camouflages the syllable PA and therefore, this word is, in its origin, LuzPare. Needless to say, the only ones who rebelled against God are precisely the Pale, who went to war and ended up defeated. There are those who may think that this revolution was just and that God was and is a Tyrant. If so, why does it allow us free will? And are we really doing his will and desires? In any case, if he is not a Tyrant, perhaps he is a sadist who enjoys seeing us suffer all kinds of ailments without remedy. But God knows very well that the remedy for so much suffering is in ourselves and in our ability to wake up from sleep.

Other signs of more modern manufacture are the Pyramid crowned with an eye inscribed in a triangle from which rays of Light originate. This symbol also had a Pabele origin among the ancient construction craftsmen, who considered the Pyramid as the maximum construction work of the Children of the Sun (the Pare). It was now crowned by the "Eye that go", that is, by Almighty God. But soon this symbol would become typical of the Sinister Dynasty, ascribing to the meanings given in Egypt that are somewhat different from those that were initially given to it. The Eye that sees everything is now the Eye of the Pare, who through their networks of espionage and control enslave and subjugate man. The pyramid is the different levels of the Hierarchy. Below everything settle the slaves and outcasts. Above sits Satan with his Curia. It is the Eye of Satan that usurps the Throne of God to become King of the World.

Then we begin to understand that History is actually the chronicle of a great Conspiracy that has been perpetuated for millennia and that has condemned man to a relentless struggle between what is just and good for all and what is beneficial. of a few to the detriment of all the others. You have to understand

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

This is very good to be able to understand what happened in the past and what is happening currently. Everything that happens and manifests in these times we live in is based on that great lie that has been concocted with a meticulousness and cold blood that is difficult to believe and that has managed to deceive us all and completely destroy the memory of our ancestors. and, above all, our extraterrestrial origin.

Despite this, many people when reading the Leendaniik will feel something in the depths of their being and will sense that throughout this story there are hidden keys that are making them remember something very important about their origins. A feeling that runs through your blood and is inscribed in your DNA. That is why the Leendaniik was also called Argi-dazkia (The writing that illuminates).

In the past the scriptures were very important. It was not written for the sake of writing and it was almost a ceremonial thing to read most of the texts, at least three times, since it was thought that the first time it was interpreted by the mind, the second time it was assimilated by our intelligence and the third time by the heart. I will ask the reader to do the same with this work by reading it three times. You don't have to do it once in a row. You can do it whenever you like and I assure you that if you do it with the attention it deserves, you will discover every time
You are new.

And, to the question, what happened after the Victory of Troia? Eleazar left us a text that was part of a conference he gave at the University of Zaragoza in the 90s in which he summarizes the history from that moment to the present in a few pages and which I have thought appropriate to add. here from the historical moment in which the Leendaniik ends:

“...Alexandre attends the Wedding of King Dardanos¹⁵⁵ with the daughter of the King of Ausonie ¹⁵⁶, in the place of Terares that will become very famous.

Alexandre imposes on the Païos of Teo II¹⁵⁷, the famous Treaty of Pelopponese but makes the mistake of abandoning the Nile delta to his future murderer, Teodos will massively extract the gold from the ancient tombs of Egypt and pays the murderer Iurri, guard of Alexandre 's bodyguard and ex-priest, to kill Alexandre. But, before dying, the King of the Bere visits China and gives the name of Berin¹⁵⁸ (the current final G comes from the Chinese pronunciation) which is the strait that separates Seberie from the Sepango Continent¹⁵⁹ .

¹⁵⁵ Dardanos Akatudon (Dardanos the tiger of the Don), later known as King Ion, Ian or Iuan , is, along with Bitureigi and Alexandre, one of the three Mago Kings of the Alliance who rose up against the II Paio Empire, giving rise to the famous Troian War. He was a founder, together with his wife, Queen Iuliete of the city of Iruma (current Rome) and also of Emporitol (City of the Empire) which was the capital of the Serdanie. In the city of Emporitol the twin children of King Dardanos and Iulia would be born on March 14 in the year 3,587 before the Christian Era.

¹⁵⁶ Ausonie or Ausetanie whose capital was Auzo or Auso (today Vic, in the province of Barcelona. Auzo is a very old town since it was founded in the 11th Millennium by the Bere who migrated together with the Xuride Marta.

¹⁵⁷ Theo II, also known as Theodos and Theophilus, was Paraon of Egypt and of the Parinsepado of Tarteose (the famous Tartessos) in the 35th century before the Christian Era.

¹⁵⁸ Refers to the Bering Strait.

¹⁵⁹ Sepango is the name then given to the lands of America, which were traveled in those times by King Dardanos Akatudon and the crew of the Baleine.

Alexandre dies in Babel 160, tied to a tree to make him suffer the same death as the Spanish-Chinese Emperor, Omaitzoi.

Almighty God causes a strong earthquake and Babel 161 remains destroyed.

After these events, the murderer Iurri proclaimed himself King of Babylon 162. From that moment on, the Aegitans, that is, the Egyptians, were considered undesirable people and would be expelled from all the lands of the Bere and, upon the death of Paraon Theodos, -they will be exterminated in the Palkanes, then those mountainous lands will be called Balkans.

160 "Gate of God". City founded by Alexandre on 21 Dudzenberg 7289 de las Marias or Tercero de Troia – December 11, 3587 BC– to be the capital of his entire Kingdom, that is, of GOLE or ARAGON. God Be had a beautiful and large portico built on the façade of which he had the Laws offered to his people and all humans of good will engraved. The monument was called AMORABELEI

(Laws of the Master God Be).

The great and sad fame achieved by Babel in Antiquity is due to the fact that, in a place called since then KALBERE "Place of the Bere", near a bridge, the God Be was tied with bull or ox leather straps, to a tree (in order to destroy the symbol of the Bere tree) until death occurs, without anyone being able to give it a single drop of water. It was March 18 (current) in the year 3544 BC

161 Finally, the city is completely devastated by a violent earthquake and a sand wind that buries it forever, perishing in its houses and streets "all those who chose to live with the murderer of God."

It was never inhabited again and since then only a few of its ruins emerged from the surface of the sand.

Here I must say that in the first Millennium before this Era the Syriac and Jewish priests attributed the name of GOMORE to the city, believing it meant "God died", in the sense of "Where God died." Thus, the Bible's reference to the sins and destruction of Sodom and Gomore, the latter name sometimes written with a double r and h interspersed, seemed to refer in part to the destruction of Babylon.

162 In the unfortunate city, which is still called Babel by the Bere, Iurri

He tries to build a Tower taller than Alexandre's in Betis (the Giralda of Seville) and also round (Paio symbol). However, despite all his efforts he fails, due to the great resistance of local and foreign populations initially attracted by false promises and deceptions. It is the famous Tower of Babel.

The Jews, bought by Iurri as slaves, play an important role in the failure to achieve the work.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The Arabs enter Egypt at a gallop on their horses and massacre all the Egyptians who confront them and can reach them, since few of them were saved and found refuge in the medieval lands .

From then on, Jews and gypsies will be persecuted in all lands with a majority of Bere or Belpo inhabitants. Later, the Païos proclaim the Third Spanish Empire with its capital in Rome163 , its first Emperor will be the Pare-assassin (they will all be assassins) called Didier el Txato, also being of Chinese race.

The second Emperor, the famous Titus, will capture the Peiduru164 by trickery and have him burned alive inside a copper bull, in his Circus, on the day of his Inauguration.

The third Emperor will be a priest called Eskugei, who the texts point out as the most vicious and cruel of all the Medieval Emperors. He had Enri, King of Aragon, murdered in the famous battle of Alkala de Txistberta165.

163 Initially called Iruma "Tres Marias" - a city founded by King Darda-nos of Serdanie and his wife Queen IULIA on the 12th of Sebotenpber in the year 5 of Troia or July 5, 3585 BC (on a day of good sun and in the morning) to be the Kapitol of the cities Ber, Ban and Pueblo of the region that from that moment on would take the name ITOLIE (Italie or Italy). In April 3584 BC, King Dardanos proclaims his wife Iuliete as Regent of the Kingdom of Serdanie and the Kingdom of Itolie, until his son comes of age, in case something happens to him and he does not return. In the year 22 of Troia, that is, 3568 BC and in the city of IRUMA, IRUMALUZ IULIUS is acclaimed King of SERDANIE or SARDE-NIE and King of ITOLIE, jointly. He is 19 years old.

Coins with a double effigy were minted for his status as a double King. Being his father, King Dardanos, now called only IAN, the new King will also hold the name of King IANUS.

164 This Peiduru is the one today called San Pedro, although the story told now has nothing to do with the original. At the end of this work part of its history is added to the history of the city of Iruma.

165 Today called Alcalá de Chisverta, in Castellón. The large bell tower of the church of this town is interesting, which is very tall, with very old ashlars and with a certain resemblance to the Giralda of Betis.

By the Treaty of Irte, Aragon recovers its province of Alamata-go but loses that of Turonie 166.

The Medieval revolution, which broke out in Mareseye167, put an end to the inquisitorial power of the Priest-Emperors, the revolutionaries proclaim Freedom (the Land belongs to the Ber), previously it all belonged to the priests, called pagans in Europe Occidental and Kuto-lek in the near East, but due to the lack of unity between Bere and Puebloles, the priests foment unrest and assassinate the main leaders of the revolution.

The Fourth Empire, this time called Spanish, settles in the ancient city of Kartagen (the Paios no longer trust settling their capitol).

166 current Castellón.

167 "Sitil de la Mare" or "Sitil de Maria". Name given by the Bere Trojans when Alexandre passed through this city, founded by the Paios around the 47th century BC with the name of PAIOSEIE "Sitil of the Paios" or PAIOSE "Es Paio", today Marseille.

Alexandre ordered a large statue of Mary to be raised on top of a hill (now replaced by the basilica of Notre Dame de la Garde) in order to guard and preserve him when as Messiah, in this city and according to the Bible, he would be "humiliated, insulted and cruelly treated by paganism exacerbated by the prompt sentence of the Justiciero. "On the Day of Judgment the raging and furious waters will rise to the top of the hill where Mary was and then not a single sewer rat will be able to save her sad and miserable life."

Between the years 1645 and 1602 BC (approximately) the city of Marseye is the scene of the terrible revolutionary days where the blood, not only of very few Peers who were captured, but of the many rich merchants, dignitaries and military leaders, of the members of the Police (called Polise), etc... ran in torrents through the streets, ending up in the sea in red rivulets.

The rebels have created the revolutionary state of MEDI (pronounced MIDI) and sing songs of hate and revenge against the Peers.

The most famous of those songs will be called AMARSEYESE "La Marseillaise."

For the first time on this Earth the red flag (color of the blood of the victims once sacrificed in the Tanpalos) would be the flag of all revolutionary peoples.

The Paian take the city by land and sea, not letting any of its population escape. All its inhabitants will perish burned alive.

They will give it back its old name of PAIOSEIE.

Released by General IULIUS, he restored her name Bere, written MAR-SEILLE as now.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

such outside the ancient lands of Spain). They also call this capital Kartagogen-Kartagen Espartaria-Kartago or Cartagenis168. The Emperors will continue to be priests and will try to reconquer all the lands of the Second Empire that succumbed to Troia.

Genocides happen. The priests have a lot of gold and mint a large amount of coins to pay all the mercenaries that appear before them, most of them African.

The Bere people witness in shock the destruction, razing and burning of numerous Bere cities, sometimes with their populations inside. It is when the famous misfortune of Alesia occurs, with the surrender of Berseingetoreix169 of the Kingdom of Au-berne, and the famous Bie Kuruz Eraman, throughout which the Great Martyr of the IV Empire had to suffer so much.

But the Spanish suffered great defeats in England, where the terrible guerrilla fight arose between the famous Robin Bote Paio170 "the blonde who throws out the Paio" and the Paio occupiers.

The same thing happens in Switzerland with the resistance organized by the so-called Onguile Home Teli 171 "Well done, man of the People" (now called Guillaume Tell) and in many other parts of Europe where heroes arise whose exploits will remain in legends, and end- They were executed by the ax of the "boches" or burned alive while burning oil was poured over their heads.

After the ruse of the governor of Rome, the revolt against the Spanish begins in Italy, a young man who believes himself to be a descendant of the Wizard King Dardonos, the ancient founder of Rome, and belonging to the 168 City founded in 3510 BC (?) by refugees from the first Karthago, in another land of Aragon (today Cartagena).

169 Official history recognizes him with the name of Vercingetorix and a totally false and distorted history is attributed to him in such a way that he is presented as one of those who rebelled against Julius Caesar, when, had he lived at that time - which was not thus- would have been one of his best allies.

¹⁷⁰ Here we have an old story converted into a modern medieval and fictionalized legend, that of Robin Hood.

171 And here another old story adapted into legend to the taste of the times: William Tell.

The Iulius family, nicknamed "the Roman" due to the writings in the Bible, forms a legion and undertakes a fierce fight against the Spanish.

General Iulius Romano liberates Mareseye but cannot cross the Erodanus River ¹⁷². He then requisitions all the ships found on the Italian coasts and in Parobancie ¹⁷³, and sets course for the lands of Iberia. He disembarks in Ampurias where he is very well received by the Indibeles and names one of them Mendibele "Chief of the Indi Bele". In turn, and in memory of his distant grandfather, Iulius is nicknamed here Caton "Good Tiger", soon Gerone "Good People" surrenders to the Bere and the few priests found are precipitated into the river that runs through the city. , all naked and on a very cold day.

Afterwards, Iulius Romano frees Berseleone and kisses on his knees the land that Eleazar once walked on. His legionaries are standing in front of the town of Arubi¹⁷⁴, due to the Treaty sealed with the Spanish Empire. But Iulius realizes that this Treaty is a mistake and, no longer holding back, he attacks the Se-paion head-on and by surprise¹⁷⁵. It is the famous battle of Arubicamp in which General Mendibele will die. Next, the battle for the liberation of Taragon takes place , where many Bere die in Kanbe-ril ¹⁷⁶ "Place of the dead Bere".

¹⁷² Rhône River.

¹⁷³ Provence.

¹⁷⁴ Current population of Rubí, in Barcelona.

¹⁷⁵ Sepaion has been confused with the word Scipion because it is seen in the inscriptions. tions written SC-PHION (the hyphen tilted and slightly inserted into the C).

The PH camouflages the syllable PA, so we have the word SEPAION. It is curious that at the entrance to Tarragona towards Barcelona there is a monument known as the Torre de los Escipiones. It is still called that although it is officially known that it has nothing to do with the Scipios (a Roman family). This relationship is given by the fact that an inscription has been recognized in which the name of Cornelius seems to be recognized.

¹⁷⁶ Perhaps the coastal town of Cambrils identifies the site.

Upon his return to Rome, where he is received with all honors, he is named Caezar¹⁷⁷ of Rome. He will be the second Caezar of Rome after that very distant Tsar Pollakis.

Finally, the Bere Romans occupied the capital of Kartagen, thus definitively defeating the Spanish Empire.

Starting with Emperor Constantine, the Empire became Catholic and abandoned its Bere teachings. The Catholics, disconcerting the Christians, create a new Messiah, but dead and crucified in Jeruzalem, and they also have the audacity to call him Christo. Indignation is great in all the Bere Lands and in Christianized places when Catholics call Christo Jesus. Then the peoples of ancient Europe rushed towards the lands of Italy and the Iberian Peninsula. They are the Germans, the Austrians, the Bandalas from Eastern Lebant, who want to occupy the Iberian Lebant and severely punish Rome. The Goths "those of God" who arrive from Norway and Sweden, form a Kingdom in Iberia, whose capital will be Toledo. They will be called Bizigo-dos for having created a Bizigodie (Province of the Goths). Immediately afterwards, the Russians and finally, the Ones¹⁷⁸ will appear in the Burgonde, being Mongols who remember their past created by Alexandre, as the great Province of the Gole.

But, little by little, the leaders of these people addicted to the Messiah Eleazar will be corrupted by the priests who offered them great amount of gold coins if they converted to the doctrine of Catholicism.

¹⁷⁷ Caezar, comes from "Ça e Zar" "this is (the) Tsar". Zar is a title that means "wise, old man." The name "elderly" here does not mean "decrepit or old" but rather refers to physical and, above all, mental maturity. Old would be Xaar or Xar. It is important to note the fact that the Bere rulers were treated as Wise Men. Thus the Batzar would be his Council of Wise Men (from Bat: one, union Tsar: wise-wise). Every small community had its Batzar. The Burubatzars were the Councils of wise men that brought together several Batzars. And finally there was the Andi Buru-batzar who was considered the most Supreme of the Councils, made up of wise men from various Burubatzars. The Tsar was the leader of the Andi Burubatzar. Terms such as Kaiser, Tsar, Ser or Sir come from these terms, although today these foundations of government hardly exist, they still survive in rural Euskalerrria and in the Ulamas of the Arab and Muslim nations.

¹⁷⁸ Une, Un: means extreme. It refers here to the people of the most extreme part of the ancient Kingdom of Aragon. It refers to that group of peoples that have now come to be called Huns.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

When these people were no longer able to defeat Catholicism, Attila (Emperor) of the Ones will no longer continue his march towards Rome and the Iberian Peninsula, because by falling victim to a cunning of the priests he paralyzes his advance in front of Troia. for making him believe that taking the fort taken by God long ago would bring him bad luck. Afterwards they poisoned him and his companions returned to their lands in the Far East and quite a few of them stayed in Russia.

Despite all the efforts of the Bere and the Christians, at the Council of Ephesus the Catholics expelled Nestorius for affirming that Christ was not Jesus, others who insisted on that truth were also expelled, as Arianus was years before in the Council of Nicaea. They had to go into exile and died of poisoning shortly after. His doctrines took root, however, in Persia, in northern India and in China, where magnificent paintings remain from that time, the fourth and fifth centuries of this Era.

Once those vigilantes of the North and Asia were destroyed and disappeared, the Arabs wanted to replace them because they could not in any way admit the falsehoods of the Church of Rome. Then she, with a lot of experience, had to annihilate them little by little, using the same tricks as always, gold and beautiful women, this time they did not have to give jugs of wine and burning water.

Once the Arabs were expelled from the Iberian Peninsula, the victors began to purge its inhabitants. Muslims, Jews, atheists or simple critics of the sayings or behavior of the church, were arrested, tortured, murdered at random or burned alive in public squares, in full view of other citizens and forced to witness the executions that took place. They celebrated on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

And we are in a somewhat similar way today, except that now people are executed any day and at any time and the murderers are of varied ideologies and creeds, from hard-core atheists to fanatical believers..."

APPENDIX

History in summary of Seven Cities

This Appendix is prepared from the final part of the book LOS BERE, which is also another Appendix in which data is given about more than 200 cities. Here I will only expose seven of them: Berseleone (Barcelona), Beturo (Zaragoza), Damasku (Damascus) Ionis (San Juan de las Abadesses), Iruma (Rome), Kaide (Cádiz) and Kartago - the old and the new - (Amposta and Cartagena).

BERSELEONE

"It is good land of the Bere" today Barcelona. City founded in the 11th Millennium BC by the Maxi of Marta.

According to a very laborious calculation, its creation must have occurred between the years 10376 and 10365 BC, that is, about 12350 years ago.

It enjoyed a certain fame in High Antiquity and early Antiquity, for being included in the list of Biblical cities (there were 22), also having the particularity of occupying the last place.

It is therefore much older than Taebes/Thebes in Egypt (3588/3544 BC), Babel/ Babylon (3587/3544 BC) or Iruma/Rome (3585/3549 BC).

The city of Berseleon primarily belongs to the great Etâ Arabe, whose capital was Beturon or Beturo (today Zaragoza).

The primitive Arab city had its epicenter in the area located on the current sites of the City Hall, Provincial Council and Cathedral.

During the 7th Millennium before this Era, it came under the control of the very long Kingdom of the Ban and was included in the Banda region. A military fort or Banguarde is built on the mountain today called Montjuich.

The Bans pronounced the vowel "E" at the end of the city's name, in the same way that the Catalans do with miñone or the French with colomne, thus calling it Berseleone.

Around the year 5460 BC it fell into the power of the Paio Empire, which changed its name to Barkai (Tame Port) in order to eliminate the much hated name of the Bere.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

As the Païos settled in a place now called Prat de Llobregat (which was then a semi-swampy plain) an important Chinese colony for the cultivation of rice, little by little a settlement was established outside the city walls. multitude of Chinese merchants and artisans.

They dedicated themselves to tailoring, perfumery, cosmetics, and above all to the culinary arts, providing a good restaurant service with their corresponding Païas, Chinas and Taïas prostitutes. It is the first Chinatown.

It extended from the current Marqués del Duero street and Ronda San Pablo to Las Ramblas and the port.

After a more thorough study it seems to me that its limits were: Berenguer el Viejo street – Santa Madrona street – Carretas street - San Paciano - San Rafael, to the intersection of Hospital street and San Pablo-Rambla de Capuchinos (later to Troia this Rambla It was called Kapatxinos, that is, "towards the Chinese") - Rambla Santa Mónica and Puerta de Santa Madrona street.

Also, from that time and as a result of the increase in population, two important industries developed, that of the Shipyards building fishing boats and ships for the Imperial Navy, and that of the stonecutters working for the rich dead.

I cannot omit to say that the current word for boat comes from the Paio name of the city, that is, from Barkai.

Along the entire coast, from the Ebro to the Pyrenees, there were various boat factories, considered the best on the peninsula. Furthermore, the largest shipyard in this part of the Mediterranean coast was located in the port of Barkai.

Later, with Aragon, a few military and troop transport ships left this shipyard, destined for the battle of Taebes in Egypt.

It can be said that until the 15th century of the Christian Era it was active, manufacturing many navigation and military ships, some of which participated in famous naval battles.

I also want to point out how some furniture and art objects carved in wood, which are currently in the Royal Palaces of France, Belgium, Germany and other places, have been manufactured in Barcelona or near this city, as I have been able to verify from paid invoices.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

With the arrival of the Païos, the first Lotecie (underground cemeteries) appeared. The two most important will be located in the places called today Putxet and Tibidabo. This last name did not refer to the mountain but to the entrance to the great Lotecie, located exactly where the intersection of Travesera de Gracia and Balmes Street is today and which was walled up when the buildings on the block between these streets and were built. those of La Granada and Tuset, being a field about 15 or 20 years ago.

Indeed, Tibidabo meant "Mouth of the road to the mountain." I walked through part of the tunnel (which had been restored in some sections with bricks) and saw the Putxet tombs, one of which must have served an important dead person.

From the mountain range, several very short rivers, called Uriere, descended towards the sea. The current locations of several streets are the result of their ancient courses.

The most important one followed the route currently carried out by the Blue Tram, from the lower station of the Tibidabo Funicular to Paseo de San Gervasio, then continued along Balmes Street, Via Augusta, Rambla de Catalunya and Plaza de Catalunya where it divided into two. arms. One of which formed the Ramblas, leading into the sea in front of the statue of Columbus.

The word Rambla comes from Aranbele "valley of the Bele" to refer to the old courses of the rivers, whose banks served as a walk in summer due to the greater coolness.

The other crossed the Plaza de Catalunya, ran through the Puerta del Ángel, Avenida de la Catedral and Vía Layetana to the sea. The city of Berseleone was located precisely between the two arms of this Uriere (called much later Riera) which formed a large pool of water in the entire space occupied by the Plaza de Catalunya and Puerta del Ángel.

It is where women washed clothes.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

In the month of March of the year 3589 BC Alexandre liberated the city from Paio dominion, restoring it to its original name, but written (in the Bere script it is understood) and pronounced Berseleone. It became part of the Kingdom of Gole or Aragon.

The new mayor of the city expels the purely Paia population and the Chinese, forcing them to settle on the slopes of the hill near the sea. They were ordered to Juiko (go to the slope). Those expelled formed a neighborhood with wooden barracks, mud shanties and tree branches, which went from the current Pueblo Seco neighborhood to almost Montjuich Castle. A Tanpale was established on the site it occupies today.

dedicated to the Cult of Sura (Sun God).

The Argon therefore called the hill Montjuiko "Mount of those who went uphill", a name preserved with this pronunciation until the Catelan language itself appeared, which phoneticized Montjuik. Later, with the writing Lotine, it appears in its current form of Montjuich, never meaning "Mount of the Jews" since in Catalan a Jew is not called juich either, but jueu. For more than a century, the people of Montjuiko must have been a population of miserable and dirty people, beggars and thieves.

In the month of May of the year 136 of Troia, 3454 BC, at the bend of the river (Llobregat), the battle called Joberegat takes place, between the armies of Tarteose and Paterie Medi (Rome) on one side and the Kingdom of Aragon on the other. the other.

It was a tough fight in which the Paios won due to their overwhelming majority of combatants. I think there was a betrayal within the city or something went wrong due to a spy, that is, the famous Espai, Espαιο, Espaiou, always present in any warrior story of the Paios.

Before a meeting, they sent him to the opponent's field or city to find out about the strength of the enemy forces. When retreating or at the crucial moment of combat, he set fire to everything he could.

In the battle several Aragonese and Sardis Captains died, some due to wounds and others drowned in the waters of the river, but

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The Prince of Tarteose also met his death. The Paios gave him a great funeral. They took his mummy to a cave located in the mountains called Pylos, where it can still be seen.

The Paios of Juiko returned to the city. The Chinese population was reestablished in the same place it occupied before. The center of Barrio Chino must have been the current Tapias Street (whose name may have come from Tapaías, that is, "of the Paías") and its extension to Unión Street.

After the city was included in the Paterie Empire, the Paios began to install the tombs of their dead on the slopes of the Montjuiko mountain. Therefore, at that time, when people talked about going to the Juiko or Montjuiko slope, they meant that one was going to die soon. It was a new Lotecie for the use of the poorest dead, since Tibidabo was reserved for the rich. The Paios and Chinos pierced many galleries of Death around the ancient Pagan Temple, during the years of the Bere occupation. They had to take advantage of these works that cost them so many sacrifices to make in the years of their decline.

The Medes changed the name of the city to Barcelona.

When the Medieval Revolution broke out and the Etâ Uletan was proclaimed, the city recovered its old name of Berseleone, written Bercelone.

The Imperial Paien Army subjects it to a harsh siege. After falling into his power, he restored the contemptuous prefix Bar, thus becoming known as Barsalona.

The Pagans are now very fond of the letter "A", especially when it comes to talking about the Bere ("a" = below).

The Gypsies' way of speaking also has a lot of influence, since to punish the Barceloni the Paien establish an important colony of those people within the walled enclosure.

The Pueblelos are consoled, however, by seeing how the name of the city, despite all its vicissitudes, has preserved the suffix on or one or ona (good). They invent the saying "As if it sounds like Ber or if it sounds like Bar, Barsalona is good" (being changed in the current era, so that no one would remember the origin of the true name of the city, for "Tan si la bosa sona com si no sona, Barcelona es bona", which of course did not convince any city worker or peasant from the outskirts, since without money and with the Païos, no one saw such goodness anywhere).

At a certain point the Pagan Ministers remove the suffix "good" from the name of the city, tired of the saying, and call it Barça, pronounced Barsa.

But the ruse has little success, since the pagan denomination does not reach much further than around the Temples. The stubborn Puebele continue to put Lone or Lona at the end of the name that the new masters want to impose on the city.

The population is constantly increasing with Africans from Algeria, Tunisia, Libya, Sudan, Sahara (current names) and especially from the city of Tumbuktu; The Chino neighborhood is reinforced with a contribution of emigrants from the south of the peninsula (the Almerienses).

That is when the expression Txarnegue "speaks from outside" appears to designate these usufructuary invaders, who do not speak the same language as the Berse. The current word "arenga" comes from Txarengue, with the same meaning as the previous one. It was the speech of the military leader Paio (called Txar for short and with the interpretation of "bad" and "small"), always a stranger, to the young native recruit, before embarking on a campaign.

When Caesar Iulius liberates the city, he expels the entire population of Paio, Gypsy and African origin. Some Chinese families were not disturbed as they refused to retreat with the Païen Army. They applauded the entry of the Imperial Roman Army (unlike the Chinese of Valencia, who fought tenaciously in the pagan ranks). Some of those expelled wanted to remain not far from the city. They stayed on the other side of the limit set by the Catelans for the Païos outsiders (such delimitation passed through the current Plaza de España).

Since then, municipal ordinances were established to tax the entry of goods from the lands still in the power of the Pagans (following the Treaty of Ruby) the rejected people and their descendants formed a population of smugglers and traffickers. Every "Dijou" (Thursday) the Berceloni went to said camp of mud and lime huts, painted white and blue, to buy, above all, wine, anise and oil, since there the goods were sold "sense-costs", that is, without costs, that is, without surcharges, since "cost", whose equivalent in Spanish is "cost", had two meanings, one material and another figurative derived from the first.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Originally what "cost" was not the real price of the merchandise but its price increased by the "costs", that is, the taxes or tariffs, which were levied on the products at the entrances to the cities.

The path taken by the inhabitants of Bercelone took the direction of the current slaughterhouse (which disappeared very recently), towards the beginning of the Avenida de Roma, where a large cane field covered the entire area and served as a disguise for those coming and going to the area. camp, called by everyone Sence in order to hide their true intentions a little.

The guards, in general, were installed in the current Plaza de España, but there was no shortage of those stationed in the middle of the ravines to surprise the men who returned loaded with jugs and barrels.

The Gypsies, being the most numerous element in said camp, called it Sans and this name remained intact in its pronunciation and spelling, until about 15 years ago when it was Sanctified.

The current neighborhood or street of Hostafranchs is a reminder of the Sence Costes, since the aforementioned expression, of Germanic origin, comes from Costefranchs, being the equivalent of the primitive Sence Costes, since at that time the area was still free of coasts.

Iulivs, the much-grateful descendant of the Kings of Auso, considered by many to be the Messiah, restored the ancient name of the city, writing Bercelone.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Once the Bere Empire of Rome ended, the Berceloni or Bercelonin fought bravely against the new masters and in the year 471 AD they managed to expel the Romans in a fight in which the entire population participated. With the arrival of the Germanic armies the city was called Berkalone, mainly because of the confusion with the letter C, which the Germans continued to write K.

In the year 822/23 Abd Al-Rahman II, The Victorious, 4th Emir of Córdoba (he himself claims to be a direct descendant of the famous King Al Raman II, who was King of Serdanie when Berselone belonged to the Ancient Kingdom of God) makes his entry. triumphant, mounted on a white horse, in the city dreamed of by the Arabs for being especially mentioned in the Holy Scriptures.

The name of the city then appears written in Lotin letters with the spelling of Bercalone, pronounced Bersalone.

When it came under the control of the Kingdom of Spain, it received the name Barcelona, which has lasted until now.

BETURO

«Fuerte del Be» First name of Zaragoza given in the 11th Millennium BC by the children of Martha.

It was the Capital of the Very Ancient Etâ Arabe (first land on this Globe called Arab). The Bere gave the name Auribe to the Ebro River.

In the 6th Millennium before this Era, and after a long and hard siege of almost 3 years, in which the Argien helped the Beturos, it fell into the power of the Paio Empire.

The victors cut the throats of the male prisoners one by one, that is, those old enough to hold a weapon. About 3000. They did it in the presence of the members of their army and on the sadly famous Mesa de los Rapados.

Each soldier was forced to drink a large drink of blood, while the red flag with the golden Lion sitting, left paw on the Globe, waved above the ruins of the Eliz.

The old men and women were burned alive, the virgin girls were handed over to the Pare, and the young women to the soldiers who were anxiously awaiting them, just reward for the great effort made. Male children were castrated, including newborns.

However, the Paios apparently left almost 20,000 dead around the walls of Beturo and in the deep waters of the river, which they called Auripa.

The city then took the name of Pailar, being declared Capital of the first Manie (large military region) of the Empire.

There will be quite a few others: Alemanie (will be the second Manie), Irumanie (the third Manie – today Romania), Noremandie (the fourth), Birmanie (the eleventh) and Atazemanie (the rear Manie or last – now Tasmania).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Since then, the Païos settlers settled in that region and the inhabitants of the capital will be known in the peninsula by the nickname of Manios or Maños.

The descendants of the ancient inhabitants of Beturo continued to be called Batureros, who, being able to escape the massacre because they were in the surrounding fields at the time of the city's surrender, took refuge in the rugged mountains.

In the times of the Païen Empire, the Lords forced their people to call them Batureros or Baturones, in order to suppress the Be origin of the primitive name. Furthermore, they used Baturo as a synonym for an imbecile (an adjective that comes from the word Païene Inbezeli , that is, "he who devotes himself to Be"), for an idiot, for an uneducated peasant not knowing what he is saying... especially when he spoke of the inevitable return. of God, in order to fulfill his Final Judgment.

The Païos built a large Tanpale near the river, inside which they installed a gigantic golden Sun , placed on an alabaster pyramid.

Ancient Beturo is liberated by Alexandre when he makes his triumphal entry into it on December 4, 3589 BC

Tsar Be informs the population that in Karthago he changed the name of the river to Eberu.

He immediately ordered the Tanpale (Temple) to be destroyed and in its place a Bezilik dedicated to Mary and her First Life on this Earth be built .

Alexandre will be called Zaragose "He is the Tsar-God" or "He is the Tsar-God." The city then received the name of Zaragosei "It is of the Tsar-God" and even later that of Zaragose, due to a statue erected in the Bezilik, which in the coming centuries would achieve great fame for representing him as a child with his Mother Mary.

The city will also be called Azkatua Zaragose "It is the Tsar-God who liberated it", Sezar Augustu "It is the Tsar who sponsored it" or Zaldube "Dear of Be".

In the newly liberated city, Alexandre celebrates the first anniversary of the Victory of Troia and gives to everyone.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

children. These call him Eneadi "My God" or Eneadie "My God Ele."

Alexandre represents the children marveling at his Birth in distant Karelle, in the town later called Goteinburuga "City where God was born" (today Gothenburg).

As Alexandre explains, at that time of year, in that homeland, the houses and the plains populated with tall, leafy fir and pine trees are covered with snow. Reason why it shows his Birth in a Duma (Palace) surrounded by said trees, and the whole, with the help of threads of wool, appears to be dusted with snow (the name of Duma, which had originally meant "Property or House of the Mother", came from the Duma of Marta, whose location was in the current Moscow Kremlin. In turn, the Kremlin is the contraction of Keremelen "Land of the Dear Female", being the name of the place where the Xuride Marta died. This death was called Martyr because the Queen was savagely murdered by the Paolos, the Paio lots. The Tomb of the Queen of the Martins then took the name of Mosku).

Inside a supposed room he places a Baby (little Be) inside a crib. Around several Be (lambs) call him Be... Be...

A woman leans at the head: she is his Mother... his Second Mother on this Earth, having been for Him like a Reincarnation of Mary who can be considered the grandmother of all white humans.

The scene is called Nodael "It is birth of EL" or Noel "Birth of EL" and HE is God.

It is therefore in Zaragose where the Festival or Celebration of Christmas was celebrated for the first time on this terrestrial Globe (1 Faitbere year II of Troia – December 26, 3588 BC, very exactly). On the day of Epepanie (December 31) and before an Effigy of Mary brought from the Troian fields, men, women and children kneel with fervor.

The Be clarifies that now Elle (María) is once again in her vast Kingdom of the 12 World Globes, gifted by her

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Augustus and Venerable Maker as Dowry on your Wedding Day... and there he awaits you to make the journey back to Baleden together.

Alexandre reminds the Berun and Pueble of the History of Man and how far they have to go until they reach the fateful Day of Judgment which, in order to judge the humans of Earth, will have to be imposed on the dead and the living.

Through the streets of the city the Three Wise Men parade mounted on spirited steeds. One of the Kings is the real one, but Dardonos and Bitureigi are represented by two Captains Uk and Gal. Alexandre stays in the city well into the current month of January.

Christmas then commemorates Alexandre's Great Victory in Troia and his Birth in New Elie.

Such Celebration was moved by Christians to December 25 to coincide with the arrest of Saint Peiduru of Rome on the night of December 25, 3480 BC for being confused about the true identity of that Holy Martyr.

Today it is claimed that Christmas is of Pagan origin although it is quite the opposite, it is the anti-pagan Festival par excellence. The Peers and other Pagans always did everything they could to extirpate it from the thoughts of men and women. They murdered many people but everything was useless... and if this Party has lasted until now it is because they finally stuck to the saying invented by themselves: if you can't fight someone or something too powerful, join it or make it yours, to your way... and so they did...!

Zaragose became an important city in the Kingdom of Gole or Aragon.

When the Kingdom was divided into two parts and the one located to the North of the Pyrenees preferred the name of Gole, with its capital in Lion, the lands to the South of those mountains remained with that of Aragon and its capital was Zaragose, thus returning this city to be capital of a State.

Around 1500 BC the city of Zaragose fell into the hands of the Gallic Empire and received the name Galguntza.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Its inhabitants lived in opulence thanks to the fertility of the fields producing a large amount of cereals and the commerce established in its narrow streets.

In the numerous stalls you could find the most precious fabrics from the East. Very renowned was its market for horses and mules as well as for farming and farming equipment made of iron by the Berik.

When the Armies of the new Paios Empire, the Paien Empire, arrive in the vicinity of Galguntza, tens of thousands of Bere are already prepared to cut them off and defend the city to the death. The siege will be one of the most important carried out by the Paien in their entire existence. The Berik and the Aragoneses will fight alongside the Galego.

When the Paios manage to reach the walls of the city, after having crossed various palisades and many other moats, they launch one and another regular assault with all the luxury of military devices: wooden towers, springboards, etc... Underground galleries appear in each side.

But despite all their efforts the Paios are unable to place any of the soldiers, alive, on the other side of the old walls...

Galguntza is covered in Glory!

Finally Agabon "The good city" also called Eguberi "The light of the Bere", expressions that today in Basque remember Christmas, falls into the hands of the Paio/Africans, when few men are left alive inside their streets and houses.

While the Paios finish off the wounded, the old people and the children, the city's pipe band, the Zarabetuari, play the Gorazar for the last time .

The human losses are high on both sides and the heroic resistance of the unfortunate city will be known to the ends of the East.

The Arabs will sing it in their Legends and songs, swearing that one day they will avenge their dead... As Alexandre predicted that in the course of his Third Life he would return to Zaragose, one of the Gates ordered to be built by HIM, oriented in the direction where it would appear, and it continued to be called ironically the Gate of Alexandre. In front of it the Paios dug a deep pit solidified in stone work, destined to throw alive into it anyone who recognized themselves as a Believer in God and waited for the Messiah...

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

It was called the "Doomsday Pit."

Nearby the inevitable and obligatory Circus was built so that the youth would get used to seeing blood flow and killing.

The city recovered its name Paio de Pailar.

Around the year 204 BC the Paios were annihilated thanks to a population uprising and the help of the heroic warriors of the Bebazter Erreinu "Separate Kingdom of the Bere", created a few years earlier.

The joy in Zaragosse is enormous and the Bere and Berun of the mountains embrace the Pueblo of the Martyr city.

The aforementioned Kingdom had its Capital in what is now Barbastro, comprising all the lands north of the Alcanadre River. The Noguera Ribagorzana River served as its eastern border. It lasted until the arrival of the Arabs, with whom they gladly allied themselves.

The Romans, upon transforming from Bere to Pagans, occupied the city with the aim of converting it into a Strong Plaza.

In the year 329/330 of this Era, its population rose up against the Roman Legions because they resisted abandoning the city and the rest of the Iberian Peninsula. Liquidated in their barracks and expelled from the walls, the Romans laid siege to the city which lasted two years without receiving any food from outside. The punishment inflicted on its population, after being occupied by these Paio/Romans, was such that only a few hundred people were left alive among the military and civilian prisoners.

That is when the Ancient people of Alexandre... the people of God... commanded no doubt by the Spirit of the Messiah, come rushing to save their brothers...

It is the Glorious feat of the Gots...! (here also called Goths)

When the Arabs arrived in Zaragosse, its population warmly fraternized with them, because in addition to being liberators, the

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Muslims are considered the descendants of the very ancient Arabs, the first settlers of their land. Likewise, without a doubt, they were sent from God, since this was how the Old Scriptures were fulfilled. Both the population of the city and that of all of Aragon volunteered to fight against Charlemagne's hosts, who suffered a serious defeat at the gates of the city and then, pursued relentlessly, were completely annihilated in Roncesvalles (year 778). .

DAMASKU XAMU

City created by the Ban with the name of Seiri "It is a city", where the Arabs took in the year 900 of the Marias or 9976 BC, the sarcophagus of Maria Ian Betistu, the Ramadame (Madame God), after the Coup that caused enormous landslides in the great Necropolis of Balbek.

They wanted the entire city to serve as custody of the new green Tomb of the Mother of God and for this purpose they built the Sepulcher inside a Hermitage.

Such Sepulcher then received the name Damasku, which was later applied to the same city.

And as has happened many times, the displaced name of Seiri has been used to designate the lands under the administration of the new Holy City. Then Sirie was pronounced "Land of Siri." From that moment on, the city of Damascus will be visited by pilgrims coming from all the lands of the Arabs and the Ban.

Attacked several times by the Pantekos, the Armenians, the Titos and the Palestinians, peoples always obedient to the orders of the Pare, she manages to reject all attempts to subdue her.

Some Arab Emirs distinguish themselves in their defense, acquiring great fame. One of them annihilates 5 Palestinian battalions in a difficult mountain pass. Pushing his brave warriors towards the coast, he occupied the port city of Kaipa (today Haifa), taking prisoners several Pare gathered there to celebrate one of their Festivals. This port would remain in the hands of the Emirate of Damascus for some years.

Around the year 5618 BC, the Paio Empire decided to destroy the Holy City. An army of 35,000 soldiers is heading towards the plain of the Xanarabek. It is made up of Titos, Armenians, Persians, Palestinians, Ethiopians, Egyptians, Sudanese, Palenies, Libyans and Paiatzos.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Damasku will be defended by 9000 warriors, on foot and on horseback. The Naguzi who commands them is Emir Gartsun. Damasku is completely fenced.

Before starting any assault on the walls, the Paios pollute the waters of the river that enters the city to supply fresh water to all the houses.

There is therefore no possibility of resisting a long siege.

The operations take place in a single battle, beginning at dawn and ending when the sun disappears behind a hill.

The Arabs leave through the three gates of the city and in three separate columns march in the direction of the Paios. The shock is tremendous. After each attack the Arabs retrace their steps, rest for a few moments, heal their wounds a little and launch themselves into the attack again.

As night falls the Paios know that they have won the battle but they do not dare to enter the city. They will do it the following noon.

According to them, the Arab casualties reached about 7,000 warriors, including dead and seriously wounded, who then succumbed. They were only able to take 2,000 completely exhausted and mostly wounded prisoners, who were immediately drugged and castrated and then sent as slaves to the homes of the Palestinians and Titos, who wanted them for field and domestic work.

The non-belligerent male children were eaten by the Titos and the very young ones by the Peers. They also both devoured several young women, not virgins. The rest were given to the officers.

The virgins remained the property of the Peers.

The Damascenas were blonde with blue eyes and very plump, according to the Paios. They also add that the Arabs were very hard on them, too hard, since "an amount equivalent to half of what they lost in human lives" died, this being very insulting to the Imperial army.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The purpose of the Paios, in wanting to conquer Damasku, was to appropriate the Tomb of Mary to destroy it. And that's what they did or thought they were doing.

However, they never suspected that they would be victims of deception, since they burned the coffin not with Mary's remains but with the bones of a poor old woman.

The real Coffin had been placed at the bottom of an underground gallery whose entrance was well walled by the basin of a marble fountain of fossils. The works were carried out with the help of Paios prisoners and once they finished them they poisoned themselves, according to their custom. Well, they themselves chose that way of dying instead of working all their lives as slaves, on the condition of course that their bodies were not burned but buried in a grave next to the secret room where Mary's tomb was located.

When the Arabs were sure of the preparation of a great military expedition against the city, they thought that this system would be the most convenient to prevent the Paios from achieving their main objective.

They built the false coffin of identical material, dimension and presentation. The change was made in a single night, allowing the faithful to worship the false one for a few months so that no Paio spy would suspect anything.

In the year 3587 BC Alexandre triumphantly enters the city, which after its occupation by the Paios had been called Xanan "On the plain."

He returns its name of Damasku "It is the Lady's Sepulcher" said by some Damas "It is the Lady's " or Lebanon lasts more than 3000 years). The entire population prostrates before the Sacred Coffin incorrupt while God Be surrounds it with his open arms.

Then Alexandre is cheered wildly. He then ordered the construction of a large Maitzketa (Mosque) to remember the ancient Necropolis of Balbek.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Remains of the columns erected in Alexander's time can still be seen in Damascus. They are thrown to the ground and are used for children to play on, this treatment being certainly much better than that suffered by other archaeological remains closer to my study table, used as dunghills and garbage dumps.

Damascus will be the Capital of the Kingdom of Gole while Alexandre founds Babel. In any case, it will continue to be the Spiritual Capital of the Kingdom of God and of all Arabs and Lebanese.

At that time, the silk industries were highly developed, with the manufacture of the famous Berokar or Berokardi fabric, and the Suk (melters). Damasku was perhaps the greatest eastern manufacturer of gold jewelry. Agriculture received a great boost with the breeding of silkworms and the plantations of apricot and peach trees, ordered by Alexandre.

After the murder of God in March 3544 BC, the city fell into the power of the armies of the murderer Iurri, due to an uprising hatched from within.

King Al Raman frees her from the Paio yoke, thanks to the help of the Durutzi, that is, the ancient guardians of the Tomb of Mary.

He, having previously proclaimed himself King of Syria in Beirut, ratified the aforementioned tribe as Guardian of Eternal Life of the Famous Sepulcher that the Paiois did not dare to desecrate.

After the occupation of Beirut by the Mede Empire, the green coffin of Maria Ian Betistu is hidden again under the floor of the Maitzketa, inside a secret chamber. On the upper floor, on tiles covered with large silk tapestries, the faithful must kneel right above Mary's tomb.

From this moment comes the custom of leaving shoes outside the large worship hall so as not to wear out the tapestries, but since the pilgrims almost always had very dirty and smelly feet, they were forced to wash them beforehand.

In ancient times the Paiois created a province within Syrian territory and called it Panicie.

Now, thanks to the help of the Mede, that is, of Rome, the Panicie will compete in fame with the Fine Arts and the brilliant civilization radiated from Damascus to all the lands of Syria or Lebanon.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The capital of the aforementioned province is the city of PANIS, built by the Paios almost in the desert.

From now on, all saboteurs, criminals, thieves and traitors who will disturb the peace of the Holy City will come from the pagan Panis.

Damasku then begins a slow decline. When the Panicie reaches its greatest splendor, Damasku, on the contrary, is in a very precarious situation, so a war planned by the Paniz and equipped by Rome ends with the Syrian Kingdom and the freedom of Damascus.

Once again the Paios try to seize Mary's Coffin, which according to certain rumors is well hidden underground.

They want to take him to Panis and that's what they do. Maybe they find a false one or they don't see anything and say they have discovered it. However, they announce their transfer to Panis.

To demonstrate the veracity of their statements, they have the audacity to place a supposed Coffin of Mary in the middle of a Tanpale (Temple), rendering a grotesque cult to her in an attempt to destroy the true image of the Mother of God and the Faith of those Bain and Syrians who could come to believe in the authenticity of the exposed remains.

The city of Panis, also called Panisa, was then known as Palemere (later pronounced Palmire) , meaning "Mother of the Pale", being something surprising and unheard of in Paganism. If the Paios really discovered a Coffin in Damasku, as they explained, it did not contain the remains of Mary, but, in the opinion of the Arabs and especially the Durutzi, the bones of a dog that had died of scabies a few months before. Once again the authentic Coffin had been hidden and apparently in a very clever way. When the Mede Empire succumbed, the Arabs liberated the entire territory of Grande Sirie, the ancient land of Tarsais and Egypt.

Curiously, Mary's Coffin could not be extracted from under the floor of the Maizkita, where the Arabs claimed to still be found, since despite all the investigations and excavations, the secret chamber was not found. It was said that Mary would surely be tired from climbing to the surface of the Holy Place and then descending to the darkness of the interior of the earth and fed up with the Arabs, incapable of maintaining the inviolability of her Sepulchre, she preferred to stay where they would not see her blush with shame.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The faithful then had to continue kneeling on the ground where the Famous Sepulcher of the Mother of Bedu Men was supposed to be located underneath, perhaps at great depth. These were content to kiss the tapestries or tiles that covered the large room of the Maizkita.

With the arrival of the Païen Empire , the power of the Pañicas increased . Damascus and all of Syria were threatened, to the northwest by Panicie reborn along the coast, and to the southwest by Palestine, this old enemy of Syria.

Indeed, Syria soon loses all its coastal cities, leaving only the interior lands. Damascus is its capital. Allied with the most prominent Emirates and Arab Chiefs, it continually wars against the Pagans.

Unfortunately it falls back into the power of the Païos after having fought bravely against a coalition of Paniz, Palestinians, Egyptians and Païen.

They all search everywhere for Mary's Coffin, making numerous excavations, but it does not appear.

Finally, very upset, they order the complete collapse of Maizkita and also, to punish the Damascenes, they prohibit prayers near its ruins.

As the Syrians or Syriacs (so called by the Païos) explain to the Païen, the Arabs must have taken Mary's Coffin to a secret place while they made people believe that it was under the floor of the Moske.

The Païen then called the city Chanan (later mistakenly pronounced and spelled Chanaan or Canan or Canaan by theologians. The Canaanites or Canaanites of the Judeo/Pagan Bible were the Damascenes).

Several Legends were created regarding the Mystery of Mary's Green Coffin. The Arabs, stubborn, did not stop their pilgrimages to the Holy City.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Their prayers, in the form of almost silent murmurs, were directed towards the enormous ruins that they kissed with great fervor at night.

Suddenly news emerges: Mary's tomb has been found in a territory located on the banks of the Zangros River (today mistakenly called Tigris), belonging entirely to the Kure, which is why it has taken the name of Kurdistan "It is property of the priests.

They claim that the Arabs must have brought the coffin there when Damascus fell into the power of the Paniz. It was in a Zul or Zulo (small underground cave). A large square Moske (tomb) would be built so that the thousands of faithful, who would surely arrive soon, could visit it.

The city created around it takes the name of the new Sepulcher: Muzul (today Mossoul or Mosul).

The Arabs will be quite suspicious of such statements, thinking, not without reason, that said tomb is a hoax. They believed that the Kures were actually pursuing two objectives: the first was to suppress the fame and preponderance of Damasku and the second was to obtain the benefits that belief in and love for Mary could provide them. This fact, having its importance, occurred between the years 800 and 787 BC.

The Kures tried to create a new Religion, using Mary as bait, but also Iezus. It was the first time in the history of this terrestrial globe that they were going to use the most fabulous and famous characters of the Bere, for their own purposes, in an attempt to deceive future generations, knowing that they had a lot of time until the arrival of the Messiah, who would restore the Truth or suppress all life on Earth.

However, they did not want to put Alexandre's name in their mouths, because of the great defeat suffered in Troia by their predecessors. The priests of this Religion will be called Muzulman "Mandados de Muzul". The famous Al Kurani was then written in Muzul, which mixed several passages from early Bible with Pagan vocabulary.

This new Book, considered Sacred, much later became the Koran, when it was translated and greatly retouched by the Prophet Mahammed, in order to adapt it to the winds that blew in his time.

When the Bere Romans arrived in Beirut they immediately headed to Chanana, where they were received with great displays of joy.

All the Paioi, whether Palestinian, Egyptian or Panician, were expelled from the lands of the Kingdom. The city recovered its old name of Damascus and was the Seat of a great Arab Kingdom going from Akaaba (Aqaba) to Antiochos (Antiochos) and from Beirut to Kirkuk and Bender.

The new Bere branded the Muzulman Religion as pagan and heretical. Therefore Al Kurani was modified, deleting some passages where the magnificences of SolRa were worshiped and false interpretations were given about the Life of Mary and Iezus reincarnated in Alexandre.

He had also tried to make people believe that the future Messiah would be none other than a Prophet, who would suddenly receive a Divine inspiration emanating from Almighty God. Consequently, several paragraphs from the Bible Troiana were introduced into it, especially regarding the person of the true Messiah and the main object of his Final Judgment.

The new Book, in turn considered Sacred, was called Damaskuen Al Kurani. It was sold at a very high price, but the many pilgrims who flocked again to Damasku to kiss the ruins of their ancient Moske were content to acquire just a page, a paragraph or a line, which the Chanman or transcribers sold as a faithful reproduction of the Book.

I think that as they went along, each one of them invented Berse or Bersetaz or Bersekulos (verses), corrected them or deleted them.

Mahammed read this Book several times, before going to study in his cave the manuscripts found by a shepherd in a very ancient tomb.

Skiping many other incidents, Damascus was incorporated into the Byzantine Empire until the year 635 of this Era when it was liberated again by the Arabs. In 661 it was the Seat of a Great Empire called the Umayyads (and I do not want to comment on the origin of this name, also very old, so as not to elaborate further) or of the Great Caliphate of Damascus. When carrying out certain excavations, at the time of carrying out the last works on the Great Mosque, the Coffin of a certain Juan Baptiste or Juan Bautista was found (as they now say).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Naturally, I immediately linked the name (apparently the first and last name of someone considered a Saint) with that of Maria Ian Betistu.

I cannot omit to say, when dealing with the History of Damascus and the formidable personality that Mary had, that the invention (dating only 1200 years) of pretending a Jewish origin to Mary and Iesus as well, is the most colossal blasphemy uttered until now. now.

Never would the Ancients have imagined future humans spreading such nonsense.

It seems unbelievable that the few Bere still existing and the Berun in good faith are capable of consenting to teach such a monstrosity to their own children. Which is why the curse has fallen forever on the Bere or Arab peoples, equally guilty of spreading this injurious falsehood throughout the face of the Earth. Well, they made it their own, showing that today they are as pagan and as heretical as the pagans themselves...

History has shown that lies cannot be fought only with the cutlass because although it is true that the Muslims built a great Empire with the purpose of destroying certain heresies and a great falsehood created regarding the Messiah, they did not stop following the wrong path of the paganism and the enemies of the Arab people...

In the year 1516 Damasku fell into the power of the Turkish Empire and on October 1, 1918 it was liberated by the Emir Faisal of Hedjaz who proclaimed himself King of Syria on March 12, 1920, despite great opposition and pressure from the French, eager to take over all of Syria... for free. King Faisal thus fulfilled (unknowingly) a Divine Mandate provided for by the primitive Bible. However, on July 30, 1920, after a bloody battle, he was expelled from his own Kingdom by the French, as well as his entire family and his son born in Damascus, thus becoming Emir of Damascus and Syria.

The King will finally be assassinated in the most cowardly and shameful way, on September 8, 1933, precisely to prevent said Hereditary Emir from being proclaimed King of Syria in a piece of Syrian territory occupied by the Kurds (allies and friends of Faisal, who in at that time he was King of Iraq) and the soldiers of his own army.

The French introduced their revolutionary atheism into the city and the nation that they divided into two, Syria and Lebanon, later bearing good fruit, as it did in almost all the lands they set foot on... In 1941 the city of Damascus fell into the hands of the English, and the French, not being sure of the intentions of those fans of the monarchy, rushed to imprison the Emir of Syria (after his frustrated execution in order to prevent him from recovering the Crown). of his maternal grandfather) with a false, ridiculous and shameful accusation. They wanted to suppress any chance he had of getting the Syrian Throne, rightfully his.

In 1946, Syria was liberated from the French and Damascus has since been the Capital of a State, but this new Syria has lost its great maritime province, Lebanon, and several other arbitrarily taken territories. Divide and conquer and then humiliate and rule. And I will end with a paragraph from the Kurani of Damasku:

"Pagan...! God warned you not to divide and bloody the lands of Lebanon, Syria and Tarsais... Now he no longer warns you of anything... He does not threaten you to stop your arm, your tongue or your pen... Your punishment is already established... Blessed will be the true Believers, who will be able to witness it before they die, since you will never be able, at any time, to stop the sand of time..."

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

IONIS

Today San Juan de las Abadeses. Town that owes its existence to being on its site where King Dardanos of Serdanie and Pubele Iuliete of Auso, daughter of King Iulius of Ausetanie, were married .

At the time of the wedding it was an uninhabited place called Terares. The date of such a famous event: June 23/24, 3588 BC, being Alexandre Auguzaita (the Godfather) of Dardanos.

Since then and for this reason, he will often be called Sezar Auguzaita or Auguzta.

When Ion or Ian returns from his trip around the Globe and finds that he cannot Reign in his own Kingdom, having abandoned it for 68 years, he spends the last years of his life dedicated to the task of having a magnificent Sepulcher built (of which I have seen, I believe, a very old reproduction) right next to the exact place where one day he set up his tent to join the Pubele Iuliete. This place had been marked by the Abe, who planted a Kade tree when the King of Sardenie and Itole died.

Dardanos covers the costs of the construction of his Sepulcher with the gold and precious stones he brings from Asia and Amerik.

Upon his death, on July 4, 3505 BC, his body was placed in the Sepulcher (80 years after the founding of Iruma).

From that moment on, the population of Sacramental Ministers, Abe, stonemasons, sculptors, artists, wheelwrights, muleteers, innkeepers, tailors and other artisans and peasants, residing around the Sepulchre, will form a town that will go down in History with the name of Ionis. (sometimes also called Ionkuis) since Dardanos, when he married, was called that, before his death and to all people he was known as Ion, Ian or Iuan. Therefore once he died he was Saint Iuan.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The town of Ionis is then considered Holy, acquiring great importance. His Sepulcher is constantly visited by numerous pilgrims who from Olot take the brand new and famous Bian road "Via de Ian" (the lands crossed by the road will be called Bianie) ordered to be built by King Ian in 3515 BC (at the expense of himself) and finished I think 2 years before its death.

When the Medie occupies the maritime part of the Kingdom of Serdanie (up to and including Olot) the town of Ionis continues in power of what remains of the Kingdom, whose capital is transferred to Berga.

It tenaciously resisted the attacks of the Paien Empire, after recovering the ancient Paio town of Iripaio, then called Iripollo (Ripoll), and the entire extension of the no less ancient province of Paiaretsi.

Finally, unable to hold out any longer, due to the total shortage of provisions, he offers to surrender with one and only condition: that of respecting the Tomb of Saint Ian, otherwise its inhabitants will set fire to the houses, with their furniture and roofs, and they will throw themselves into the flames. The Paien were surprised by the proposal of the Ionin or lonkin, because they, with their Paia mentality, thought that they were going to buy their lives in exchange for the reputedly invaluable treasure of the Tomb of Saint Ian.

As the "terrible, ferocious, savage, tall and stubborn Catelan, throwers of the martinet at incredible distances" were lurking in the surrounding mountains, the Paien preferred to accept such a condition rather than having to deal later and constantly with those Sebe "sons of the Be."

The Cult of Saint John was interrupted, but the Paios respected the Sacred Sepulcher of the Magus King (Mago meant "Of God and Mary").

The Catelans liberate the population from the Paia occupation, reestablishing the Cult of the Tomb of the Founder of Rome. At that time "The fabulous Sepulcher of Saint Ian" was considered the number one of all those on Earth, since that of Iezus had been destroyed and emptied of its remains.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

At his death Alexandre did not have any Sepulchre, his body being cremated.

Karistio, also called San Pabelo (Saint Paul), visits the Holy Town and asks permission to prostrate himself before the Sepulcher of Saint John (he came from Olot and passed along the Bianie road).

As he could not preach his new Religion within the fortified enclosure of the town, he established on the outskirts of the walls a small Hermitage dedicated to the Holy Trinity (that is, to the three Lives of God), where later, and in memory of his passage, a Christian Church called Saint Paul (pronounced Sen Pol by the French) would be built. It was abandoned and was in ruins.

A few years ago it began to be restored but soon the work
They ceased.

In the year 713/730, Ionis is occupied by the Arabs. They kneel before the paternal Tomb of the Great King of the Arabs, Al-Raman.

Around them they place numerous gifts, consisting of valuable tapestries and silver objects.

Abd Al-Rahman I The Just (756/788) can embrace the Tomb of his ancient Grandfather, since King Dardanos, when giving an Arabic name to his son of Arabia (meaning "The Power of God"), created the Noble Family of the Al Raman, which continued to exist until the Glorious moment of the return of the Arabs to the Sacred land of Iberia. Abd Al-Rahman places his offerings on the grave. One of them is a Maria with her Iezus, found by the Arabs in the Cathedral of Constantinople. It was said to have been stolen by the Paio-Romans from the tomb of Saint John.

Aware and intrigued by such events, whose origins he did not know, Emperor Charlemagne, between the year 775 and 800, took the Tomb of Dardanos, the Wizard King of Troia and Saint John to the Cologne Cathedral. In exchange, he defrays the expenses for the construction of an Abbaye, said Abadie in Catalan, raising his Altar very close to the place where the Sepulcher of Saint John was. The works were completed shortly before the Emperor died, that is, in 813/814.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

After the completion of the Abadie, the town of Ionis was renamed Sant Joan Abadesenc.

The Abadie was then entrusted to a French Mother Superior from the Abbaye de Saint-Germain-des-Prés in Paris. Well, she or her mother had been born in Ionis or in its surroundings.

Between the years 822 and 852 the town of San Joan is occupied again by the Arabs who suppress the Catholic Cult and build a Minaret. The Abadesences are expelled.

In the year 882, and with King Carloman of France reigning, the Mother Superior, still alive, wrote to the King of France so that the Crown would pay for the repair works of the Abbey, "in order to suppress the desecrations committed by the Saracens." » (the word Saracen, Sarrasin in French, comes from Zarasein "The Tsar child" or "sons of the Tsar" and under this appellation all the Believers were placed, who, especially after the year 630, assured that the Messiah was not had yet arrived and when such a happy event occurred he would be known as the Tsar of the Ele, as it was written. The Zarasein declared holy war on the Christians for claiming that Christ was the Messiah).

The King responds favorably to his request by sending him an Architect from Paris. He brings in stonecutters from the quarry that supplied the Abbey of Saint-Germain-des-Prés with cut stones.

The Mother Superior dies before the works are completed and is buried under the High Altar.

The renovation works were completed around the year 900. Several monks from Lyon and other places in France came to its inauguration, taking charge of the Abadie. They died in the town. They are buried in the walls of the current Monastery.

King Jaume I of Aragon obtained the transfer of the Abadie and its assets, from the Crown of France to the Crown of Aragon, in the year 1213, being handed over to Catalan monks who from that moment changed the name of Abadie. for that of Monastir.

Since 1492 the town has had its current Castilian name and also pronounced in the Catalan way.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

About the Town of San Juan I have read manuscripts referring to wars and guerrillas developed in its surroundings, from the 16th century to the last century.

I take this opportunity to talk about this town to say the following. The old bridge (the third that it had) recently restored is a magnificent example of what would have to be done with all the archaeological remains, since the important thing is to preserve, not the original stones (many times very deteriorated or pitted by stone disease). , but the Art and Spirit of the people who created such stone works. That is to say, it would be necessary above all to always keep in mind the Testimony and Message of the Ancient and Very Ancient Peoples.

IRUMA

"Tres Marias" - city founded by King Dardanos of Serdanie and his wife Queen Iulia on the 12th of Sebotenpber in the year 5 of Troia or July 5, 3585 BC (on a day of good sun and in the morning) to be the Kapitol of the cities Ber, Ban and Pueblo of the region that from that moment on would take the name of Itolie (Italie or Italy). In April 3584 BC, King Dardanos proclaims his wife Iuliete as Regent of the Kingdom of Serdanie and the Kingdom of Itolie, until his son comes of age, in case something happens to him and he does not return. In the year 22 of Troia, that is, 3568 BC and in the city of Iruma, Irumaluz Iulius is acclaimed King of Serdanie or Sardenie and King of Itolie, jointly. He is 19 years old.

Coins with a double effigy were minted due to his status as a double King. His father, King Dardanos, now only called Ian, the new King will also bear the name of King Ianus. In May 3554 BC the King was assassinated by a henchman of Pare Didie el Txato. This one had that nickname because he belonged to the Panie racial group, almost all of whom were flat, that is, with a flattened nose.

To punish the crime perpetrated on the person of the son of the ancient Magician King and Troian companion, the Gallic King Bitureigi raises a large army, laying siege to the city of Iruma (?July 15, 3554 BC). After a very hard winter and after nine months the Kapitolinos of Didié el Chato must surrender (?April 15, 3553 BC).

Bitureigi makes the very serious mistake of not having Pare Didié or Didier executed, and all the Païos who helped him assassinate the "King of Iruma" and occupy the city. In exchange, he demands a large ransom in gold, thinking that Didié will not be able to raise such an amount (being in those lands he would remember the unfortunate King Baneitu).

Thus Bitureigi would be left with insufficient gold and on top of that he would send the Païos to forced labor.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

But to his great surprise, Didié brings the requested amount in carts, without missing a single coin.

As Bitureigi orders the coins to be counted one by one, seeming to doubt that they were all there, Didié, taking out his gold sword from his belt, throws it over the coins, saying to the Wizard King:

– Just in case one has been lost when handling them or they have lost weight by keeping them locked up for 36 years, here is my sword which weighs a hundred coins and is worth a thousand, since I carried it in Troia.

Didié's gesture wanted to make Bitureigi see that a Pare could always have a lot of gold and if he took his life, others would appear with enough coins to raise any army of mercenaries and confront the Bere again. Bitureigi was satisfied, allowing Didié and all of his people to leave the city alive. A word from Galo was a valid word... He

It wasn't Paio.

The inhabitants of Iruma, then called Kapitolinos, when they surrendered to Bitureigi, it was said that Kapitular "surrendered the capital" or Kapitularon "surrendered the capital by force." King Bitureigi then establishes Tarkinus Suberdeus as King of Etâ Irutzk, with its capital in Iruma. He was 34 years old. He was the son of Tarkinus, Grand Captain of Alexandre, victor of the Ateman and Tsar of Galilee.

In the year 40 of Troia, 3550 BC, Pare Didie the Flat has King Tarkinus Suberdeus murdered, once again taking over the city of Iruma. He orders the execution of the Bere Kapitولينos.

According to Didié, the city will once again be the capital of Itolie, that is, of all the cities that originally formed that Kingdom in the times of Irumaluz or Irumalus. But the Bans express their determination to never follow the orders of a Pare murderer.

Consequently, Didié declares war on them, announcing her intention to carry it out until the destruction of Alba Ateye. For this reason, from now on, Capitol will not bear the name from Iruma «Tres Marías» but from Aroma «Pueblo de María» because the Pare, twice murderer of Kings, although he admits that the Kapitolinos Pueblo can be respectful of the Memory of the Grandmother Venerated by the Bere in general, they have no need to worship the particular Grandmother of the Ban, when these show themselves so unsubmitive Didié draws the boundaries of her lands around Aroma, placing them in an arc-shaped area going from sea to sea.

Seeing how his guerrillas against the Ban of Alba Ateye are progressing, how the Pueblo populations of the city seem to conform and how no one comes to those lands to stop him, he becomes emboldened and decides to proceed again with a "small" modification of the name of the Kapitol.

According to their criteria, this will not be a city of Mary from now on, since that Mother no longer has children in her lands... He was then announced as the First Pantificis of Rome. (year 41 of Troia, March 2, 3549 BC).

The Peers will always consider such date as that of the founding of Rome and so that the fact remains in History they establish a new calendar in which they begin to count the years of their nascent Post-Troian or Pagan Era from the aforementioned year and from the month of March that will recover its old name of Ramo (Amo Ra). The Bere, at first, did not want to pronounce the name of Rome, considering it blasphemous. They continued to call the city Iruma or Aroma or the Kapitol of Itolie. But the tragic death of Peiduru, by giving so much publicity to the name of Rome, made us forget its defamatory origins.

In the year 7 of Rome, 47 of Troia, the Roman Pollakis revolted, proclaiming himself Tsar of Aroma. Of Polish origin, he was born in Iruma. But his reign was short, because the following year, Pare Didié (being like all his masters in the Art of Power) poisoned Tsar Pollakis (the third King he murdered), thus recovering his Pantificis Throne.

The city is called Rome again and will never change its name again, continuing with the same name until the Last Judgment. Didié mobilized his people for a relentless fight against the Bere of the surrounding towns and especially against the Ban of Alba Ateye.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

He wants to cut their throats at all costs for being the ones who helped Pollakis.

Finally, in the 10th year of Rome and the 50th of Troia, Didié el Chato takes the citadel of Alba Ateye, kills all the men and boys, puts the women in slavery for life and reserves the virgin girls for himself.

After the death of Didié el Chato, another even more bloodthirsty Pare, called Titus, succeeded him, thus being the Second Pontificis of Rome.

During his mandate and thanks to him, Rome was going to acquire great celebrity, which would consecrate it until now as a city "Marked by God."

Indeed, since the year 100 of Troia, a rumor has circulated through the streets of Rome. In the Gole there is a Prophet called Daki, a native of the Martyr town of Alamatago (called Paieduru by the Peers) where he saw the day for the first time the same year (perhaps the same day) that the Tarteos burned it.

Such a Prophet claims that the Messiah, that is, God Reincarnated for the Third Time on this Earth in order to fulfill his Fourth Life, will appear in the year 110 of Troia, surely in the city of Rome. Well, the Bibele inexplicably mentioned that the most visible reference to recognize the Messiah would be his name "from Rome" or the fact that he "is from Rome."

Even, carefully exploring the possibilities of interpretation of the original Anere text, it was clearly read "that he would be the heir of Rome", allowing us to assume that he would be born into a Royal family, being logical due to his status as a permanent Royal or Imperial Heir.

Then Tito invites Daki to move to Rome. Before all the Romans he challenges him to prove his sayings. He assures him that no one is going to stop him, quite the contrary, if he tells all the people, there in his land, that the Messiah must appear in Rome, he asks him to wait for him in this city... To this end and during the Year 110 you will be able to look for it in the streets and houses of those who will open the door and that with complete freedom of movement.

At the moment of finding the Messiah he will lead him into his presence. If you are convinced of its existence, you will have no problem doing change the Pagan Religion, then admitting the Lordship of God Be over the Earth and conforming to his Final Judgment.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Prophet Daki was called by the Paieduru Arraintzale Peers
"the fisherman from Paiedura" as Paiedura is the name Paio de Alamatago.

However, the Argolu, not wanting to use such a nickname because of the "Pai", call it Peiduru and it is with this name that it will become very famous. The qualification of fisherman was due to the profession learned from his adoptive parents, who picked him up from the flames of the Martyr Alamatago.

The Peiduru thus arrived in Rome at the end of December 3481 BC.

Throughout the Troian year (not starting on the same date as the Pagan year) he is cornered by suspicious crowds. They laugh at his predictions, mock his certainties, insult him... But he also realizes that every day the number of believers is increasing. Many of them, with blind Faith, will follow him to the end.

At the end of the Troian year 110, (being the 70th of Rome) on the 11th day of the month of Lots, that is, the current December 25 of the year 3480 BC, the Peiduru Arraintzale or Prophet Daki is captured at night while he was hiding in the basements of an old Lotecie. A Paio snitch, pretending to be a convert to the Faith of God, betrayed him. Along with Daki, more than a hundred people ended up that night in the dungeons reserved for this purpose for a long time by Pare Tito. He wanted to take advantage of the Prophet's arrest to carry out a proper "cleansing" of the city and in the following days his guards arrested numerous believers.

He expressed his willingness to give a good lesson to the foolish followers of the Prophet, ensuring that it was necessary to annihilate forever all the Bere or Puebleu believers still residing in Rome and Italy, which was growing bigger every day thanks to the constant wars waged by his Legions to the lands of the Etairutzkos.

For this purpose and to satisfy the ancient tastes of the Peers and Lords, Titus had ordered the construction of a large circus. It would be the famous and bloody Serkus, pronounced and written soon Sircus or Circus or Aroen "it is our circle" or "our hoop." Circus is said now

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

"circus" and Aroen pronounces and writes "sand." The Paio circus came from Patagonie. The sacrifice of the Torer and then of the White Martyrs, represented the ultimate entertainment, the entertainment par excellence imposed by the Peers on the Paia race, at the expense of the Believers in God.

Its raison d'être was above all to awaken and invigorate the criminal instincts of its soldiers and officials, always invited to witness such massacres. Thus little by little they would stop feeling disgust when cutting the throat of a man, a woman, a Bere child or a believing Pueblelu.

Titus preferred to keep the Prophet imprisoned for 8 years rather than execute him immediately, as he wanted his circus to be finished for such an occasion. It was whispered that he gave time to time in case something happened and the Messiah appeared suddenly, although he knew very well that the Ancient Scriptures spoke of a much longer period of time for his Resurrection and Final Judgment. So Dakio had been wrong.

The 55 with a bar above it, from the Anere texts, did not mean 110 years but 5555 years. However, there was a certain confusion in the Peers' news, since they did not know exactly from what date the account began. Apparently only the Iudas knew this information.

In the year 118 of Troia, 78 of Rome and corresponding to the current calendar, on September 20, 3472 BC, the Peiduru Arraintzale or Prophet Daki or Dakio was roasted alive inside a copper bull (in order to exterminate him inside of the symbol of the Paio). It was the day of the inauguration of the TITUS CIRCUS ROMAN (the same one whose ruins can still be seen, although it has been heavily retouched and poorly repaired). Along with him, 1,176 people, men, women and children, were also executed. One of these, less than 10 years old, who the Guards tried to separate from his mother, did not want to be separated from her, dying bravely at her side.

After the death of Dakio, from that same moment known as Saint Peiduru or Saint Dakio or Saint Eudakio, the Religion called Saint Peiduru or the Mezujaz spread throughout Rome, whose few and primitive components had no other fate than end up in the great Circus, due to the continuous tips of the renegade Palebe, infiltrated in the meetings of the Believers.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

However, after a few centuries and especially among the peasants, the number of followers of that Religion increased significantly, creating serious problems for the Mede Empire, to such an extent that it would be the seed that would one day bring the Paroletariaz Revolution to Rome . "The land is not the property of the Pare."

In the year 100 of Rome, the Pantifikate was transformed into an Empire and it was then called the Mede Empire or of the Medes or Midas or Mediteraneu. It was called this way because it intended to extend to all the flat lands bordering the Paionitxas sea (name according to the old interpretation of the Paio Empire) or Meduitxas (new name given by the Mede).

The Peers assured that at least those should belong to them because before, both the riverside and the interior ones and from any part of the Earth belonged to the Pale or Paio. Not in vain did this Globe carry the name Palaneta ever since.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

KAIDE

Today Cadiz. Solar chosen in the year 10,099 BC by the last Attila (Emperor of the DUCKS), to be the Capital of the new Empire of the Paios.

That one, after the Coup, when heading to Manaus from the distant provinces of Alapanie and Suomen (Lapland and Finland), Suetzie (Sweden and Norway) and those of Paindi (Iceland), Pank (now disappeared), Paikton (England), Paiadi o Upalandi and Paiktaes (Scotland), Paneire (Ireland), Kardepa (Clamorgan and its Port Cardiff in Wales), Karnuaies (Cornwall), which he had just visited in command of an Armada of 97 ships with sails and rowers, and not finding the Atelantiko nor the Urioro Canal and noting the charred, sandy and desert state of the African coast of the current Sahara, he chose to establish his General Headquarters in the place that seemed most appropriate as it was at the intersection of the maritime routes leading to Suetzie, to Egypt and along the African coast. Furthermore, it would be a port with easy defense against any danger from both the sea and the interior.

These were exactly the determining reasons why, from that moment on, the Port of Kaide became the Capital of the Paio Empire – the 2nd Empire of Pa on this Earth. The city of Cádiz has therefore been in existence for more than 12,081 years.

From its founding until Troia, the emblem of the city of Kaide consisted of one or several dolphins.

The name dolphin comes from Adelu Pain, that is, "Adorno de la Panie", in the sense of an emblem or symbol. Indeed the dolphins, very numerous, jumping over the waves in front of the city docks, adorned all the coins, drawings or sculptures produced in Kaide.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

They always represented this city. Reason why it can be considered that the coins with dolphins, before Troianas, preserved in Museums, private collections and in places yet to be discovered, were minted in Kaide, the proud Capital in its day Owner and Sovereign of the 100 most famous cities of Antiquity (after Troia the dolphins surrounding the figures on the coins of some of these cities symbolized the submission of the Paios to the Bere Power). Its greatest fame, in addition to being considered a very safe port, was for its Imperial Palace. Before Troia, the Paios always said that their audience and private halls, as well as their numerous corridors, were paved with gold coins placed on edge and if all these coins had been placed flat, one following the other, as the beads of a necklace, it could go around the Panintzula (later called the Iberian Peninsula). They wanted to imitate what was done in the past in the Palace of Manaus, with the difference that there the coins were "a thousand times more."

The last Mendon Paio residing in Kaide's Palace was Omaitzoi, who died far from him for not understanding in time that his Empire had completely collapsed in the Troia Fortress. The Bere gave the Palace the name Suduma or Sudoma (Palace of the Sun or Palace of the Emperor).

Another fame of the port city of Kaide was its sailors. The Paios themselves claimed to be the best on Earth, their two feats being, one: the mail ship called Kaizurdea "El Delfín de Cádiz", which made the round trip to the port of Kaire in nine days, and the other the Karapaiotu Gure Adien (the marine knot).

And finally Kaide enjoyed a great reputation due to his famous Karnibalitz (Carnival), a name with the meaning of "Costumes of the land of the Blacks" (and not the nonsense invented to justify his criticism and often his prohibition, of "meat below" or something related to the flesh. This Festival had nothing carnal but on the contrary was very spiritual).

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

The Carnival came from the Paleides and is therefore the oldest Festival of Humanity anywhere in Heaven.

Introduced by the Paio in Africa, the blacks celebrated it with great pomp in the most important Ante-Coup cities of Aparika and Sudan, such as Airi – Agadir – Tiris – Apalie – Aogarri – Gapase – Arupeta – Tumbuktu (which had one hundred thousand inhabitants) – Paizan – Kartoum (the largest in Sudan), etc... etc...

(Aparika was mainly North Africa, except Egypt, and Sudan or Sudon the region located south of Aparika, from the Atlantic Ocean to the Red Sea). These cities were based on very rich lands, with green meadows and large forests in their surroundings. Almost the entire current Sahara desert was covered with vast lakes.

Simultaneously, the Paio established this Festival in Japan and Thailand (Japan - Korea - Manchuria - Siberia - China - former French Indochina - Thailand - Malaysia - Burma).

After the Coup (10,099 BC) it was taken to Kaide by the Niger "Black People" and Morros, that is, mestizos from Palestine and Blacks, and to Valencia by the Chinese. The Carnival and the Fallas of Valencia therefore have the same origin and throughout the centuries they represented only the criticism of the people, who had no means of defense against an entire year of Power of the Peers. The Fallas or fixed figures are due on the one hand to the great artistic capacity of the Chinese experts in creating true works of art, therefore preferring such a way of acting and expressing themselves, and on the other hand to the will of the local Peers, eager to know who the authors of the criticism were, to punish them severely if they offended them too much.

However, in Kaide, the Carnival (called Jose "Es Fiesta" in Valencia and, as I have said, Karnibalitz in the Imperial capital) was always presented in motion, since it was the Capital of such a vast Empire, with a population from all countries .

(more than a thousand) and according to many ancient historians, exceeding one hundred thousand inhabitants, it had to be the most living, condescending and "free" of all cities.

Furthermore, that Festival, considered the city's own, could not be discarded. Its great prestige was linked to the Carnival which the Peers boasted about in the provinces to demonstrate the great freedom of expression of the Kaizkars. Both the José and the Karnibalitz had the objective of exhibiting figures or groups of figures, fixed or moving, reproducing the main events that occurred during the year that was ending, presenting them with an extremely mocking meaning, but without offending either the Emperor or the Peers.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Therefore criticism was mainly directed at Governors, mayors, high officials, wealthy merchants and Lords.

The bad harvests, the administrative errors, the physique of the unfriendly characters, the long and disastrous wars, the atmospheric calamities, the excessive taxes greatly increased by the tax collectors, a bridge collapsing shortly after being inaugurated, a Palace that is too superb, expensive or not finishing its construction, having nevertheless caused many victims, the water from the ditches being poorly distributed, the massive delivery of virgins, taking a long time, after having given birth once, to be distributed to the Kanpatxinos who had to settle for a woman old for more than ten of them, incessant epidemics, etc... etc... were the reasons frequently chosen.

In Kaide, every fact, anecdote or event that occurred in the city was reproduced, with all kinds of details, colors and as many characters (if possible) as those actually present in the events referred to.

They were made up and groomed in such a way that they could immediately recognize who they were in.

Each group walked in one piece, considered a feat of great talent. Behind came the Konparse (troupe) or Kontu Kontores "tale of the singers" (for this reason Kontu also came to mean Beware!).

They were groups of very famous singers throughout the Empire, who as they sang parodied (parody comes from Parodei "Turbieza del Pare", that is, the dirty or murky things of the Pare) or mimed what they usually said or did. the local Pare or someone else, sometimes from distant lands, of whom there was mention (or at the instigation of the Emperor or his neighbor taking the opportunity to criticize him) or they expressed reproaches directed at the other authorities. Thus they expressed in a skillful and concealed way,

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Thanks to word games and hand gestures, everything the Masters needed to know was reproached to them.

The people understood very well, sometimes better than those themselves.

The Peers had their spies (their children) listen to the songs closely. These were transmitted to them in a distorted form, sometimes exaggerated, so the bailiffs were in charge of distributing many strokes of the cane on the backs of the singers and spectators, and other times minimized, since the snitches did not dare to tell everything they heard and saw.

In any case, the Peers needed the living mirror of the Carnival. That day they perceived their actions reflected over the course of a year, thus being able to modify and rectify their behaviors if they turned out to be abusive or erroneous.

To demonstrate that the year (the José and the Karnibalitz were celebrated on March 19, the last day of the Paio year) with its bad events would be forgotten, on its last day, in Valencia, all the figures were set on fire and in Kaide The "Criticón" was burned, as the human figures could not be destroyed. However, they were protected by the masks, hiding the identity of the criticizers, who would have quickly slipped away through the crowd that would help them, if pursued by the bailiffs. They wanted to make it very clear that the "Spirit" creator of criticism, represented by a doll in order to be able to burn it, was reduced to "ashes." Thus, the next day, the first day of the Paio year, there would be no memory of the anguish of the previous year.

New year, new hope for the people and their forgiveness for those who for a year humiliated them, robbed them and many times tortured them or made their relatives die.

The fire reaffirmed the lack of resentment towards the Masters and of course they were the ones who always forced the Festival to end with the cremation of the wooden or straw figures or the Palele "The Pale criticón" representing all the critics.

On that new day, called "Day of Ashes" (those had spent the night jumping, dancing, eating and drinking, since the authorities provided rice to prepare the famous Paella and flour for the Patisuxa, the Paitza, the Pastel, etc... so that the people were happy and not too resentful), the artists who created the dolls and the components of the parades, bearers of the Palele, collected the ashes and the offered to the local Pare.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

He symbolically kept them in a piggy bank. In Kaide, once received in a small basin, the Mendon ordered them to go in procession to the beach or cliff to throw them over the waves. The New Year's Eve Party was over. A new year began. But as the reserves of food and drink disappeared in the course of a day and a night, there was nothing left in the pantries.

The hard work should start soon. But the people, exhausted by so many movements and revelry, had no desire to work, their stomachs empty. It was better to take advantage of the Pare's temporary regret for his excesses and heavy hand. Now I would be somewhat compassionate. It would be a good time to go to sleep or snooze for several days like groundhogs do, since in such a situation there was no way to make great efforts.

The Pare would understand. Once rested they would resume the task.

Ah...! But how could they be strong enough, after 8 or 10 days of fasting, to return to work?

The Pare should not think that the fatigue of the farmers, fishermen, workers and municipal employees was fictitious. Then they would do nothing during the day, but at night, instead, they would go out on all fours in search of animals, fish, crustaceans and sea snails.

At the first reflections of dawn they would quickly return to their cabins to sleep and snore.

The Peers were aware of these details but they did not say anything while it was not yet necessary for the presence on their lands to work or at the service of their Masters, of all those hard-working and humble people who had to save food for several months to pay the expenses. of the great Festival.

However, when they judged that the fast had lasted long enough, the foremen, with blows of their clubs, would wake the abstinent from their beds, sending them to work. What I just referring is the true origin of the current "fasts" of certain religions. They had nothing religious at any time in History except from the end of the Païen Empire and during the Roman Empire at the beginning of this Era. Then some old traditions of the towns were collected to put them at the service of the Pagan Religion. However, it fought many of them and especially the Carnival, since such a Festival allowed for very sharp criticism, however hidden, of the lies and falsehoods of that Religion.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

But despite all the obstacles and slander uttered, the people always kept in their minds the memory of the Carnival, because it represented their Spirit, the Spirit of those refractory to Paganism, who did not want to completely give up their body, their heart and their spirit. soul, those who have always been humiliated and trampled throughout the centuries.

The Carnival was the Festival of the Païo people par excellence, demonstrating how despite their defects the Peers and Emperors were more tolerant, within their well-known intolerance, with respect to artists, singers, thinkers and, above all, freedom of expression, than the rulers of the Christian/Pagan/atheist Era. I imagine what the Cádiz Carnival should have been like in 1982, even strictly adhering to what was permissible in those times... Today evidently there is no longer freedom of expression and criticism as in the past...

Out of curiosity I will quote two words used now in the Catalan language that are from that time and refer more or less to Cádiz. One is "Cadire" (chair). It comes from Kaidiri, that is, "from the city of Kaide", to designate the wicker armchairs and chairs, Valencian or Andalusian or Philippine type, being in reality pure Païo style imported here from the Paleïdes. Another "Aram" for copper, a word contracted from the expression Aramo "from the land of the Master", referring to the copper from the mines called today Riotinto. And finally a very common verb in the Spanish language "fallen", from the Betan locution of "kaide" for "being fallen", and "falling", resulting from "Kaiderse", with the translation of "doing like Kaide". Anyone will then understand the origin of the current verb "fall." After the Troiana Victory, Alexandre makes his entrance triumphant in the city of Kaide on May 7, 3589 BC, after having carved the famous marine knot with a single cut with his sword.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

It was included in Betanie, a geographical and political region that was an integral part of the Great Kingdom of Gole or Aragon for almost three centuries.

In this period of time there were many terrorist attacks in the city by rebellious Paios Chiefs who paid any criminals who offered to murder the Bere and burn their crops.

His former Fames were going to be followed by another no less famous one. Indeed, after Troia, instead of the dolphins, the city would be symbolized by the largest statue built by man in Antiquity. It represented Alexandre standing, piercing Kaide's dolphin with his Ortziruko Godin "Trident of God" or Troiana pike with 3 spikes or points.

This emblematic cetacean could no longer jump over the waves of all the seas as before.

It is from the Trident of God, still visible in paintings and sculptures, that the expression of "passing under the Caudines gallows" comes, referring to the situation of someone who would be dominated and humiliated as the Dauphin of Kaide was under the Godin Trident.

The statue stood on a building with a flat terrace roof and facing the sea. For this reason the city of Gade or Gades would be known in all the towns of Antiquity with the name of Kalotsirudi "Place of the famous statue."

Today Official History, not wanting to know anything about the lands here, has invented a Colossus of Rhodes located on the island of Rhodes.

KARTAGO

"Property of God" or "Property of Aragon" (the town of Amposta now stands on its former site).

City founded by Alexandre in the month of March of the year 3589 BC when he was heading with his Hundred Captains towards the defeated Kaide.

It was included in the Kingdom of Gole or Aragon.

In the month of March of the year 3585 BC it was visited by King Dardanos of Serdanie and Queen Iulia, while it was under construction.

In the following years the city of Kartago grows larger and more beautiful. A great Bezilik (Basilica) is built on an eminence of land and until its destruction it will be considered one of the largest and most beautiful of all those built in the lands of Aragon. On the Eberu River side, the city is protected by thick and high walls. Another one of lesser thickness surrounds the town. The House of the Gobernduru (Governor) has an oblong shape on its back side, allowing the set of its five facades to contain thirteen columns, one for each year in which the Bere suffered on the battlefields of Europe and Troia.

More than a city of inland lands, Karthago was considered a great port, both river and maritime, since tall ships, rowed and sailed, could go up the Buda (estuary).

It is in Karthago where King Zargon prepares the great naval expedition against the city of Theobas.

To its census of about 4,000 citizens, a thousand carpenters, caulkers and blacksmiths are added, to build right there some of the military and troop transport ships that will participate in the punitive expedition against Teo II. But the disastrous results of the naval battle bring Kartago a Fatal Fate.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Its population reaches 6,000 inhabitants as a result of refugees from the East, not counting a permanent garrison of soldiers and sailors of about 1,500 men.

In June/July of the year 3513 BC? An important war fleet under the command of Pharaoh Teo II (called on this occasion Teotzar "Tsar Teo") suddenly appears in front of the Buddha.

The surprise is very great and the soldiers make the mistake of rushing to meet the intruders, so they are dispersed in the marshes, leaving the civilians practically without defense.

In the river, Teo II's Fleet enters into combat with the few Aragon ships that defend the access to Kartago.

After the first day of fighting, the defenders of Aragon are practically annihilated and the entire invading forces lay siege to the Sacred City (so called because it was founded by Alexandre).

Finally Kartago agrees to surrender on the condition that all its inhabitants and defenders are saved and can go to take refuge in other lands of the Kingdom of Aragon.

Tsar Teo agrees, but when he has let out a few hundred women and children, whom he forced to appear at the main gate, he gives the order to his troops to enter the city to exterminate the rest of the population. According to the texts, only about 800 people were able to save their lives and reach Turon (Castellón de la Plana).

Since the Egyptians sent about a thousand prisoners to row their ships, I estimate that about 5,700 people were put to the sword or killed in combat.

Theo II thus wanted to avenge the death of his first-born son, the Heir to the Crown of Egypt, and that of the Thebesian combatants. As if this were not enough, the Egyptian Tsar ordered the total destruction of the city and especially of the Bezilik. Also

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

It was forbidden to reside or spend the night among the stones and ruins of what was once the proud and beautiful Karthago, so sung about by poets despite its few years of existence.

The Bere always remembered it and called it Kartagozara

"Old Kartago" to differentiate it from the new Kartago that they founded further south...

called KARTAGOGEN or CARTAGEN

City founded in 3510 BC (?) by refugees from the first Karthago, in another land of Aragon (today Cartagena).

The life of its inhabitants continued pleasantly until the day when the Fleet of the Mede Empire landed its Infantry in the vicinity. After a regular siege and a savage assault on the walls, the city is finally occupied (290/340 of Troia – 250/300 of Rome or 3300/3250 BC).

By the Second Treaty of Rome, Aragon lost its province of Eskanbereraz, that is, the part of the current province of Murcia located south of Murcia (capital) to the Almanzora river, also on the sea side.

With this new conquest, the Mede Empire possesses a strip of territory almost entirely around the Mediterranean Sea - if the cities and small states under protectorate are included.

The Betano Kingdom is now directly threatened.

Although the Bere always called the city Kartagogen, sometimes Kartago Nou, the Paios removed the "God" and called it Kartagen Espartaria "Kartagen is the property of the Peers."

In 1602 BC (?) the Lords and Lots took the city and proclaimed the Fourth Empire of the Paios or PAIEN Empire.

They call it Cartagen Lotaria or Cartagen only (the syllable "gen" must be pronounced as in the Catalan language) and they declare it the capital of the New Empire.

The first goal of the Lords is to crush all the revolutionary Republics that have distributed the plain lands among the peasants, established the right to vote, suppressed the pagan Religion and proclaimed the advent of the Messiah for more than 3500 years, as provided in the Holy Scriptures, and not as the Lords intend, who invent a new Messiah of their own every Millennium.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

Soon Rome and Athens will be under the power of the Paian Empire, as well as most of Europe, as well as North Africa and extensive lands in Asia, all former "Countries" of the Paians.

The Egyptians helped the Lords create their Empire.

It is the first time in History that the latter achieve all Power in the cities and lands mentioned.

It will not take long for the famous silver mines of Cartagen to become known, even in the most distant provinces of the Empire, at least by hearsay.

Located nearby, it was very easy to be sent to work in them, but it was impossible to leave the galleries where it is estimated that more than 500,000 people died in the years of their existence.

They were prisoners of war and political prisoners, detained in all Panicas and taken by boat to the Cartagener coast.

The Lords chose from the beginning to use this system against their enemies, the Believers, instead of executing them immediately, in situ, as the Peers did in the past.

Now the new Amos Paios wanted to take advantage of their adversaries and at the same time enjoy the suffering of their victims.

The Bere Romans had the mine galleries walled up, prohibiting any Believer from trying to exploit them, since the site they occupied was declared a "Holy Place."

To finish I will simply say the following: Never... at any time in History, was there a city called Karthago or Carthage outside the Iberian Peninsula.

LEENDANIK - FROM THE BEGINNING

© Rights reserved by the Author. Alman 2009

The content of this work can be disseminated and used in whole or in part as long as two principles are respected:

First: Its content, in whole or in part, cannot be used for profit and Second: the source from which they come must be cited, in this case the title and author of this work or, in the case of texts from the LOS BERE Book, cite its author and work. The texts in italics as well as the Appendix are part of the work LOS BERE and their original source must be cited.